2 Consumers Co-op. Men Attend State Meeting

The Consumers Co-operative Association of this city sent two delegates to the eleventh annual meeting of the Midland Cooperative Wholesale at Minneapolis, June 7-8-9, according to the manager of the local association, Oscar N. Nelson. These delegates were Nels Foss and Mr. Nelson. The Midland Cooperative Wholesale, of which the local association is one of about 160 members scattered over Minnesota and Wisconsin, enjoyed a record year in 1936. Total sales volume reached $3,033,000 as compared with $2,423,000 in 1935. The net income of the Wholesale was $71,000, which amount will be distributed to the local member associations in common and preferred stock in proportion to their patronage.

MAN COLLECTS $38 IN RATTLESNAKE BOUNTIES

Winona—A Richmond township hunter, fisherman, and trapper, Frank Clark, is helping to make Winona county free from rattlesnakes, for he has presented evidence to Charles Wolf, Richmond township clerk, that he had killed 77 rattlers and was paid a county bounty of 50 cents each on them, a total of $38.50. This was one of the largest single amounts of money paid in bounties in the county for some time. In addition, Clark turned in evidence that he had killed 18 pocket gophers and one crow for which he received a one dollar payment.

RESETTLEMENT WORK IS NOW BEING RUSHED BY 140 MEN

Thirty More Carpenters to be Engaged Shortly, Says Taylor

With plans calling for the construction by the federal resettlement administration of approximately 65 sets of buildings on as many tracts of land in the area contiguous to Thief River Falls and nearby towns, crews aggregating a total of 140 men are now at work on thirteen farms, it was announced this week by John W. Taylor, in charge of resettlement work here.

Included in the number employed, in addition to WPA laborers and well-drilling crews are about 60 carpenters, to which number will be added 30 more next week, Mr. Taylor said. Six sets of buildings are being completed this week, he added, with the exception of some inside work which will be deferred until later.

Each farm layout when completed will comprise a house, barn, milk house, poultry house, toilet and well. Six well-drilling outfits are now at work, and have drilled 14 wells to date.

Forty Per Cent of All Drivers Violate Laws, School Patrol Reveals

Forty per cent of all drivers violate some traffic law, even in towns and cities, according to two surveys just completed by the Buffalo (Minn.) school patrol. The boys also found that pedestrians are flagrant traffic code violators. The Buffalo boys, under their own leaders, set up their own surveys and were immediately complemented by John P. Arnoldy, chief of the Highway patrol.

Additional school patrol surveys, with serious violators being reported to sheriffs and highway patrolmen, were urged by Mr. Arnoldy. Realizing the school police are the drivers of tomorrow, Mr. Arnoldy said such surveys would be of outstanding value to members of the patrols themselves, driving home the lessons in traffic safety the boys are taught.

The chief patrol officer of the Buffalo patrol, in his report, brought out the following:

"Watching all cars at the Post Office corner for one hour, the Buffalo school patrol found that two out of every five cars which passed violated some traffic rule. During that hour, 213 cars, with the aid of 115 pedestrians, brought the traffic errors up to a rate of one every 13 seconds. Little wonder there is a high percentage of traffic accidents in Minnesota with 40 per cent of us committing violations constantly."

But the motorists weren't the only violators. Concerning pedestrians, the boy officer had this to say:

"Almost all people walking in the intersection and street in this section violated traffic regulations. We found that people walking were the greatest violators of traffic laws."

Collector Landy Gives Warning on Payment of Social Security Taxes

Employers of eight or more who have failed to make returns in accordance with the provisions of Title IX of the Social Security Act, which imposes an excise tax on employers, commonly known as the unemployment compensation tax, were today warned by Collector of Internal Revenue J. R. Landy that they faced delinquent penalties ranging from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the tax their pay rolls call for. The returns are to be made on Internal Revenue form 940 and were due on April 1, last.

Collector Landy referred to Article 502 of Regulations 90, which provide that "failure to file a return when due causes to accrue, under the provisions of section 406 of the Revenue Act of 1935, a penalty of from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, depending upon the period of delinquency." Employers were granted an extension of time for the filing of returns and paying of the tax until April 1 by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering.

The Social Security Act, Mr. Landy explained, calls for a payroll tax of one per cent on the 1936 pay roll containing eight or more persons on each of some twenty days during the taxable year, each day being in a different calendar week. Each employer is entitled to a credit of ninety per cent of his federal tax, provided he has contributed at least this amount to unemployment compensation funds established by the states in conjunction with the Federal Social Security Law in which he has employees.

DO DOZEN KITTENS MAKE "DOZENLETS"?

Marshall—Cyril Feryn announced with pride one morning that his cat, Clementine Claudette, had become the mother of 12 kittens, but that there was some question as to what they should be called as a group. Of the suggestion including "double sextuplets", it was finally decided that the designation of the 12 as "dozenlets" was the best. Mr. Feryn was a bit upset about Clementine, not because she had 12 kittens, but because she didn't uphold the record she established several years ago when she had 13. When Clementine's last batch of 13 kittens were pretty well grown, they got to be somewhat of a bother, so Mr. Feryn cut about two dozen holes about the back of his meat market. When asked why he cut so many holes, he replied, "When I say 'scat', I mean 'scat'!"

Digging Most Certain Dandelion Treatment, Says 'U' Farm Expert

Even though many spray treatments have been recommended for ridding the lawn of dandelions, digging them is still the most thorough and dependable method, says R. H. Landon, plant physiologist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Dandelion diggers, which cut the roots 4 to 5 inches below the surface of the ground, are on the market and can well be used in the control of this weed. It is necessary to cut the roots about 4 inches below the surface for best results. A few drops of gasoline on the cut roots have been recommended to kill the plants, points out Mr. Landon.

Keeping a heavy, dense sod on the lawn is a further protection against dandelions, for they find it more difficult to become established than if the grass sod is thin. Fertilizing the lawn with ammonium sulphate, at the rate of 3 pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn surface, will stimulate a better sod and thicker grass stand. Cutting the grass too short will frequently aid the dandelions in getting a start, since they lose fewer leaves than the grass plants. Grass should not be cut shorter than 2 inches above the ground. Proper watering is an aid, too, and a heavy drenching at intervals is preferred to daily sprinklings.

When a large area, or the entire lawn surface has been taken by dandelions, a ferrous sulphate solution (1½ pounds of ferrous sulphate to 1 gallon of water) can be applied. Three gallons cover about 1,000 square feet of lawn. The spray is most effective when dandelions are in the bud.

MINNESOTA'S FIRST TRAILER BABY BORN

Shakopee—Believed to be the first trailer baby born in Minnesota is the eight-pound son which arrived at the wheeled home of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bostwick in Shakopee last Sunday. Mother, dad, baby, and 14-months old brother James Edward are all reported to be "doing nicely." His trailer home was built at a cost of $30.

PICK FIRST RIPE TOMATO IN GARDEN

Heron Lake—The record in this community for picking the first ripe tomato in their garden during the summer of 1937 is held by the Ernest Schemmels, according to reports received. A tomato seed in a can of dirt started growing during the winter and the plant was nursed along in the house during the cold months, growing to a good size. One tomato formed on the plant. A short time ago this plant was transplanted to the garden and the tomato began to ripen. It was picked as red and ripe as anyone could expect a tomato to be.

WILBUR SHAW.

Gum-dipped cords PROVIDE THE EXTRA MARGIN OF SAFETY ON THE SPEEDWAY OR HIGHWAY

THOUSANDS said that tires could not stand the terrific grind. They said cars had been built with much greater speed, turns in the track had been repaved with granite-like surface, yet Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires setting a new record of 113.58 miles per hour on one of the hottest days in the history of the Indianapolis track.

Think of the terrific impact on these tires as the cars roared into the treacherous turns and out again. Tons of force straining, pulling, and twisting inside the tire, yet not one cord loosened, not one tread separated from the cord body—all because Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process, successfully counteracted the internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life.

You will never drive your car at these record-breaking speeds, but for the safety of yourself and family you need the safest, strongest and most dependable tires. Come in today. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—the safest tires that money can buy.

LEGIONNAIRES HAVE BIG TIME AT CONVENTION

Ninth District Meeting Is Acclaimed as Huge Success

FERGUS FALLS MAN IS NEW COMMANDER

Mrs. A. E. Helland Renamed President of District Auxiliary

Meeting on the twentieth anniversary of the departure of the first contingents of soldiers for service in the World War in 1917, Ninth district Legionnaires and auxiliary members, older in years but with unabated enthusiasm, participated in a highly successful convention in Thief River Falls over the past week-end. A total of 417 members of the two groups registered at convention headquarters in the Auditorium. Included in the number were 103 auxiliary members.

Disposing of the business of the convention at sessions Saturday morning and afternoon, that evening was devoted to informal gatherings as well as two entertainment programs at the Auditorium and a well-attended dance at the arena. The impressive convention parade was staged Sunday afternoon, and the program ended in the evening on a solemn note with memorial rites in the Elks park.

In the annual election of district Legion officers conducted Saturday afternoon by O. C. Paulson, retiring commander, Rev. Father B. H. Wessling of Fergus Falls was named as his successor. The four vice commanders elected include Joe Steinhagen, Deer Creek; H. L. Codding, Detroit Lakes; H. R. Lund, Thief River Falls; and Bert Hanson of Warroad. Father Wessling, who is at present department chaplain of the Legion, also was endorsed for the post of national chaplain.

Mrs. A. E. Helland was renamed Ninth district president of the Legion auxiliary in the annual election of that organization, other officers elected including Mrs. A. A. Berggren, Detroit Lakes, first vice president; Mrs. C. J. A. Erickson, Leonard, second vice president; Mrs. Hans Urtes, Warren, chaplain; and Mrs. M. Fish, Warroad; Mrs. C. E. Boughton, Red Lake Falls; and Mrs. William Schueller, Fergus Falls, executive board. Mrs. C. J. Lofgren, Ada, was endorsed for national chaplain.

The newly elected officers were introduced at a joint meeting of the Legion and auxiliary late Saturday afternoon. Speakers included Father Wessling, C. A. Zwiener, state adjutant of the Legion; Mrs. C. F. Moore, Jr., of Minneapolis, department president of the auxiliary; and Mrs. Ed Skoops of St. Louis Park, state rehabilitation chairman.

Speakers at the Legion business sessions included Father Wessling, C. G. Halverson of the Fargo veterans hospital; Mr. Zwiener; Joseph Kise of Moorhead, chairman of the Americanism committee; Frank Webb of Grand Forks, North Dakota department commander; George Siroslius of the state war veterans relief agency; Mayor W. W. Prichard; H. R. Lund, commander of the local Legion post; Rev. E. A. Cooke; Harry Hedin of East Grand Forks, district membership chairman; and Lou Miller, grand officer of the Forty and Eight.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS PROGRAM SATURDAY NIGHT

Songs by Fergus Falls Women Feature Program at Auditorium

The program arranged at the Auditorium Saturday evening as a feature of the Ninth District Legion convention provided a genuine musical treat for the large audience in the form of two groups of selections by the Singing Legionettes of Fergus Falls, whose excellent performance has won for the group state and national honors.

Other well-applauded numbers on the program included novelty instrumental musical offerings by the Lundgards and Esther Erickson, a military dance by Jewell Helen Warner, Russian acrobatic dancing act by pupils of Miss Elaine Werner, song and dance by Arlene Michaels, and an act by Joan Johnson and a burlesque donkey.

In the course of the program the Fargo drum and bugle corps of 32 men invaded the Auditorium and staged a brief demonstration.

Tomtoms will beat their throbbing rythm at the Red Lake narrows Sunday afternoon when Indians from the reservation will join in presenting one of their traditional powwows. A large delegation of residents of the Thief River Falls community is expected to go to the lake to witness the ceremonial.

Memorial Rites Conducted Sunday Evening in Elks Park

Climaxing the last day of the Ninth District American Legion convention in this city, memorial services that were perhaps the most impressive ever to be held in this section of the state were conducted Sunday in the beautiful setting afforded by the Elks park under the joint sponsorship of the local Elks lodge and the American Legion.

Charles Warner, exalted ruler of the Elks, was in charge of the first portion of the program devoted to the order's Flag Day ritual, while Dr. A. E. Jacobson conducted the services for the Legion.

Participating in the exercises were members of the numerous drum corps and high school bands that had spent the day in the city, who filed slowly into the park to the beat of the muffled drums of the Ninth District Legion band. Also present were hundreds of local citizens as well as many visitors from thruout this section of the state.

Following the advance of the colors under the direction of William Christofferson of Argyle, Mr. Warner introduced Paul A. Lundgren, who gave the Elks Flag Day address, in which he stressed the underlying significance of the national emblem.

The Legion rites opened with a selection by the Ninth District Legion band, following which O. J. Pederson offered the invocation and the Singing Legionettes of Fergus Falls effectively rendered two numbers.

Mike Murray of St. Cloud, past department commander of the American Legion, delivered the memorial address, in which he declared that the former service men pledge themselves to strive for the democratic ideals that soldiers gave their lives for in former wars. C. A. Zwiener of St. Paul, department adjutant, also joined in a brief tribute.

Following a selection by the high school boys double quartet, a wreath was laid on a replica of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. All lights then were dimmed save for a spotlight directed at the tomb, and Dr. Jacobson recited impressively a message from the Unknown Soldier. The program closed with the sounding of taps and a postlude by the Legion band.

SCHOOL TERM FINISHED WITH RITES FRIDAY

J. P. Vaughan of Chisholm Addresses Class of 109 Graduates

BRUCE PRICHARD WINS ANNUAL LEGION AWARD

Marjorie Matheson, Valedictorian, Gets Auxiliary Award

In impressive exercises at the Auditorium Friday evening, 109 members of the senior class of Lincoln high school, garbed in caps and gowns, were presented with diplomas by R. O. Norby, president of the board of education, while Supt. Morris Bye conferred teachers' certificates on thirteen graduates of the teacher training department.

Asserting that the future holds as much promise for youth as it ever did, J. P. Vaughan of Chisholm, who delivered the commencement address, urged his hearers not to indulge in self-pity, and at the same time cautioned them against blind optimism.

No one, the speaker said, can predict what new frontiers await the world in science, medicine, agriculture, social relations, industry and other fields. Young people, he pointed out, can play a prominent part in future developments if they do not display a despairing or blase attitude.

The program opened with the processional march played by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of Ronald G. Riggs, after which Lois Morell gave the salutatory and Marjorie Matheson the valedictory. Musical numbers included selections by the high school girls glee club and mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Erna Springen, and by the high school boys double quartet.

W. G. Claffy presented the members of the senior class, and Miss Alice Stapleton presented the teacher training graduates. Dr. A. E. Jacobson conferred the American Legion citizenship award on Bruce Prichard, while Mrs. Thora Nelson presented a similar auxiliary award to Marjorie Matheson, and Herbert Schroeder received the chemistry award.

Alfred S. Nelson was designated as the first graduate to have his name inscribed on a new athletic and scholarship plaque presented to Lincoln high school by Dennis McGinn and Reuben Hadrath as a memorial to Robert Clifford McGinn, former student in the local high school.

WORK OF THE HONEYBEE

To make a single teacupful of honey, 8,600,000 bee line trips to nectar-bearing flowers must be made. Short-lived, the bee never lives to eat the honey it gathers. It consumes honey stored by a preceding generation; its own honey is bequeathed to generations yet to come—or to invading man. —Literary Digest

The physician who officiated at the arrival found the pair "healthy and equally" and suggested that they be named "Edward and Wally" in honor of the famous couple who were married June 3 in France. The mother said "No." So did the father. But both were tempted by the suggestion.

ALCOHOL CAUSE FOR 84% OF PRISON POPULATION

"In some of the foreign countries they have solved the problem of alcoholism by allowing the victim to drink himself into the morgue; we have a different system here," said Judge Joseph T. Zottoli, of the Boston Municipal Court, in a lecture recently given at the Mallory Institute of Pathology, under the auspices of the Social Service Committee of the Boston City Hospital and the Advisory Committee for the study of Alcoholism.

Judge Zottoli, a jurist of high standing, said that the chronic "drunk" is in too late a stage of deterioration when he reaches the courts. "He can't help himself," he declared. "If we can get the alcoholic case before control has been lost we can do something. I have found that there is little that can be done for the chronic case except to hand out enforced vacations in jail."

Basing his figures on a survey of conditions in 1934, and prepared after careful study, the judge stated that 84 per cent of all the prisoners in Massachusetts houses of correction and jails are there because of alcoholism, while 37 per cent of the insanity causes result from alcoholism.

SCOUTS PEDAL 1,700 MILES FOR JAMBOREE

Wadena—Two British Columbia youths, bicycling their way to the international boy scout jamboree to be held in Washington this summer, passed through Wadena last week after having pedaled more than 1,700 miles. The boys were Phil LaFortune and Arthur Freeman, both of Cobble Hill, Vancouver Island, British Columbia. They left their homes 25 days before and averaged about 67 miles a day. When they reached Wadena they had had only one flat tire to delay them.

Governor Benson Backs State-Wide Drive for Funds for Safety Work

Governor Elmer A. Benson this week gave his personal endorsement to the statewide drive launched by public safety groups of Minnesota for the enrollment of 500,000 "supporting members" to carry the safety educational campaign to every corner of the state.

Expressing himself as confident that Minnesota this year would establish a still better traffic safety record for itself, the state's chief executive gave his approvals of the campaign to A. V. Rohweder, Duluth, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee, which is behind the drive of local and county safety groups.

"It is my conviction," the governor said, "as I stated at the award presentation dinner in March; that the public safety educational work of the past three and a half years has been of inestimable worth and should be maintained by the state."

Under the supporting membership drive, a goal of 500,000 motorists is sought with a membership fee of 25 cents for a two-year period, for the purpose of providing funds to broaden the safety educational campaign which already has cut Minnesota's traffic fatalities for the past year to nearly half the national average, and which has, also, won for the state the National Traffic Safety Award each of the three years that it has been offered.

Minnesota Doctor Heads U. S. Tuberculosis Unit

For the second time in ten years a Minnesota man heads the National Tuberculosis Association, the Christmas Seal organization which for more than 30 years had directed the campaign to eradicate the White Plague. The election of Dr. J. A. Myers of Minneapolis, professor of preventive medicine, University of Minnesota, and a member of the Executive Committee and former president of the Minnesota Public Health Association, as president of the National Tuberculosis Association at its recent Milwaukee meeting, again brings this honor to Minnesota. In 1927 Dr. H. Longstreet Taylor of St. Paul, pioneer leader in anti-tuberculosis work, served as national president.

State Bar Group Meets in Minneapolis June 23

Lawyers from all sections of the state will gather in Minneapolis on June 23rd, 24th and 25th for the 37th annual meeting of the Minnesota State Bar association. Headquarters for the convention will be at the Hotel Nicollet. The principal speaker at the meeting will be Judge H. H. Davis, Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. Judge Davis, the present head of the Canadian Bar association, will speak on the morning of June 25th.

ST CLOUD HAS SISTER CITIES

St. Cloud.—This city, built along the shores of the Mississippi and famed for its granite industry, has six sister cities for "St. Clouds" flourish in Wisconsin, Florida, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and in foreign countries. Raising its feeble head against the wilderness, St. Cloud, Wisconsin, was given its place on the map by the railroad then originating from Sheboygan. The village has a population of 265. St. Cloud, Florida has 2000 population. It was founded 25 years ago as a community of veterans from the United States military service and is now distinctly a residential town where these veterans spent their declining years. Swinging northward from Florida, enroute to St. Cloud, Minnesota, two other villages of the same name are found in eastern states: St. Cloud in West Virginia with 30 inhabitants and St. Cloud in Pennsylvania with a population of 93. France and Algeria each have a "St. Cloud" also.

Pulling Power of Times Ads Again Demonstrated

P. W. Roark last Thursday inserted in the Times classified column a notice that he had lost a rubber boot and offering to match the finder to decide who should keep both of them. The finder, however, did not hold Mr. Roark to his bargain, for he returned the missing boot shortly after the paper came off the press.

Soy Beans Old Food

Soy beans for more than fifty centuries have formed a more important item in the diet of the Chinese people than has rice, contrary to popular ideas about the latter grain. Followers of the Buddhist religion find the soybean indispensable in the vegetarian diet they insist on.

Sheldrew while Mr. Johnson is a son of J. H. Johnson and a brother of Commissioner Johnson. What might have been a serious accident was averted by the quick thinking of Ernest Selle's truck driving. Dr. J. E. McCoy was driving west on Ditch 20 and when he came to the Gerling Corner, or the intersection where the highway crosses "20" turned south toward Goodridge. Selle, with his truck loaded with poles coming from the North arrived near the bridge about the same time and to stop from hitting the Doctor's car in the rear suddenly turned his truck to the right, intending to go West on the ditch road until he could stop. The weight of the load evidently caused him to miss calculation so instead of him making the full turn could not steer the truck far enough and had to take a nose dive into the big ditch. Luckily no one was hurt and it was remarkable that the truck was not damaged to a greater degree than it did.

Patrol Calls Attention to House Trailer Ruling

Every house trailer, and all towed vehicles being transported on the streets and highways of Minnesota, will be violating the new traffic code if they are not equipped with brakes that can be operated by the driver of the towing car. This is the warning of the Minnesota Highway patrol. Most manufactured house trailers are so equipped, according to Captain Frank Corcoran, of the patrol, and dealers who transport new machines can obtain proper equipment. Section 106 of the new traffic code provides: "Every trailer, semi-trailer or other vehicle of a gross weight of 1,500 pounds or more, when drawn or pulled upon a highway, shall be equipped with brakes adequate to control the movement of and to stop and to hold such vehicle and so designed as to be applied by the driver of the towing vehicle from its cab, excepting trailers owned by farmers when transporting agricultural products produced on the owner's farm or supplies back to the farm of the owner of the trailer, and except disabled vehicles being towed to a place of repairs." The average house trailer weighs from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds, Captain Corcoran said.

SOIL PROGRAM TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING MONDAY

Various Phases of Federal Program to Come up for Consideration

Members of the board of directors of the Pennington county agricultural conservation committee and representative farmers will meet in the Civic and Commerce association room Monday, June 21, to discuss a series of questions dealing with important phases of the agricultural conservation program, according to R. M. Douglass, county agent.

The questions deal with practice payments, bases, diversion and non-diversion farms, use of land in sub-marginal areas, and administrative problems. At the county meetings, suggestions will be considered for changes in the 1938 farm program. These suggested changes, along with the answers to the questions, will be submitted to the Minnesota State Agricultural Conservation committee.

FISH THRIVE IN MEADOW GRASSES

Pine River—Local fishermen one morning deserted the river to catch their fish by hand from a nearby meadow, where hundreds of the finny tribe lurked in the tall grass. Sounds fishy, but it's true. Continued rains caused Norway brook to overflow its east bank above the dam, forming a good-sized stream. Heavy winter snows and the wet spring season have kept the water level unusually high.

Au Revoir— Not Good-bye

We have made many friends in Thief River Falls during the past few months that we have been buying livestock at the G. N. Stockyards. Now, we regret the need for discontinuing for even a short time.

However, all the livestock we can handle at this time, is being brought to our daily market at Grand Forks. We expect this condition to continue throughout the summer. During that time, we hope our friends from Thief River Falls will bring their hogs and cattle to us at the plant.

We thank you for giving us the opportunity to buy at Thief River Falls; and this fall, as soon as we are able, we will be back with you.

Until further notice, Wednesday, June 16, will be the last day our buyer will be there. It is not far to Grand Forks. The roads are good. Try our market here until we are with you again.

G. E. LEACH WINS RACE FOR MAYOR OF MINNEAPOLIS

Farmer-Labor Forces Retain Control of the City Council

Minneapolis' municipal election presented a blurred picture to those who sought to interpret the results as an indication of the strength and future of the Farmer-Labor party.

Kenneth E. Haycraft, youthful former football star carrying the Farmer-Labor banner in the officially nonpartisan election, lost in the mayoralty race to Brig. Gen. George E. Leach, veteran of four terms in that office.

But Farmer-Labor indorsed candidates won two of three seats on the municipal court bench and Farmer-Laborites retained the 15 of 26 council seats they have held the last two years.

Interest in the campaign brought out a record total of 163,769 votes. The previous high for a city election was in 1935, when 158,000 votes were cast.

Neither the candidates themselves nor other political leaders would comment on the outcome, which gave Leach 89,764 votes to 71,908 for Haycraft.

No. 75, between two miles north of Crookston and Euclid; length 11.2 miles; Hodgman, Haagenson and Tranby, Granada; $103,129.

Weevil Great Egg Producer

The female weevil lays 6,000 eggs a year. For each egg she makes a separate nest by piercing a grain of cereal. Even the deadliest poison gases cannot penetrate this "dugout," where baby weevil safely hatches, eats its fill, then bursts its way out, leaving behind a useless husk.

Keeping Eggs Fresh Important in Summer

If poultrymen expect to have the demand for their eggs continue through the summer months, they must market a product attractive to their customers, asserts Cora E. Cooke, extension poultry specialist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Summer is a difficult time to keep eggs in good condition, but it can be done, says Miss Cooke, and she is suggesting several ways by which eggs of superior quality can be sent to market. Because infertile eggs keep better than fertile ones, it is best to rid the flock of the roosters as soon as the breeding season is over.

To help the hen lay a good egg, she must be fed a well balanced ration containing the right proportions of grain and animal feed, such as meat scrap or milk. Eggs produced on grass with little assistance from grains are likely to be weak and watery, and those laid by the hen that picks her living in the barnyard or hog lot are likely to be strongly flavored.

When the hen is on range, it is essential that extra precaution be taken to keep her eggs clean. Clean litter and nests are important, and the flock should be confined on rainy or wet days. Generally the flock should be kept in the laying house in the morning until most of the eggs are laid—the hens will eat more, lay more eggs and lay cleaner eggs.

Eggs will be maintained in good condition by gathering them at least three times a day, cooling them before putting them in cases and selling them on grade two or three times a week.

Differences in various wines is owing to the fact that the vine is very susceptible to the influences created by difference of soil.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

I see in your "Topics of the Times" in the issue of June 10 a statement to the effect that the Federal Home Owners Loans are delinquent in the sum of approximately $600,000,000 and a comment that evidently a few folks still believe there is a Santa Claus.

I am writing this letter, which you will kindly publish so that people do not confuse the HOLC or the Home Owners Loan with the FHA or Federal Housing Administration. The Home Owners Loan was instituted for the express purpose of saving people from the loss of their homes under mortgage foreclosure and to give employment to labor and start the movement of material which in turn would furnish more employment to labor.

The fact; you were not eligible for a loan unless your credit was exhausted and naturally there would be many of such loans that would go by default as the people were losing their homes because the banks or any of the loan companies would not furnish the amount necessary to save them. At least 50 or 60 per cent have been able in this way to save their homes from foreclosure. While on the other hand the FHA are only guaranteeing the payment in case of foreclosure by issuing a debencher carrying 3 per cent interest and they make a close inspection of the properties and a collection of ½ of 1 per cent for the life of the loan as a guarantee to protect them from any loss that may occur. For that purpose they now hold approximately the amount of money that are delinquent on the HOLC loans. But this money does not belong to the government but to the people who make the loans to be repaid to them at the expiration of the contract, providing the government does not have to assume too much liability.

The farmers of Pennington County do not have to worry very much about payment of $600,000,000 of HOLC loans as the government does not levy any direct tax. They should be more interested in who is going to pay the increase gross earnings tax on railroads and the increase on iron ore taxes that the representatives from that district are now imposing on the farmers of the state.

Respectfully,
D. P. O'Neill.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Most encouraging event of the week is the starting of construction of the new Falls theater. The new building will be similar in design to the theater built at International Falls last year and we have heard many fine things about that structure. In point of size it will be one of the largest business blocks in town, extending all the way back to the alley and three stories high. Along with the large number of other building projects now under way, the new theater assures another high mark for new construction this year.

The new Falls theater is already proving itself to be a popular show place. At any rate the street is lined all day long with spectators watching the very interesting performance presented by the excavators. If the management could collect a dime from each of these spectators as they come and go, the building operation might come pretty close to being self supporting.

It isn't very often nowadays that the news from Washington proves to be pleasant reading. Maybe that's why we derived so much pleasure out of reading the report of the Senate judiciary committee on the President's court packing scheme. Not that the things said in the report shed any particularly new light on the situation. The objections listed were little more than a summary of what has already been said many times in many ways. The encouraging thing about the report was to have such things said by a group made up largely of men who in the past have been loyal party supporters. The report gives assurance that within the Democratic party there still are men who think more of the country than they do of their party or of their own individual political fortunes, men whom the party whip crackers couldn't scare or corrupt. We feel better now about the prospects for the survival of our democratic form of government.

The discouraging thing about crop prospects at the present time is the fact that they are so encouraging. It is when we expect much that the results generally prove discouraging. The only time results are really satisfactory is when they exceed our expectations.

Because of the fine co-operation received all along the line the local Legion post did a good job of staging its district convention and thousands of visitors went away with a good impression of our city. This week the city will be host to another large gathering, sponsored by members of the Trinity Lutheran Church. Providing for the needs of the many people from all parts of Northern Minnesota who will attend this convention is no small job. That the job will be well done there is no question. It will be better done, however, with good community co-operation. Toward this end all good citizens will lend a hand wherever possible. In behalf of the community we extend a cordial welcome to men and women of the Northern District of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America who will be our guests this week end and express the hope that their deliberations will be fruitful and their visit to our city pleasant.

Baseball fans agree that the game played Sunday afternoon between Thief River Falls and Ada was everything that a ball game should be. Like in the story books, the home team came up from behind in the ninth to tie the score and pushed over the winning run in the tenth. Another home game will be played here tonight and if the teams measure up to past standards, their performance should be worth the price, a quarter and a late supper.

It can't possibly be more than a couple of weeks since we printed the last hockey poster and here we are, turning out 4th of July celebration bills already. Summer is sneaking up on us pretty fast this year. Maybe the months slip by so fast because there is so much activity. So many interesting things keep happening that a person doesn't have time to watch the clock or the calendar.

WE ARE AFRAID

(Milan Standard)

Returning home from a weekend vacation, the writer found, as usual, on his desk a large pile of mail, most of it being publicity matter sent out in the name of organizations formed for the purpose of advancing some undeniably good cause. With all this activity for good in this world, the most of us [illegible] seem to [illegible], but sad to say results are far from commensurate with efforts made. Perhaps the reason is that all of this activity is [illegible] and [illegible] as it appears. We are afraid that the principal reason for many organizations is the fact that it provides a good salary for executive secretaries and members of their staff.

FACTIONAL SPOILS

(St. Paul Dispatch)

When a political party has been in power without interruption for six and a half years in a state which has no civil service system, it is a safe assumption that all the jobholders have the "first" ordinary political requirements. Of course [illegible] not related to the formation of politics should be given strictly on basis of merit, and not politics, but without civil service, that is a counsel of perfection.

The Farmer-Labor party has not been backward about making use of available patronage, but nevertheless a new party "purge" is reported. Hundreds of employes are said to be involved. Disloyalty, inefficiency, insubordination and political trickery are a few of the offenses for which these heads will come off. The general charge is lack of sympathy with the Farmer-Labor program.

All this points to a good deal of dissension and internal factionalism. The ax may or may not be the right weapon for curing such troubles, but this is after all more than just a party question. The state as a whole is interested in the efficient operation of its public services, and efficiency is out of the question when the jobs of public employes are at the mercy of the whims and caprice of political disciplinarians.

What the situation proves again is simply the need for a genuine general civil service for state employes.

POLITICS FIRST, ROADS SECOND

(Minneapolis Journal)

Reports say that there is to be a "house cleaning" in the State Highway Department. A number of veteran employes are to be dismissed.

It would be pleasant to be able to say that the Department is going to be purged of politicians, but that is not the case. There is a list of employes who have been marked for the ax.

If this list is authentic, the purge will eliminate from the service about all who are not politicians.

Road building and road maintenance have been the chief interest and occupation of those now slated to go. When their places are filled, one must fear that politics will be the main pursuit, and highways will have second place in the activities of those on the Highway Department pay roll.

THE KELLOGG GIFT

(Duluth Weekly Herald)

Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, former U. S. senator from this state, former secretary of state for the nation and former ambassador to Great Britain, has given half a million dollars to Carleton college to establish a foundation for the study of international relations.

Since the world knows Mr. Kellogg best for his part in the Kellogg-Briand peace pact and as a judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice, the gift is of special significance. In choosing a college in his own state as the recipient instead of one of the huge Eastern institutions, Mr. Kellogg sets an example for future donors.

It is a splendid thing that this intensely American interior section should be given a greater chance to learn about these things and to express its views to other nations.

COMPROMISE IN JAPAN

(St. Louis Post Dispatch)

Japan is still far from democracy as we in America know it, but majority rule and parliamentary principles have just scored notable victories there. Former Premier Hayashi set out to defy the popular mandate by remaining in power with his cabinet after their landslide defeat in the elections of April 30. He was unable to withstand the pressure of the democratic political parties and their widespread popular support, and has at last been compelled to resign.

His successor, Prince Konoye, started to form his cabinet along the militaristic lines that led to Hayashi's downfall, but he, too, has submitted to popular pressure. His decision to admit members of the leading political parties to his cabinet gives some assurance that it will be able to survive. Only by such a compromise, in fact, could the new premier carry out the emperor's charge to form a government that will end the continued series of political crises.

This means a check on the vaulting ambitions of the military clique, relief for the Japanese taxpayer and perhaps some modification in the far eastern tension caused by Japan's aggression.

THE FORGOTTEN WORD

(Murray County Herald)

Many good citizens today are complaining about high taxes, and when they are touched a bit heavier in the pocket-book, turn against legislators and revile them for increasing the tax burden as it affects them. But it cannot be forgotten that it is the people themselves who cause high taxes. New demands of government, inspired by a political leadership that seeks to foster expenses for activities that in many instances are unnecessary, places the problem of raising levies to meet such increased expenditures upon legislative groups who must, to the best of their ability, establish methods of taxation that are equitable and fair.

There are a few fundamental truths which have been forgotten in these days of reckless and riotous spending. Government should not spend more money than it can collect in just taxation. People cannot pay more than they have to the support of governmental activities. In a situation such as we face, it would be well if our administrator of government dusted off their dictionaries and rediscovered the forgotten meaning of the word economy. Public improvements and new functions of service to the citizen can be tolerated only as long as people are able to afford added burdens. Somebody will have to accept the unpopular opportunity to steer the course of political spending to the safe side of bankruptcy before it is too late.

UNCLE SAM EMPLOYS 829,000

(Milwaukee Journal)

The number of persons employed by the federal government continues to rise. On March 31, 829,000 persons were on federal pay rolls, according to figures prepared by the national civil service.

Imagine that number of people all in one place. The federal pay roll right now embraces more persons than the entire population—men, women and children—of St. Louis, or Baltimore, or Boston. It embraces more persons than the entire employable population of Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Louisville combined.

And the end seems not yet in sight. Little increases, a few hundred here and a few dozens there, continue. There is apparently mighty little reduction in the personnel of "emergency" departments. Apparently there is a sort of background theory that one way to end unemployment is for the government itself to give people work—work at security wages and under security conditions.

There is, of course, only one objection to such a theory. It involves ultimate bankruptcy. It is impossible in the long run to have more than a certain percentage of the population engaged in non-productive supervision. The percentage of persons so engaged—by state and local as well as by the federal government—has been going up for a long time now. A return to normal should include a reduction of government employment. The question is: "Will it? Or has government now got so overorganized that bureaucracy is permanent?"

Politics in a democracy will be upon as high-minded a plane as those who make up the great mass of voters will it to be. An interesting and by no means encouraging commentary upon the game as it is played is ascribed to young Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who is quoted as relating that during his campaign last fall, he was disappointed with the cold response with which a speech on the subject of peace was met. He had worked hard and studied much in preparing the address. He confided his disappointment to an old politician, who told him: "Son, forget your philosophy. Next time, just wave your arms and shout, 'I am for peace.'" Next meeting, young Lodge waved his arms and shouted for peace and the audience stood on its feet and cheered.—New Prague Times.

BEMIDJI WINNER OF REGIONAL H. S. GOLF TOURNAMENT

Team Is Awarded Times Cup; Several Low Scores Turned In

A four-man team representing Bemidji high school last Thursday on the local golf course won the Thief River Falls Times cup in the first annual regional high school invitational tournament sponsored by Lincoln high school of this city. The Grand Forks team which turned in the low score, is from outside the region, and on that account was not eligible for the trophy. H. W. Gabrielson was in charge of arrangements for the event.

The scores of the teams for the 18 holes of play were as follows: Grand Forks, 347; Bemidji, 379; Thief River Falls, 391; Crookston, 406; Erskine, 457; and Red Lake Falls, 550.

Some excellent cards were turned in by individual players, Bob Lang of Grand Forks winning first medal honors with his low score of 78 for 18 holes, while his teammate, Don Sands, was second with 87; and Chub Naylor of Bemidji placed third with 89.

The Thief River Falls entrants made the following scores: Milton Nesse, 92; Bruce Prichard, 93; Lowell Nesse, 99; and Eugene Nelson, 107. So successful was the tourney that it is planned to make it an annual event.

Preparations Now Under Way for First of Itasca Park Pageants July 4th

Preliminary preparations are under way for the annual State Parks Indian pageants which will begin July 4 at Itasca Park and continue on alternate Sundays until August 15, according to Harold Searls of the state Division of Forestry.

In addition to the four pageants at Itasca, pageants will be given July 10 and 11 at Camden State Park near Marshall.

The subjects of the pageants this year will be the authentic Indian legend of the naming of Itasca and a dramatization of a typical wagon train of early frontier days. The pageants are given each summer by the Division of Forestry in cooperation with the Northwest Historical association.

ISHAM JONES AND NOTED ORCHESTRA AT ARENA FRIDAY

Nationally Known Musician and Composer to Appear in City

Dance lovers of Northwestern Minnesota will enjoy an unusual treat Friday evening when Isham Jones and his nationally known orchestra will perform in the spacious arena. Dancers are expected to assemble for the occasion from over a wide area.

Isham Jones and his orchestra have performed in cities from coast to coast, and their music has become familiar to millions thru their Victor recordings. Jones himself is the master of eight different instruments.

Don't Gamble With Chance

SUPERVISED PLAY PLANNED ON LOCAL SCHOOL GROUNDS

Program Is Announced for Knox and Central Grounds

Beginning next Monday, June 21, a recreation schedule has been worked out which will include playground supervision at two and possibly three of the local school playgrounds. Playgrounds will be supervised Monday afternoon from 2:00 'till 4:30 o'clock; on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9:30 'till 11:30 A. M. and 2:00 'till 4:30 P. M.

Thursdays have been set aside as a regular camp day, at which time all children on the playgrounds who want to go will be taken on a short hike. The children will be requested to bring their own lunch, and will meet at the Central School at 11:00 A. M. and will be brought back by 5:00 o'clock.

Simple projects in arts and crafts will be carried on at the playgrounds as well as supervised games. Mrs. Agnes Israelson will be in charge of the Knox school playground and Mrs. Camille Dostal at the Central grounds. Washington School grounds may also have supervision, but as yet this is not definite.

Due to the fact that very small children need special care and attention, Mrs. Israelson and Mrs. Dostal ask that mothers do not send children under 5 years of age to the playgrounds unless accompanied by older brothers and sisters who will help take care of them.

ALL STEEL and TWO YARDS WIDE

There's a lot more in this picture than meets the eye, though the eye has plenty to sparkle about in the stunning style of this spirited Buick car.

What you don't see here is the lift that's yours when you touch off the flashing power of Buick's valve-in-head straight-eight engine and go streaming off across the map.

What you don't see is the solid, steady feel of Buick—the firm stability that holds you on the line without weave or sway or wander on straightaways or on the curves.

What you don't see is the assurance you'll know once you step on Buick's tiptoe brakes and see how surely and safely they make you master of its power.

We can't picture here the security that's yours in a body of steel-fused-to-steel—with floor, roof, side panels, cowl all welded into one stout unit of protective metal.

And only time can tell you how big is your money's worth in Buick—all steel and two yards wide, a big package that's your one best bet of the field when you add the superb action that gives its metals life.

All we can do is show you how a Buick looks—and handsome as this gallant traveler is, remind you that its good looks are literally the least of what it has to offer. Go try a Buick now!

EIGHTH GRADERS HEAR ADDRESS BY REV. PAUL SNYDER

Ninety-three Graduates Get Diplomas Friday at Auditorium

Injecting his remarks to the 93 members of the eighth grade graduating class of Central school at commencement exercises in the Auditorium Friday morning, Rev. Paul J. Snyder of Crookston asserted that life comes hardest for those who take it easy, and he urged his hearers to give forth their best efforts.

"Accept life joyously and live it well and courageously", he advised, "and make the best of the talents given by God".

At the close of the exercises Mrs. H. R. Lund presented the American Legion auxiliary citizenship award to Ardith Schultz, and Dr. A. E. Jacobson conferred a similar Legion award to Thomas Carlisle, while the spelling award was given to Pauline Horter.

Miss Lyda Batten, Central school principal, was in charge of the exercises, which opened with a processional march played by James Skarstad, who also ably rendered Chopin's "Polonaise". Marjorie Helquist gave the welcome address, and the farewell message was delivered by Ardith Schultz, while Ardith Burrell gave a recitation.

Musical numbers included songs by the girls and boys glee clubs under the direction of Miss Erma Sprangen, and by the entire graduating class. Supt. Morris Bye presented the diplomas.

Even Forsberg, 63, Dies of Heart Attack

Even Emil Forsberg, 63, local carpenter, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday morning. Funeral services were held at the Larson chapel Wednesday afternoon, Rev. C. W. Erickson officiating, after which his body was removed to Compton, Wadena, Minn., where final rites and interment are being held today.

Even Forsberg was born October 8, 1873 at Brainerd. When he was about four years old the family moved to a farm near Wadena. There he grew up, was confirmed in the Lutheran church of Compton, and in December, 1910, he was married to Miss Amanda Thylander. In 1919 he and his wife moved to this city, living for a short time on a claim east of the city, after which he took up residence in Thief River Falls, where he has since made his home. He was a member of Augustana Lutheran church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Amanda Forsberg and by his father Jonas Forsberg of Wadena, two sisters, Mrs. H. W. Wellman and Mrs. Albert Skog, both of Wadena, and two brothers, C. O. Forsberg of Wadena and Fred Forsberg of Minneapolis.

ST. HILAIRE WINS 11 INNING BATTLE FROM PLUMMER

Rival Pitchers Hold Teams Scoreless First Ten Innings Sunday

An eleven inning pitching duel between Olsgaard of Plummer and Hallnack of St. Hilaire Sunday at Plummer had the two hundred fans on their toes every minute of the two hours and 15 minutes of play, St. Hilaire winning by a 2 to 0 score. Hallnack allowed 5 hits, struck out 16 and gave no base on balls. Olsgaard gave up three hits, walked 2 batters and struck out 12 but lost the game by 4 successive errors by his infield in the 11th inning. Not a single extra base hit was delivered by either team. These same two teams meet at St. Hilaire Sunday, June 20th and another interesting battle will be offered the fans.

MARSHALL COUNTY FAIR IN PROGRESS JULY 1, 2 AND 3D

31st Annual Event in Warren Offers Big Array of Entertainment

Some of the most novel entertainment ever offered to the people of the Northwest will be presented at the 31st annual Marshall County Fair at Warren on July 1, 2 and 3.

Preparations for the event now are rapidly taking shape, according to Wm. Forsberg, president of the association.

Headlining the attractions at the 1937 fair will be the public Wedding scheduled to take place during the evening of July 1. A young Marshall county couple will be married before the large crowds attending the exposition. The fair association has offered a purse of $50 to the contracting couple, while numerous gifts will be presented by the merchants of Warren. The couple has already been selected, with A. C. Swanby in charge, stating that the parties live in two separate communities of the county. Who are they?

Horse racing will again be an afternoon feature with some of the finest horses in the Northwest competing in the running races. The complete race program will be announced next week.

Directors are also booking some additional afternoon attractions which will be real thrillers.

The night show with a complete change in program each evening will feature the Merry Whirl Revue of 1937, composed of a bevy of beautiful girls, gorgeous costumes, comedians, and special lighting effects. Other professional grandstand acts include African lion acts, spiral tower act, magic slight of hand, comedy acrobatic acts, high wire and teeter board acts and aerial acts. These acts are being brought to the Northwest to give the people of this section an opportunity to witness talent usually found only in the larger cities of the country, said Mr. Forsberg.

The largest midway that has ever appeared in Marshall county will be on the grounds this year, including giant ferris wheels, merry-go-rounds, kiddie auto and train rides, whip gliders, whirligyroscope and many others. Dee Lang's Famous Shows is also made up of 20 big shows including a minstrel show of more than 30 persons.

HOMESTEAD BILL WOULD ABOLISH STATE TAX ONLY

Taxpayers Group Says Bill Is Not as Broad as Many Believe

To clear up the many misapprehensions that exist in reference to the homestead exemption law now under consideration in the Minnesota legislature, the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform in a communication received here today analyzed the effects that may be expected in this community from adoption of the proposal.

Constant Larsen of Alexandria, president of the Federation, said that most farm and home owners seem to be under the impression that the bill under consideration will eliminate all taxes on homesteads. The bill does not do this, he pointed out, and instead of a saving will result in increasing the tax burden upon many citizens.

"It is easy to see how the proposal will work out," Mr. Larson said. "The first $1,000 of value of a farm homestead now is assessed at 20 per cent of its full value, or in other words at $800. The present state tax levy is 12.45 mills. On this basis, therefore, passage of the bill will save a maximum of only about $10 on a $1,000 farm homestead.

"Adoption of the measure will reduce the tax base, however, and the state tax levy will need to be increased 2.25 mills to raise the same amount of money. The farmer who has a farm worth more than $1,000, therefore, will be subjected to an increased levy on the proportion of his farm over the $1,000. The farmer also will have to shoulder an increased tax on his livestock and personal property. For many farmers, these increases will offset any gain from the exemption.

"The man who has a $3,000 home in the city or village will save a maximum of about $9 on his homestead tax if the bill passes, but will be subject to other tax increases that will tend to offset this.

"Another thing to be kept in mind is that the proposal will work out to the disadvantage of renters. Persons who rent farms and homes will have to pay 2.25 mills more state taxes on their personal property and indirectly will have to pay through their rent for the increased tax that will be placed on all rented property. The renter usually is worse off than the man who owns a farm or home. This plan also will increase the tax burden on merchants and others who own non-homestead property."

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

New Governmental Setup

While the scene of this article is not of a historical nature, nevertheless it is so intimately linked to local history that it may be appropriately presented here. It deals with a new form of government, embodying radical changes.

Perhaps we may best introduce the subject by explaining that at Crookston, Minn. recently we met T. A. Hoverstad, who is the man responsible for this new idea in government. Mr. Hoverstad, who is now an agent of the Chicago Northwestern Railroad at Chicago, Ill., is a member of the first class of the School of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn. He was the first principal of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. Later he became development agent of the Soo Line and now holds a similar position with the Chicago Great Western.

One decidedly radical feature of the Hoverstad plan is that it would eliminate counties as political subdivisions and hence would do away with county governments. The scheme is predicated on constitutional township government. Townships heretofore have gotten along without constitutions because state statutes have provided for township organizations, but Mr. Hoverstad thinks this state provision is not enough. He thought that something should be done to increase the sense of responsibility on the part of the people, so he drafted a township constitution. The constitution has already been put into effect. Warsaw township in Goodhue county in Minnesota has adopted it, and Mr. Hoverstad expects that eventually most of the more than 52,000 townships will have this constitutional government.

The aim of the Hoverstad township constitution as set forth in its preamble is to enable the people better to perform their duties as citizens of the United States.

"Older constitutions stressed a 'Bill of Rights', but my plan emphasizes a 'Bill of Duties'," the father of the plan explained. This bill of duties commits the people of a township to a splendid program. It reads:

"We do declare it our duty—

"To honor and respect, protect and defend, the constitutions of the United States and of the State of Minnesota.

"To obey and help to enforce the laws of the United States and the statutes of the State of Minnesota.

"To help protect the minority against any unjust aggregation of the majority in our local governmental affairs.

"To relieve the federal and intermediate governments of such duties as properly belong to, or can better be performed by, the local government.

"To carry our share of the burdens to support our educational and other public institutions.

"To help develop a system of educations that shall be better adapted to country life.

"To help and to encourage the building of more self-supporting homes.

"To study how the values of services and commodities can be measured, and to determine how trade and commerce can be carried on.

"To help develop the spirit of cooperation and mutual helpfulness.

"To charge for our services what is reasonable and right, and to pay for services what is reasonable and right.

"To charge for our commodities what is reasonable and right, and to pay for commodities what is reasonable and right.

"To encourage work and to discourage idleness.

"To encourage thrift and to discourage extravagance.

"To help conserve the fertility of the soil and to try to prevent erosion.

"To help improve private and public health.

"To help to lift the ideals of American life to a higher plane."

Hamm's
BEER

At the close of the Civil War Hamm began brewing fine quality beer. Today Hamm is one of the Northwest's large brewers — and Hamm's Beer is a favorite drink in twenty-six states.

Hamm still brews beer slowly, carefully, from the choicest barley and hops. More expensive, this method, but the only way to be sure of a smooth, mellow, fully-aged product.

For Your Cookbook

MEAT PAN PIE

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups celery dressing

Season the meat and flatten out to about ¾-inch in thickness on a greased pie plate, leaving enough extending over the edge for the crust effect. Fill the center with the celery dressing and fold the edges of meat up over the dressing. Cover with strips of uncooked bacon. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 minutes or until meat is cooked and bacon crisp. Serves 4.

CELERY DRESSING

1 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon parsley
1 tablespoon butter
3½ cups crumbs of dry old bread
½ teaspoon marjoram
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
Water or soup stock

Cook celery, onion, and parsley in butter for a few minutes. Add other ingredients and enough water or soup stock to make a slightly moist dressing.

HAM A-LA-KING IN GOLDEN NOODLE RING

½ pound diced uncooked ham
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 cup cooked peas
½ cup sliced stuffed olives

Brown ham in hot skillet for 10 or 15 minutes. Add dry flour and stir until each piece of ham is coated with flour. Slowly add the milk, preferably hot, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Just before pouring into the center of the noodle ring, add the other ingredients.

GOLDEN NOODLE RING

1½ cups broken egg noodles
1½ cups milk
½ pound American cheese
3 eggs
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1 pimento, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped onion
Salt, pepper, paprika

Cook the noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain. Heat the milk in a double boiler, add the cheese which has been grated or broken up in small pieces and stir until melted. Beat eggs as light as possible and add to cheese mixture. Add other ingredients except the noodles and combine thoroughly. Add noodles and stir carefully. Pour into a well-buttered ring mold. Set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes. Serves 8-10.

BRINGS 1,700 EGGS ON RARE CITY TRIP

Fairmont— Archie Handy, Center Creek pioneer living in the Granada community, made one of his rare visits to Fairmont last week, shook hands with the boys at the courthouse, chatted on the streets and disposed of more than 100 dozen eggs. In spite of his more than 81 years, Archie still wears his long, golden locks, his eye is keen, and his mind active. "I can't stand up straight like I used to—have to lean on my cane," said Archie. "If I try to stand erect I lose my balance and stagger. They had it reported that I was drunk when I came to town last year." Archie, who is fond of raising poultry, used to like eggs very well but now he says: "It's just like everything else, when you have lots of something you don't care much for it."

STATE TIMBER MARKED FOR SELECTIVE CUTTING

Approximately 84 million board feet of state-owned timber in the northern part of the state has been marked for selective cutting, Grover M. Conzet, director of forestry, announced last week. "Sound forestry practices are being used in marketing the trees," Mr. Conzet said. "Enough young trees will be left standing to insure good reproduction. Along highways, a strip of timber 150 to 200 feet wide will be left intact for scenic purposes."

CO-OPS OF STATE OPPOSE DRASTIC CHAIN STORE TAX

Point Out That Chains Are Huge Buyers of Farm Products

Representatives of 118 Minnesota cooperative creameries and other farm organizations engaged in buying products from farmers in this state, last week joined in a protest to the lower house of the legislature against the enactment of any discriminatory and unfair chain store tax law during the present special session.

"With only one exception—California, Minnesota sells more farm products to chain stores than any other state in the union", the petition states. "The food chains alone buy annually more than $140,000,000 of the products of Minnesota farms. In justice, therefore, to the farmers of the state and their prosperity vital as it is to the well-being of all our citizens, we submit that the legislature cannot afford to jeopardize this great market by enacting discriminatory tax legislation which may have the effect of diverting this enormous purchasing power from our own markets to the markets of states which do not impose this unfair tax.

"We therefore, respectfully urge that this controversial issue, with its distinct and serious threat to the agricultural prosperity of the state, should not be injected into the present extraordinary session of the legislature. If a chain store tax measure should be introduced, we ask that the farmers and consumers of the state be accorded the fullest opportunity to be heard before the bill is given final consideration by your honorable body."

114 Motorists Lose Licenses in Campaign on Drunken Drivers

One hundred and fourteen Minnesota motor vehicle drivers lost their driver's license last month as police, sheriffs and highway patrolmen tightened their drive on reckless and intoxicated operators. Setting an all-time high mark in license revocations in May, Gil W. Carmichael, director of the Drivers License division of the state Highway department, in a report to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, reported steady progress as the state's police forces close in on drunken drivers.

For the first five months of 1937, 361 drivers have lost their licenses on revocations and of these 329 were drunken drivers, Mr. Carmichael said. Since the bureau started in 1931, there have been 2,713 revocations and of these 2,597 were convicted of driving while drunk. While revocations leaped to a new high in May, the 114 comparing with 72 the same month last year, suspensions dropped from 100 in 1936 to 79 for May, 1937.

Hennepin county led in revocations with 36 and Ramsey had 18, Brown, Koochiching, Mower and Steele counties had three each, Beltrami, Dakota, Douglas, Freeborn, Rice and Rock had two each and the others were scattered through 18 counties, with one each.

N. D. STATE FAIR TO OPEN MONDAY AT GRAND FORKS

Six-Day Program Includes Educational and Amusement Features

The North Dakota State Fair, promising the most complete program of entertainment and education features ever offered in the state, will take over the rebuilt Grand Forks fairgrounds for a six-day stand, June 21-26 inclusive.

Because of the heartening crop conditions in the Red River Valley and the fact that this year's fair offers a greater program of events than ever before, Manager D. F. McGowan is anticipating record crowds.

There will be saddle and harness races Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Auto races will be condensed to one day, Saturday, June 26th. Thrill Day, Tuesday, June 22, featuring Capt. "Bowser" Frakes in his deliberate plane crash into a frame building, will offer 10 death-defying stunts, including a girl daredevil from the South, who drives an automobile over 50 sticks of dynamite and then sends her car into a barrel-roll.

Every night at 8 o'clock, Ernie Young will present his latest and most colorful musical revue "Cavalcade of Hits", featuring a famous prima donna, a large dancing and ballet chorus, comedians, acrobats and vaudeville acts of all kinds, for a total cast of 60.

On the midway an entirely new carnival company, the "Goodman Wonder Show", will offer 10 tent shows of all kinds and 10 exciting rides. Al Sweet and his 15-piece band will play for Young's Revue every night in front of the grandstand and also in the dance pavilion after the show, where crowds of fun lovers will dance each night.

A nursery under the supervision of Mrs. R. E. Sprague will offer visitors an opportunity to have their children taken care of free. A gigantic flower show is attracting hundreds of entrants.

PRAIRIE ANIMALS MOVE TO TIMBERED SECTIONS

Grand Rapids—Students of wild life who see an influx of animals which are native of the wide open spaces of the prairie wonder whether Itasca county is becoming known as a prairie section or whether there are other attractions here. The first report of a jackrabbit seen near Grand Rapids came from Otto Swenson of the North Central School of Agriculture who, while crossing a field, saw a real jackrabbit, one of the big fellows so common in the western part of the state, but ordinarily strangers to the timbered sections. Gophers, both the grey and the striped, are becoming quite common near the Mississippi river, where a score of years ago they were unknown.

"Say Mister—
HOW LONG
SHOULD A MAN'S LEGS
BE ?"

Lincoln had a good answer. "Long enough," he drawled, "to reach from his body to the ground."

That seems a good rule to apply to a business. It ought to be big enough to do the job it is intended to do.

For more than 50 years, the Bell System has grown as this nation has grown. It has to be big and well organized to provide efficient, adequate telephone service at low cost to the millions of persons it serves.

The usefulness of telephone service has increased greatly along with the nation's growth. Millions more persons are within your reach by telephone.

Year after year service is clearer, faster, more accurate, more dependable. In this country, fast, clear, accurate and far-reaching service is provided at a price within reach of a larger percentage of the population than in any other nation.

Graduation Dress

by Jane Alden

Graduation time is here once again and along with it comes that problem of what the young girl graduate should wear for graduation and after. Perhaps school custom decrees a simple tailored street frock for the day itself. Fine, for it may well be the sort of thing which she can wear all summer for nearly every occasion, after graduation.

My suggestion for a perfect dress with all the magic of accessory changes is one of the bolero - plus - gilet models. This is a simple basic white frock with high neckline, short sleeves, and softly flaring skirt(a). Variations are offered by a white bolero jacket(b), one in gay print(c), and a sashed gilet in matching print(d).

The basic "white" without colored accessories is perfect for graduation exercises and with these other parts you can easily work out six variations. One of the new, young looking jigger coats in vivid color would be grand with the white frock — making a dashing ensemble and furnishing a coat for other dresses and suits as well.

In some schools they are wearing tailored suits for graduation. This, of course, is an excellent and practical idea, for a man-tailored suit in grey, navy, or black wool, or in white or pastel sharkskin . . . with smart accessories . . . would be perfect for all season. In choosing accessories, remember that shining patent is a favorite this year . . . and that the new fabric sandals in multi-color prints are new and interesting for summer wear.

The North Country

A paradise for hunter, trapper, fisherman and holiday seeker, covered with forests and interwoven with lakes and streams. The early settler found in the forests fine homesites, and cleared openings gave to them sheltered homesteads in a natural landscape of great beauty. Although the lumbermen cut the timber and cleared the land in certain areas, the territory is so vast and the strength of nature so great that the wounds quickly healed and the paradise still remains. Thanks to our state commissions and other conservation groups the supply of fish and game is regularly replenished. Much of this territory still retains its natural beauty and furnishes a delightful summer home for the sportsman and vacationist. Spend a few moments with us and take a trip through a series of scenes that will be familiar to many of you.

Next Fall's Pullets

An analysis of the present poultry situation by Dr. J. H. Sloan, professor of poultry husbandry, Minnesota College of Agriculture.

THE decrease in chick sales this spring indicates that many poultrymen have become discouraged by the present relation between feed and egg prices. While it is true that feed costs are important in the cost of raising pullets, poultrymen who depend on the sale of eggs for a part of their income should look farther ahead than spring conditions in planning their operations for the coming year. An attempt should be made at analyzing the factors that will determine egg prices and feeding costs this fall and winter.

One of the important factors affecting fall and winter egg prices is the supply of eggs during these seasons. The marked reduction in hatching this spring will probably mean a reduction of pullets available for fall production. Since fall production is dependent largely on pullet production it seems that the production of eggs during the fall and winter is likely to be less than normal and shortages are usually accompanied by higher prices. While heavy storage holdings of eggs might act to depress the price somewhat, the present operations do not point to an excessively heavy storage season. This means that current receipt prices in the fall should be above last year.

The increasing demand for poultry products as indicated by the increase in out of storage movement of poultry is another factor that should act to help maintain prices this fall. While the present prices for poultry are still somewhat lower than normal, the out of storage movement indicates that this condition should be improved by the time this season's supply starts to move to market.

Thus it appears at present that a probable shortage of pullets this fall, coupled with moderate storage and improving economic conditions should mean good prices for egg producers this fall and winter.

Profits of course are determined by costs as well as income and the main question in respect to the cost of production this fall is the feed supply. It is too early to estimate this year's grain crop but conditions so far point to at least a fair crop in this territory. If a normal crop is harvested feeding costs should be lower this fall.

It would seem therefore that in spite of the present feed prices, the net income from egg sales this fall and winter should be increased over last year, with the prospect of higher egg prices, even though the grain crop is not greater than last year. Thus while over expansion should be guarded against, the prospects look favorable for those who can maintain their laying flocks and make use of available laying quarters.

It should be remembered however that in order to get fall and winter production from pullets, the chicks must be fed well all summer. Poorly fed pullets even though purchased early will not lay well this fall. This will be another factor in holding back fall production—too many chicks are being poorly fed due to high feed prices. No more chicks should be purchased than can be well cared for, and laying quarters must not be overcrowded for best results.

HOBBIES CAN BE MADE PROFITABLE. So says E. J. Schowalter, farmer in the town of Jackson, Wis., whose hobby is raising wild deer for pets and to stock private preserves.

THE belle of the herd posed gracefully for this picture (left). Below, part of the Schowalter herd feeding. They don't seem to object to confinement, nor to the presence of the photographer.

ACT TO SELECT MEMBERS FOR WELFARE UNIT

County Board Takes Action to Qualify Under New State Law

BOARD OF CONTROL TO PICK TWO FROM LIST

Board Monday Awards $8,700 in New County Road Projects

The county board at an adjourned meeting Monday took action to establish a new Pennington county welfare board as provided under a statute passed at the last regular session of the state legislature. At the same time bids were accepted in three county road jobs aggregating more than $8,700.

As provided by the new law, the board appointed three of its members to the welfare board, those named including Commissioners Paul Roy, O. M. Mandt and Alf Bredeson. The board also recommended a list of ten names to the state board of control, which will choose two, one man and one woman, to sit with the three commissioners on the welfare board.

The ten recommended are D. W. Ayers, Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Goodridge; Mrs. E. J. Richards, Mrs. Freeman Allen, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, Mrs. Martin Stenberg, Ronald Johnson, Oscar Gunstad, St. Hilaire; Ed Hill and John Radoiecki, Trail.

One of the two appointed by the state board of control will serve a one year term while the other will serve for two years, and thereafter each will be appointed for two year terms from a list of five residents submitted by the board of county commissioners; the three appointed by the county board serve also for two year terms.

This welfare board is set up to coordinate the various relief activities. The law provides that the board shall "administer all forms of public assistance which now or hereafter may be imposed on the state board of control by law, including aid to dependent children, old age assistance, veterans aid, aid to the blind and other public assistance or public welfare purposes. The duties of the county welfare board shall be performed in accordance with the standards, rules and regulations which may be promulgated by the state board of control in order to comply with the requirements of the federal social security act and to obtain grants-in-aid available under said act."

Members of the board will receive the sum of $3 per day for time actually spent in transacting the business of the board, not exceeding 25 days a year. This amount, to be paid by the county, is provided for by the state law. The board will elect its own chairman, vice chairman and executive secretary.

The board awarded to Ose Brothers, on their bid of $4,630.79, the contract of grading seven and one half miles on County Aid Road 1 in Bray and Sanders; while a grading job covering three miles on County Aid Road 22 in Kratka was awarded to Oscar Jones & company of Erskine on a bid of $2,111.18.

Oscar Selenkey of Middle River was given a contract for regravelling ten miles on State Aid Road 2 in Rocksbury and River Falls township on his low bid of $2,000. A two-mile grading job southeast from St. Hilaire, sponsored by the village, county and town of River Falls, was awarded to Ose Brothers on their bid of $1,462.90.

The resignation of R. M. Douglass as county agent, effective July 1, also was accepted by the board.

SOIL CONSERVING ASSOCIATION SETS BUDGET FOR 1937

Howard Grow Named Secretary Succeeding Douglass

The board of directors of the Pennington County Agricultural Conservation association met in Thief River Falls Monday to adopt the budget for the year 1937 as recommended by the allotment committee.

R. M. Douglass, county agent, who has served as secretary of the association for the past fifteen months, resigned and Howard E. Grow was elected to take his place for the balance of the year.

Several farmers from various parts of the county met later in the day with the directors to discuss and make recommendations for the 1938 program. The farmers were very much interested and a good discussion of the program resulted.

Oslo Ball Team Coming for Battle Today, 6:15

Locals Drop Pair of Games to East Grand Forks During Week

Determined to avenge two defeats during the past week that relegated the aggregation to a tie for third place in the Red River Valley league standings, the Thief River Falls baseball team this evening at 6:15 will tackle the Oslo nine on the fair grounds diamond. Benson will be on the mound for the locals.

A new pitcher is expected to be in the lineup next Sunday when Thief River Falls journeys to Oslo for a return game. Manager George Lee also has arranged for an extra game to be played at Roseau Friday evening, and a return contest will be played later in this city.

East Grand Forks, playing on their home grounds last Thursday evening vanquished the locals 6 to 2, and repeated the performance here Sunday by winning 6 to 5 after running in four scores in the eighth inning. In Thursday's game Orvalla struck out six men and Sahl eight, while Parish for the East Siders struck out eight. The locals ran in their tallies in the second and fifth innings, while their opponents scored two in the first, one in the second and three in the fifth.

In Sunday's game Sahl replaced Benson on the mound in the seventh inning after Nelson of East Grand Forks opened with a double, Benson having pitched a steady game up to that point. Soholt, local catcher, distinguished himself by knocking out two three-baggers in four times at bat.

Thief River Falls scored runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings and two in the seventh while East Grand Forks tallied in the fifth and sixth, previous to the winning rally in the eighth when four men completed the circuit after hits by Parish and Melgard.

That Thief River Falls products are being distributed in an ever-widening circle was revealed last week when Fred Forsberg & Sons, local manufacturers of seed cleaning machinery, received from Sweden an order for a grain separator. The order was filed by Carl Engstrom Aktiebolaget of Eslov, Sweden, for shipment to Malmo in that country.

JUNIOR BALL TEAM TAKES TWO GAMES DURING PAST WEEK

Lee Extends Invitation to Junior Players From Throut County

Piling up the astronomical score of 25 to 6, the Thief River Falls Legion junior league baseball team won a decisive victory over Red Lake Falls in the latter city last Friday. Lawrence Nicholson was on the mound for the locals, with Robert Quale on the receiving end, and Cliff Olesen starred in batting with two doubles and two singles.

Playing a return game here Tuesday evening, Red Lake Falls again went down to defeat by a score of 16 to 12, the same battery officiating for the locals as in the previous game.

It was announced that of all the nine church districts, the Northern Minnesota district had raised 97.5 per cent of its synodical budget, the highest percentage registered by any district.

With the Norwegian Lutheran church attaining its 100th birthday in 1943, the convention approved plans for a proposed centennial celebration, as well as the collection of a centennial fund to pay all direct and indirect debts of the church.

OPEN SAFETY PIN CLOSED IN YOUNGSTER'S STOMACH

Alexandria. Firmly entrenched as the "darling" of the St. Luke's hospital staff here, seven months old Jackie Pennie, son of Mr and Mrs. Levin Pennie of Villard, lolls and coos happily, quite unaware of his near catastrophe banished by the physician who, without opening the child's stomach, closed an open safety pin which was swallowed. Mrs. Pennie left her son lying on a bed when she was called from the room. When she returned, Jackie was coughing as though he were choking. Slapping his back failed to bring about the desired result, and when the coughing continued, a doctor was called. X-rays of the baby's stomach showed that an open pin was lodged in the upper stomach. The outer wall of the stomach was incised, the stomach compressed and the pin closed thereby. This procedure eliminates the almost certain danger of a gangrenous nature, preventing anything foreign to enter the wound. Aside from normal gas pains, Jackie was reported to be recovering the following morning.

THIMBALE OF WALLEYED PIKE ALEXIS

By Rene Alexis Boursier, Executive Chef of Hotel Lowry

- 3 lb. walleyed pike
- 1 lb. noodles
- ½ lb. butter
- 3 eggs
- 1½ cups white wine
- A dash of sherry wine
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 lb. fresh cooked shrimp
- 1½ lemons
- 1 pint cream
- 8 slices bread

Remove the pike fillets and slice them thin. Place them in a buttered cake tin or mold which is about two inches deep. Fit them around the sides of the pan to form a wall. Fill the center with noodles, which have been cooked in butter, a little cream, 3 well beaten eggs, and season with salt and pepper.

Prepare the following sauce: Boil fish bones with 1½ cups white wine and 2½ cups water, ½ of an onion, sliced, a branch of celery, a small bit of bay leaf and thyme and a little parsley. Boil this down to half of its original amount. In another pan prepare the following cream sauce by melting 1 tablespoon butter, add ⅛ cup flour and then the fish broth and cream. This sauce must be kept a thick consistency. Season with salt, pepper and a bit of tobasco. Remove from fire and mix in 2 egg yolks, a dash of sherry wine and the juice of one and one-half lemons.

Unmold the fish thimbale on a large round platter. Pour over the cream sauce and on top of this place the cooked shrimp. Garnish platter with buttered fancy toast.

JELLY ROLL

- 1 cup sugar
- 4 eggs, well beaten
- ¾ cup flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoonful lemon extract
- 1 teaspoonful vanilla

Combine ingredients in order given, bake in jelly roll pan for 15 minutes at 400 degrees F. Roll on damp cloth, and frost with chocolate butter icing, decorate with cherries and gum drops, roll and shape like a log.

PIMENTO SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup milk
- 2 or 3 pimentoes
- Salt and pepper

Blend the flour with the melted butter and gradually add the milk which has been warmed. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Put the pimentoes through a fine sieve and add to the sauce. Season. Reheat and serve very hot.

Suggests Remedies for Ridding Lawn of Ants

Exterminating the small red ants which make rings or moulds of soil in the lawn and between the cracks of the sidewalks can be accomplished thoroughly and economically by three simple but reliable methods suggested by A. G. Ruggles, entomologist, University Farm, St. Paul.

A poison bait consisting of 1 teaspoonful of Paris green and ½ pound of brown sugar gives good results, says Mr. Ruggles. This mixture can be scattered near the entrance holes of the ant colonies where it will be eaten readily.

Another simple method, one that has been reported to be very effective, is the spraying or douching of affected areas with a solution made of 2 ounces of corrosive sublimate in 40 gallons of water. This will cover 1,000 square feet of lawn. The solution should be applied to the lawn and left for about a minute, after which the lawn should be sprinkled with water. This solution is also recommended for earthworms which leave rings of soil on the lawn.

A third method of ridding the lawn of ants, one which must be applied persistently, is the "gassing" of the colonies with carbon bisulphide. One teaspoonful of the liquid can be squirted into holes made by the ants by means of an oil can or some similar container; then the holes should be stopped up with soil to allow the gas to replace the air in the tunnels. Carbon bisulphide should be used with caution, for it is as inflammable as as much gasoline.

LOUISVILLE JUDGE INAUGURATES WEEK-END PRISON SENTENCES

The "week-end sentence" plan for employed persons serving a drinking-driver jail term which originated in Rochester, New York, has also been inaugurated by Police Judge J. M. Brachey of Louisville, Kentucky, for drunken drivers, who are fined $10 and sentenced for nine days in jail. The deferred sentence is to be served on those men who are the support of their families. Judge Brachey's sentences, according to the press, however, differ slightly from those of Judge Gitelman of Buffalo who started the idea. The New York state hours extend from four on Saturday afternoon until the same time on Sunday, whereas, under Judge Brachey's method, the prisoner reports for jail duty at six on Saturday afternoon and gets his release on Monday morning in time to go to work. Judge Brachey said he was using this plan because he had found that some employers did not like to give their employes nine days off to go to jail.

Soap and Water First Aid Remedy for Poison Ivy, Physicians State

[illegible] vacation [illegible] which a little watchfulness [illegible] elementary knowledge of plants will usually avoid is ivy poisoning.

Members of the Minnesota State Medical Association's Committee on Public Health Education advise this year's picnickers, tourists and [illegible] who [illegible] off the [illegible] in the summer time to brush up on their botany first and identify the three-leaved plant that is capable of causing so much discomfort.

The plant is distinctive with its three leaves growing each from a single stalk and once learned is never forgotten. If you have the misfortune to rub against it anyway, the doctors counsel the following procedure.

Wash the part that touched it thoroughly and immediately with good strong soap and water. The poisoning comes from the oil that covers the surface of the plant and the best way to get rid of oil is to wash quickly with soap and water. Care should be taken, of course, not to injure the skin and then rub the oil in, instead of removing it. An application of [illegible] after the washing has been [illegible] to ward off inflammation if it is applied immediately.

If the poisoning actually develops, then expert treatment is usually necessary.

Each woodsman who [illegible] that they are [illegible] to ivy poisoning should be warned. Experiments have shown that [illegible]

PROPOSE SLASH IN RELIEF BILL IN STATE HOUSE

Rural Spokesmen Contend $17,000,000 Is More Than Needed

LOWER HOUSE NEARS END OF ITS PROGRAM

House Approves Administration Chain Store Tax Measure

Rural legislators Wednesday proposed a $6,900,000 slash in Governor Benson's $17,000,000 relief Bill, opening the way for a bitter battle with city spokesmen who contend the original amount will be barely enough to cover needs.

The reduction was suggested in the house by Representative John Zwack of Lucan, who urged the legislature to vote a straight 40 per cent cut. His proposal would mean drastic reductions in the amount to be available for the cities.

The administration bill calls for direct relief appropriations of $6,250,000 each year of the biennium. In addition, it would set up $2,500,000 to cover sponsors' shares of relief work projects and $2,000,000 for drought relief.

Zwack's proposal would leave the sponsor's share provision intact but cut the drouth appropriation to $1,000,000, and leave but $2,750,000 for direct relief during the first year. Instead of $6,250,000 for direct relief the second year, he would cut the total to $3,750,000.

Only one more important administration tax bill awaited action in the house Tuesday as the special session of the legislature pushed nearer final enactment of a tax program.

That measure was the iron ore severance bill upon which a subcommittee of the house tax committee headed by Representative F. L. Palarine, St. Paul, will make a report today.

Late Monday the house approved another controversial bill—the administration chain store tax. As approved, it imposes a tax ranging from $10 to $350 on chain stores and carries no exemptions.

Meanwhile the senate adopted the gift and inheritance tax bills after both had been amended in committee. They now go back to the house where that body is expected to refuse to concur in changes necessitating a conference committee which will be the first of the special session.

JOE LOUIS KNOCKS OUT BRADDOCK IN ROUND 8 TUESDAY

New World's Heavyweight Title Holder Is Crowned in Chicago

Joe Louis, who was believed by fistic followers to have been eliminated from the heavyweight picture a year ago when Max Schmeling battered him into defeat, staged a sensational comeback in Chicago Tuesday night by knocking out Champion James J. Braddock in the eighth round of their scheduled 15-round fight and winning the world's heavyweight title.

An explosive right hand punch that caught Braddock flush on the point of the chin and stretched him senseless, won the championship for Louis one minute and 10 seconds after the eighth round got under way.

The fight attracted 65,000 fight fans who paid approximately $650,000 for the privilege of witnessing the battle. A large number of local sports followers heard the blow-by-blow account over the radio.

Later he and his wife moved to Mavie, and in 1930 they returned to Newfolden where they have since resided. Mr. Schie served for several years as county commissioner of Marshall county.

He is survived by his wife and nine children, Mrs. Carrie Gibson of Hibbing, Mrs. Marie Hanson of Forsyth, Mont., Mrs. Elsie Folland of Lancaster, Mrs. Olga Hanson of Dickinson, N. D., Mrs. Annie Holmen of this city, Edward of Burns, Ore., Mrs. Minnie DeMerce of Hibbing, Edith at home, Olaf of Chicago; one brother Gunder Schie of Newfolden, and several grandchildren and great grandchildren. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery, Newfolden.

Goldbeater's Skin

Goldbeater's skin is a fine membrane made of the outer coat of the blind gut in cattle and used by goldbeaters to separate the leaves of metal during the last and most difficult stages of hammering out goldleaf. The intestine, after being put through several processes, is cut into pieces about five inches square. Its tenacity and powers of resistance are so great that it will resist the continuous pounding of a heavy hammer for several months. Goldbeaters do their work by hand as they did in ancient times. A large number of leaves are beaten at the same time and hammers ranging in weight from seven to twenty pounds are used.

More on Township Rule

Now there are many other features of the township constitutional government idea as promulgated by Mr. T. A. Hoverstad that deserve consideration. First, we present the rest of the clauses of the constitution as devised by Mr. Hoverstad. These are:

To devote a part of our time and thought to the public good.

To recognize the great truth that the fundamentals of good government, brotherhood, justice, right, peace and happiness are included in "Love one another."

To recognize the Golden Rule in all our dealings.

It is clear that altruism is important in Mr. Hoverstad's plan and there is a question in the writer's mind as to the practicability of such a plan. At present, as we all know, politics are corrupt in most large cities and it seems to us that it would be a big jump to turn from the skullduggery of the present to the golden rule. However, the idea is sound and the ultimate goal one that should be sought by all governments.

We quote from a previous article here to reveal more details of the township government idea: "Having set forth these duties of the good citizen, the constitution goes on to set up machinery for the distribution and exercise of local powers, legislative, executive and judicial. For legislation there is a single body made up of the electors of the township who as legislators serve without pay.

The legislature meets the second Tuesday of March each year, elects the township officers and performs such other duties as may be necessary and in conformity with state and national laws.

"The executive department consists of three supervisors, two constables, a treasurer, an assessor, a town clerk and an overseer for each road district.

"The judiciary consists of two justices of the peace. The powers and duties of executive officers and justices of the peace are defined by state statutes.

"The constitution, of course, is subject to the limitations prescribed by state and national laws, but through its bill-of-duties and its provisions for three-departmental activities it is believed that it will stimulate interest on the part of the people in better citizenship and better government."

The idea of predicating the entire governmental structure of the nation on the principle of true democracy with the electors in each township having a direct voice in the affairs of government is splendid but, in the writer's opinion, expediency and practice preclude unqualified adoption of the scheme.

In the first place, we think, few township residents are qualified to pass on major governmental matters. They lack the experience and training. Often, too, their restricted lives hamper their reasoning and cause them to entertain prejudices.

But it may be that this fault can be eliminated. Incidentally, the plan, while it provides for elimination of the states as political subdivisions so far as government is concerned and contemplates creation of 12 regional districts or less, might even have far less regional divisions. Mr. Hoverstad said he had visited former President Herbert Hoover in his Palo Alto, Calif., home several times and found him enthusiastic over the plan. He said the former chief executive of the nation favored less than 12 regional districts.

The unicameral idea of legislation is embodied in the general Hoverstad plan. We did not take notes on this part of our interview with Mr. Hoverstad but as we recall it he favors a single legislative body of 24 members or less. This naturally would encounter formidable opposition as it would leave all the representatives in Congress and half the senators without jobs. Then, too, it may be supposed that if a scheme like this were adopted the idea would spread until most departments and bureaus were simplified and thousands of governmental employes deprived of their berths.

It would take a superman to accomplish this, even though we know that a great many of these job holders could be discharged without crippling the government. In fact, their dismissal probably would be highly beneficial in every way.

Oysters to "Bosom of Buddha"

The soul of 50,000,000 oysters, which have served to turn a humble macaroni maker into the pearl king of the Orient, went to the "bosom of Buddha" on the Isle of Pearls recently. The pearl king believes in the Japanese tradition that everything that does good should be revered. So, at the sacred family shrine gathered members of the family, relatives, employes, appraisers of gems, priests and musicians. At the altar lay the first pearl that an oyster made for Mikimoto.

Old Gold Coin Spins Yarn

Wrapped in parchment, a gold coin was picked up at Shell Bay, Scotland, by John Burns, seventeen, of East Wemyss. It proved to be a third of a guinea piece dated 1803, when George III reigned. The paper in which it was inclosed has written on it these words: "Hermand 24th October, 1809. This wrapper contains the piece of coin referred to in the declaration of Christian Mill—before me of this date. This piece is also referred to the declaration of George Grant. G. C."

OLD ENGINE OIL BURNS OUT RATS

Fairmont.—One of the best ways to get rid of rats is to burn them, thinks Dave Jaqua, caretaker at the local city dump, who tried out the experiment with success. A year ago a man came to Fairmont with a proposition to kill all rats at the city dump. He spread poison and killed hundreds of them, but there were as many as ever until Dave tried out his scheme of fighting rats with fire. He got a large quantity of old crank case and other waste oils from garages and dumped a truck load of this oil down the bank at the dump. When he touched a match to the oil a heavy explosion resulted. The whole bank blazed. Everything on the surface was burned and the fire crept into crevices in the bank and burned as long as the oil lasted. As all the ground at that point is filled with rubbish and debris, the fire readily found combustible material. So far into the pile did the fire burn that an area of three or four feet settled, leaving a deep depression in the surface of the bank 20 feet above. It is believed that hundreds of rats were burned to death—and their living quarters destroyed. If the caretaker gets enough motor oil he expects to put on more rat fireworks.

History of Rosewood Mission Church Outlined by Lincoln

The Times presents herewith the history of the Rosewood Mission church, compiled by S. D. Lincoln of Stephen, investigator for the Minnesota Historical society, in cooperation with Albert Hellquist of Rosewood.

The Rosewood Mission Church is located in the Village of Rosewood in Marshall County, Minnesota.

The congregation was organized on Sept. 10, 1910, as the Bethlehem Congregational Church, but on Aug. 29, 1930, they severed their relationship with that church body and became independent. It is now known as the Rosewood Mission Church, but is independent of the Covenant Mission denomination.

The Rosewood church is served by the same pastors as Viking, Strandquist, and Comstock-Foldahl.

The charter members were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Mellem, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Styrlund, Mr. John Blom and Miss Alvina Blom.

Meetings were held in the homes of members or in the schoolhouse until a church was built in 1912. This an attractive frame building set against a background of poplars.

It was dedicated in the fall of 1912. Prof. F. Resberg, Rev. A. P. Nelson and Rev. Verner Drotts assisted the local pastor, Rev. Olaf A. Anderson, with the dedication ceremonies.

The first officers were: Olaf A. Anderson, chairman; Fred Styrlund, secretary; T. Mellem, treasurer; John Blom, deacon, Olaf A. Anderson, T. Mellem and Fred Styrlund, Trustees.

The present officers are: Emil Mellem, chairman; Carl Blom, vice chairman; Mrs. Carl Blom, secretary; J. Albert Hellquist, treasurer; John Blom, T. Mellem and J. Albert Hellquist, trustees; John Blom and J. Albert Hellquist, deacons; Mrs. Carl Blom and Mrs. Emil Mellem, deaconesses.

The following pastors have served this congregation:

Rev. Olaf A. Anderson, 1910-17.
Rev. Verner Drotts, 1919-29.
Rev. W. O. Larson, 1929-31.
Rev. C. Edwitt Anderson, 1931-36.
Rev. J. Bowman, 1937-date.

This congregation uses the Wildwood Cemetery in Rosewood, which is owned by the Rosewood Cemetery Association.

The English language has gradually superseded the Scandinavian which was used exclusively in the beginning.

A Young People's Society was organized about 1912. The present officers are: Floyd Anderson, President; Mrs. Floyd Anderson, Sec., and Fern Mellem, Treasurer.

The Ladies Aid Society comprises all the ladies of the church, but has no formal organization.

A Sunday School was begun in 1893 in a log house which was the home of John Sor. This building is still standing, and is now owned by Joel Shoberg. Mr. Sor acted as both teacher and superintendent of the Sunday school. He continued in this work for fifteen years. In 1908 Rev. Olaf Anderson came as the first pastor of the community, and acted as superintendent of the Sunday school for ten years. After Rev. Anderson's death in 1917 the work was carried on by his widow (now Mrs. Carl Blom) for another ten years. During her superintendency the Sunday school became associated with the American Sunday School Union. Rev. Davy was the first pastor to represent that organization at Rosewood. Rev. McKnight served in the same capacity from 1926 to 1928. Rev. P. C. Sorenson continued the work until the fall of 1935 when he was succeeded by Rev. George Fredrickson who served as Sunday school missionary for one year. The present officers of the Sunday school are: Albert Hellquist, Supt.; Emil Mellem, asst. Supt.; Fern Mellem, sec.; Alice Mellem, Treas.

The present enrollment of the Sunday school is fifty-two.

The membership of the church at the time of organization comprised eight families. The membership at the present time includes sixteen families.

A mimeographed church paper called "The Glad Tidings" was established in 1933. It is published by the pastor at Viking, Minn., for the benefit of the membership of the Mission churches at Viking, Rosewood, Strandquist, and Comstock-Foldahl.

The above information was obtained from Albert Hellquist, Rosewood, Minn.

Date: May 4, 1937.
Investigator: S. D. Lincoln.

Historical Sketch of the Rosewood Mission Sunday School

"Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days." This, the annals of the Rosewood Sunday School reveal. God has blessed the seed that has been sown. The sowing of the precious seed began in a little old log house in the year of 1893. It was the home of John Sor. It still stands and is the property of Mr. Joel Shoberg. Mr. Sor was both superintendent and teacher of the class. In those days the Swedish language was the paramount language in both church and Sunday school. For fifteen years Mr. Sor labored faithfully, Sunday after Sunday.

In 1908 Rev. Olaf Anderson came as the first pastor of the little church. At the same time he also was superintendent of the Sunday school. For ten years brother Anderson devotedly carried on the work of the school. Upon the death of Rev. Anderson, the work was carried on by his wife, now Mrs. Carl Blom. Mrs. Anderson was leader for ten years, and it was during her superintendency that The American Sunday School Union associated itself with the school. The Union is an undenominational organization seeking to bring the Word of God to the children of our land. It is very active in establishing and reviving Sunday schools. The Union has missionaries out on "the field" and Rev. Davy came as the first one to represent the work of the Union at Rosewood. Then in 1926 Rev. McKnight came in behalf of the Union. He continued until 1928.

The work was then taken up by Rev. P. C. Sorenson, who conducted the first vacation Bible school. One purpose was in view, mainly to win the children to a personal acceptance of Christ. The efforts were not in vain, for one girl eight years of age came to this knowledge. The following winter Mr. Sorenson conducted a three weeks' series of meetings. During these services a mighty spiritual awakening brought many lives "from darkness into His Marvelous light." Its fruits are still evident. Then Rev. E. L. Tungseth of Thief River Falls held a week of meetings, which also had the blessing of God upon it. Rev. Sorenson continued his labors as missionary until 1935, when he was succeeded by Rev. George Fredrickson. Mr. Fredrickson remained for one year as Sunday school missionary.

This year the Sunday school observes its 44th anniversary. The officers are as follows: Albert Hellquist, Supt., Emil Mellem, Asst. Supt., Fern Mellem, Sec., and Alice Mellem, Treas.

Its present enrollment is 52.

Growing With Your Child

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

When Mrs. Jones got the note from Albert's teacher, asking her to come to see her when it was convenient, her heart sank. She had tried to keep out of her mind the possibility that Albert might not pass into sixth grade, but all the while she had been conscious that his work was poor.

"I know what you're going to tell me," she began when she and Miss Brown were alone. "Albert isn't going to make his grade, is he? Oh, dear, what can we do about it? There must be some way of helping him do better work!"

"That's just why I asked you to come over," returned Miss Brown. "I knew it would be a big disappointment to you to find that Albert can't go on with his grade, but I did want you to understand why we are keeping him back. It's not to punish him, or humiliate him, or because we have a grudge against him and don't think he's worked hard. It's simply that in all kindness to him, we don't feel it would be fair to make him struggle against odds that he can't possibly overcome."

"But why are you so sure he can't do the work?" pleaded Albert's mother. "Maybe there'll be some things in seventh grade that he'll be more interested in than in the sixth grade subjects."

"But you see, Mrs. Jones, it's like this. Albert is a good deal below the average in his class when it comes to reading. It takes him much longer to cover an assignment than most of the class and he has a harder time to remember what he reads. Next year he would have an even harder time, as the assignments will be longer and more difficult. It's the same way with arithmetic, too. You see, I'm really thinking of Albert's side of it when I say, he will be so discouraged if he tries to keep up with the others that you may have other problems on your hands, as well as slowness at school. I mean, if he gets too downhearted about it and hates it too much, he might take to staying away from school. You wouldn't want that, I know."

"But isn't there something we can do about it?" reiterated Mrs. Jones.

"We are trying to do something about it," replied the teacher. "We have given him tests to see what his natural level is; and when we find that a child is not a bookish type, that he will never particularly like or do well in school subjects, we try to make school as pleasant a place as possible, and see to it that the child has some satisfactions apart from achievement in school work, that can nest or be his. Albert is such a reliable boy, and so level-headed, that we can give him duties and responsibilities around school, and praise him when he does well."

"What I wish," she went on, "is that we could have an arrangement by which he, and boys like him, moved along with others of their own age, but were not grouped with them in all their classes, only in those in which they wouldn't feel inferior. But until we can have a more flexible system than we do now, I'm afraid that's only a rosy dream."

"I'm glad you're going to have Albert in your room again next year, because I think you do understand him, and he does do his best work for you," Mrs. Jones said thoughtfully.

"We must work together," the teacher replied. "We must keep Albert from becoming discouraged by finding things that he can do."

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

Found! A Minnesota group interested in reduction of State expenditures. It is one for Mr. Ripley's "Believe it or Not" column, but none the less true. It was a group of Minnesota farmers not the far-famed (?) Peoples' Lobby type who invaded the corridors of the Capitol Wednesday, bringing for personal presentation a resolution to the legislature demanding reduction in appropriations. So rare is any such thing that many legislators found themselves speechless, but these sane thinking farmers were not speechless. Said they: "We of the rural communities demand that the legislature of this state refuse to approve any legislation carrying with it new appropriations and that they devote their time and their efforts toward finding means of reducing appropriations instead of finding new ways of taxation and new sources of revenue."

The gentlemen who made the trip to the capitol to stress their demands were real gentlemen. There was no haranguing; no loud mouthed shoutings. There were no threats against the lives of legislators or their families. These men, so unlike those who made up the People's Lobby were not professional agitators and labor organizers. They were honest-to-goodness farmers, who own their own farms and homes, and who hope to keep them by keeping the tax wolf from their door.

The resolution was the result of a large gathering of farmers at St. Cloud on May 26th. It did not deal with the disagreement between the Governor and the Senate, which disagreement arises in the Governor's demands that thirty four million in new revenues be raised as against the Senate's determination to hold such new levies to some twenty million. It merely set forth the very apparent fact that "we cannot have our cake and eat it too."

And from the Range country there came another group. Rather than a group of tax savers, they could be classified as a group of tax spenders. They came to oppose the Senate bill sponsored by Senators Oscar Swenson, Wm. Dietz and Ancher Nelson. The bill would reduce the expenditures in iron range municipalities, townships and school districts and place the savings so made in the state treasury to help take up some of the enormous demands being made. And yet the bill would give these same subdivisions of government far more than the average in the State. As drawn the bill would allow each of the range cities and villages $75.00 per year per capita for school purposes and $30.00 per year per capita for ordinary municipal business.

Ever since iron ore became one of the state's chief resources there have been those on the range who have gouged and gouged the mining companies. Elections on the range have been so bitterly fought that those not of that section have become suspicious. Not a few are the tales of wholesale graft and fraud, that not only apply to the municipal government but to the school government, as well.

With continued demands for more and more money for civic needs, it is not strange, therefore, that south state Senators, beholding the great demands for appropriations, the while their taxes on their farm and commercial properties were jumping sky high, felt it high time to give the entire state a portion of this great sum paid by the mining companies through the medium of taxation.

Last year the mining companies paid in round figures, $22,000,000 in taxes. Of that vast sum Minnesota received but a little more than $6,000,000. Where did the remainder go? Testimony before the Senate Tax committee was that it went to the villages and schools and townships.

In the same hearing some very interesting facts were revealed. Per capita expenditures in Hibbing, for example, were found to be $92.00 think of it, $92.00 for every man, woman and child in the village. Mankato, with a slightly larger population and a tidy, well kept, well-policed city, had a per capita tax of but $12.45. Eveleth's expenditures were shown to be $71.20 per capita as compared with only $6.95 in the city of Moorhead. Even the little town of Iron Mountain had per capita expenditures of $99.00, and Buhl, $100, as compared with per capita expenditures of $6.00 for Pine City and $5.92 for Brainerd, much larger than either of the range towns.

Had the committee the time to seek further information they would have found even more startling things. Cost of school maintenance per month would startle the average person, running close to the hundred thousand dollar mark, per month, in Hibbing. In my own town of Slayton, with over 400 students, the expenditures do not aggregate so large an amount in two years.

Of course the range municipalities and school districts have problems far different from those in other sections. The complexity of their society is a tremendous problem. To this writer's knowledge there were 26 different nationalities represented in the student body in the Hibbing school but a few years ago, and doubtless that condition still prevails.

The climate, too, has its disadvantages, while whatever of beauty there is, is for the greater part artificial.

But to south state legislators the wholesale spending of money is little short of criminal. Why, they ask, does the Superintendent of Schools in Hibbing receive $7,500.00, a salary as large as that of the Governor of our state and far larger by twice, than the average in the state. And why is it necessary to have a school building, the cost of which totals more than the City Hall and Court house in St. Paul.

"N," Middle Initial

In America "N" is probably more widely used than any other letter as a meaningless middle initial in personal names. Many having it are World war veterans. Their enlistment papers, says Collier's Weekly, had a space for a middle name and, if they had none, "None" was inserted. Afterward None was contracted to N.

Yeast Always Important

Yeasts were the first of the fungi to go to work for men and are still the most important. Their value lies in a peculiar way their systems differ from ours in the utilization of sugar. Both men and yeasts obtain vital energy from the oxidation of sugar to carbon dioxide. We produce this change by combining the sugar with oxygen.

A SPECTACULAR DEMONSTRATION—BUT WHY?

Three Russian fliers have completed a flight over the top of the world, failing by only a few hundred miles to reach their California destination in one hop from Moscow. It was a spectacular demonstration of flying ability, the course being one of the most hazardous ever attempted. The young fellows deserve a lot of credit for their courage and especially for their proven skill in navigation.

Just what the significance of such a flight might be is not so apparent. Had the purpose of the flight been to experiment with the possibility of a shorter air route from Russia to America the course probably would have been from a point in northern Russia to Alaska. The fact that from Moscow as a starting place, California was selected as a destination, does arouse a natural suspicion that the purpose of the venture was to provide a thrill and attract attention rather than to make a contribution of scientific or commercial value. The fact that such a stunt flight was sponsored officially by the Russian government causes one to wonder just a little why the Russian government should be interested in attracting such attention.

There are two possible answers to this question. One is that the Russian government is anxious to demonstrate the effectiveness of its air forces. The other is that the Russian government would like to have more publicity thruout the world on its achievements and less on the public executions that have been so numerous in that country lately. The news from Russia for several months has consisted largely of reports of official killings. In droves of ten or twenty at a time, public enemies have been slaughtered. The peculiar thing about public murders in Russia is that the victims invariably break down at the last minute and sign a confession in which they admit they were wrong and deserve to die. In our country most of the criminals who face the death penalty maintain their innocence to the very last. The fact that in Russia all those who face death admit their guilt makes the whole procedure of Russian justice sound fishy.

But perhaps we are a little unfair in questioning the Russian standard of justice and suggesting that ours might possibly be superior to theirs. In Russia they kill men. In our country our political leaders murder character. The Russian method probably is more humane after all.

But questioning the motives or the practices of the Russian government does not detract in the least from the achievement of the three fliers who piloted their ship over the north pole to a safe landing in the United States. A round of cheers to their courage and ability.

Congress has turned over another huge sum of money to the President to be spent as he sees fit. Boake Carter recently pointed out that in 143 years, from 1789 to March 4, 1933, the total sum turned over to our chief executives to be spent at their own discretion was just a little more than a billion and a half dollars. Since March 4, 1933, however, Congress has given the President more than fifteen billion dollars to play with. Through the spending of these fifteen billions, President Roosevelt has had more power than any one man has ever exercised in the history of the world. Only one thing has curbed that power and that is the Constitution. So far his efforts to convert that document into a scrap of paper have failed. Power drunk politicians and their pap hungry hirelings have placed a heavy mortgage on America's future but we still have the right to complain about it. And in the exercise of this constitutional right there is some satisfaction.

Three and a half years ago the New Dealers launched a silver buying campaign that was to step the price of silver up from 41c to $1.29. At the end of three and a half years the price of silver is 45c but the government is still buying the products of our mines at 77c an ounce. The loss to date is estimated at about a third of a billion dollars. This is what it cost the administration to buy the votes of a few silver states. Compared to present corruption such things as the Teapot Dome steal were nothing but petit larceny.

It may fairly be said now that a good start has been made toward reviving interest in baseball in this community. In the neighborhood of fifty youngsters, ranging in age up to thirteen, are out regularly for practice and games in the city's pee-wee league. A squad of eighteen provides plenty of competition for positions on the Junior league team. And, with a couple of exceptions, the senior team is made up of home talent. The hope for the future, of course, lies in the youngest bracket. In another five or six years this bracket will produce a crop of real ball players and it will be then that present efforts will be appreciated. Baseball, dead for many years in Thief River Falls, is now definitely on the way back.

The Tindolph Park swimming beach is a popular place these days. No complaints about the beach either. There are complaints, however, about the bath house facilities. And these complaints are justified. Here is a thing some public spirited civic organization could take over as a project. The amount of money required to build a suitable bath house is not so great but that it could be raised by popular subscription. It is a long time since money for any civic project was raised that way. We have become so accustomed to having all improvements paid for out of public funds that it no longer occurs to us that there are other ways of getting the things we want. It would be decidedly refreshing to have one civic improvement that we wouldn't have to say "thank you" for to the representatives of some government agency.

The boast made by John Lewis sometime ago that Roosevelt would have to do his bidding was not just idle talk. Lewis evidently knew whereof he spoke. The President, like the king of Italy, is now merely a figure head. All Lewis must do now to establish his dictatorship is to bluff the American people as he has bluffed the administration. That will be the test that will determine whether or not the American people still deserve the independence the founders of our government fought for.

Although the relief lines are increasing, the demand for skilled workers cannot be supplied, officials state. There is something about this fact that ought to impress the young man who is now thinking about quitting school and taking a job driving a truck or something else into which he can drift easily. If he will look ahead about twenty-five years, he will have no difficulty in seeing where he is going to land. Skilled workers—that is, the men who can do something well, and have the education and training to apply their skill, get the jobs. Unskilled men take what is left; and the record indicates the outlook for them is dismal.—The Long Prairie Leader.

Paul A. Lundgren, who has taken over the law practice of the late O. A. Naplin, arrived with Mrs. Lundgren from Minneapolis to establish their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Iver Wistven, residents of this city the past 23 years, observed their golden wedding June 19. Paul Mobbeligh, George Curran and Charles Herron attended the state firemen's convention in Duluth. Senator Henrik Shipstead gave the principal address at the Land O'Lakes, District 17 picnic at the tourist park in this city. Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

By the time this column is printed the conservative Senate may have already changed its mind and decided to pass the bill which provides for the exemption from the state real estate levy on city homes and farms for the first $1,000 valuation.

Although the conservatives at the outset of the special session put up the bars against this type of legislation, since the passage of the homestead exemption bill by the House pressure upon the Senators from the folks back home is known to be very great. Senator A. J. Rockne, conservative leader, in a letter to the editor of one of the Twin City dailies, states that he is rather surprised "that a matter of so little consequence to the ordinary taxpayer as the so-called $1,000 exemption law should create such a furore," but both he and his conservative colleagues are known to be considerably worried over this public furore. In fact, they are so worried that observers are beginning to predict that the Senate will pass this bill recommended by Governor Benson before the special session comes to a close.

In the appointment last week of Sam L. Hauge, Bagley, as assistant commissioner of agriculture, farmers of the state will find an able and true friend. Along with Commissioner of Agriculture Ommodt he has a thorough-going knowledge of farmers' problems through many years of direct participation in their affairs. He is a member of the state committee of the Farmer-Labor Association.

Seven Minnesota congressmen signed a petition to bring the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing bill onto the floor of the House of Representatives last week, but only 80 of the 218 names needed have been secured. Strongest supporters of the petition are from Wisconsin and Minnesota. All Minnesota's Farmer-Labor congressmen are supporting the measure which would provide three billion dollars to refinance farm mortgages at interest of one and one-half per cent.

Swedish consumers cooperatives have broken so many trusts that they feel that is their mission now, according to Jacob Baker, assistant national W.P.A. administrator and chairman of the President's Committee of Inquiry on European Cooperative Enterprise, who spoke in Minneapolis this week.

When Baker asked the prime minister of Sweden what one thing had helped farmers of his country the most, the prime minister promptly answered that it was the breaking up of the grain monopoly by the cooperatives. The same galoshes that sold for $2.50 when the trust held sway now sell for 92½ cents. Hardly a pair of the former wooden shoes is now to be seen around barns, the prime minister pointed out, because farmers can now buy rubber boots so cheaply.

Governor Benson's suggestion made before the fourth district American Legion convention that exservicemen take the lead in a movement of tolerance toward the views of those who are sincerely striving to find a solution to present day social and economic ills, may prove food for thought for future soldiers as well as for those who already have served in the armed forces of our country.

"We cannot solve the trying problems of today," Governor Benson told the Legionnaires, "by being intolerant of the views of honest persons who are sincerely striving to better society."

Quite obviously, there is something very seriously wrong with a system which is unable to solve the question of poverty and suffering in the midst of material plenty, yet those who have the courage to criticize the system and to advance remedies for consideration are branded as enemies of society. The Legion, with its tremendous prestige, could do much real service to our country in a crusade for tolerance which would be a campaign for true Americanism, squaring with the traditions and ideals of this country.

With the outlook for a bumper crop good over a large area of the northwest, farmers are wondering whether prosperity or disaster will meet them next fall. Too often in the past bumper crops have meant a fall in prices and farmers still remember the 10 cent corn and 25 cent wheat of the Hoover days.

Even good prices will only enable many farmers to pay up some of the debts that piled higher than the haystacks during the depression. It seems more than likely that some form of government aid to augment farmers' incomes will be necessary, both in the areas where a good crop is expected as well as in the western part of the Dakotas, Montana, and parts of Kansas, Colorado, and Nebraska where there has been considerable damage from drouth. For this reason farmers look askance at the plans in Washington for cutting down A. A. A. and Resettlement grants as well as restricting W. P. A. projects in rural areas. Some hope is offered with the Boileau farmers security bill, but a great deal of support will be needed to get the measure enacted.

A success story rivaling the feats of Horatio Alger's heroes and of far more social significance was told about Midland Cooperative Wholesale at its tenth annual convention held in Minneapolis last week. A short ten years has seen the rise of Midland from a small institution with little capital to a [illegible] factor in community life.

Not only do consumers cooperatives make savings possible for the people but they foster the ed[illegible]

[illegible] cation of their membership, thus bringing about a better understanding of economics and social problems, which plays no small part in strengthening the liberal movement.

Governor Benson this week assured the National Farmers Holiday Association of his "wholehearted indorsement" of the farmers security bill, introduced into Congress by Representative Gerald J. Boileau of Wisconsin.

"I believe that this measure represents one of the finest solutions of the farm tenancy problem that has yet been proposed," the governor wrote to the organization.

Indications that conservative Senate and liberal House stand somewhat closer together on the tax question grew this week, as the Senate prepared itself to approve several House bills, some with the same rates as the liberals had approved. However, the real fight is expected to come at the time consideration is given House income tax, iron ore tax and money and credits levy measures in the Senate, where threats of drastic cuts are already being made.

Meanwhile, the House sent on several more items in its program, notably taxes on liquor, incomes, and investment companies, and several bills designed to aid tax collections from the mining interests. The income tax, as passed by the House, embodies new features not seen last Session. Most important of these is that local corporations having their entire payrolls and property within the state will be able to make deductions up to 10 per cent of their tax while "foreign" firms will not receive this benefit, or else very little of it.

SCIENTISTS SEEK DATA ON FALLING METEORITE

Worthington — When Ralph Wood found a peculiar green rock on the farm of his brother-in-law, Barm Stopanek, near Bigelow, he started something. In a letter to the editor of the Worthington Globe last week, Frank C. Cross of the Colorado Museum of Natural History sought the assistance of Worthington people in tracing the origin of the stone which has been identified as a type of meteorite heretofore unknown to science. The stone which Wood found excited a good deal of interest when it came into the hands of the museum authorities, and they are eager to learn more of the circumstances surrounding its fall to earth here.

BLACK JEEP GIVES BIRTH TO 10 YOUNG

Granite Falls The black gopher, biological marvel and source of wonder since its capture three weeks ago, further contributed to the amazement of its owners when it presented them with 10 little gophers. Whether or not these squirming mites are destined to start a new race of black gophers remains to be seen. They, as yet, have no hair. The increase in Mrs. Jeep's family took place in the pavilion of the Granite Falls Sales company. All of the new arrivals are doing well and are being given the best of care.

RECOVERS FROM TARANTULA BITE

Mankato Believed to be the first victim of a tarantula spider in this section, Mr. John Oser of Mapleton, who was bitten by the insect, popularly known as the banana spider, last week in a local food store, returned to her home pronounced cured. While the tarantulas are occasionally found here in bananas shipped in, the physician in this case said that Mrs. Oser is the first victim to be treated locally, so far as known. Bitten on a finger as she looked through bananas at the store, Mrs. Oser was immediately rushed to a hospital.

MARSHALLS LEAD IN DIAMONDBALL PLAY THIS WEEK

Games Scheduled on East Side Diamond During Coming Week

With the city men's diamondball league completing its second week of play, the Marshalls are in the lead with a two victories, due in large measure to the excellent pitching of Jorde, who last week allowed one hit when his team blanked Oens 8-0.

In other games played during the past week the Kiewels nosed out the Bridgemans 8-7, the Barzens squeezed out a 5-4 win over the Montgomery Wards; the Marshalls defeated the Wards 4-2, while Tuesday evening the Barzens defeated the Oens 12-2.

Coming games include Oens vs. Bridgemans Friday; Kiewels vs. Wards Monday; Marshall vs. Barzens Tuesday; Wards vs. Bridgemans Wednesday; and Oens vs. Kiewels Thursday. All games are being played on the east side diamond.

HALF MILLION IN ROAD JOBS START ON '37 TAX FUNDS

Elsberg Calls for Bids on 1.1 Miles Paving North of Crookston

One-half million dollars worth of improvements to Minnesota's 11,380-mile system of state trunk highways went forward this week, made possible in part by the additional revenue provided by the gas tax bill, passed by the regular session of the state legislature. Approximately 34 miles of highways are affected.

The improvements will be financed by 1938 allotments of federal aid money which now can be matched by state funds. N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways, announced awards of contracts for $128,868 worth of work, to begin this month, and at the same time called for bids, to be opened July 9, on approximately $360,000 more highway construction.

One of the most important items in the new call for bids is the relocating and paving of Trunk Highway No. 61, carrying traffic between the Twin Cities and Duluth, through White Bear. The new route will swing along the Northern Pacific railroad tracks and through the White Bear business district.

Approximately 14 miles of grading, paving and stabilized base, and three culverts, are involved in the bids to be opened July 9. In addition to the rerouting of T. H. No. 61 in White Bear, T. H. No. 71, between Belgrade and two miles north of Elrosa, in Stearns county, is to be improved for 10.1 miles, 1.1 miles stretch of paving north of Crookston is to be constructed and a culvert in Lesueur county is to be extended.

Present Generation at Crossroads, Dr. Aasgaard Says in Sermon Sunday

Speaking on the Great Commission of Christ to his disciples, Dr. Aasgaard in his sermon Sunday morning at the auditorium, declared that the present generation is at the crossroads today. "Many leaders of modern thought are seeking to carry us back to a materialistic philosophy of life like that of 2000 years ago when Christ commissioned his disciples to go out to christianize the world," he said.

"The modern man has no need of God. There is much denial of the truth. The Word of God is a revelation of the truth and must be received. There is still some hold-over from pious parents and grand parents to bless the present generation.

"But let this spirit of indifference to and denial of the truth continue and the disastrous results will be inevitable. If christianity is to conquer [illegible] 2000 years ago, its champions must take the offensive. We must cease playing at the spiritual matters. Conventions must be translated in to action."

CLINIC EXAMINES 111 HANDICAPED CHILDREN JUNE 19

State Agencies and Public Health Group in Charge at Crookston

A total of 111 crippled children were examined at the clinic for physically handicapped persons held Saturday, June 19, at Crookston, by the division of services for crippled children of the state board of control in cooperation with the Minnesota Public Health association and the division of vocational rehabilitation of the state department of education.

Infants in arms, small boys and girls hopping in on crutches, men and women with a variety of handicaps, crowded the examination rooms from early in the morning until late in the day. There were many severe deformities among the children, but on the whole they were a happy appearing lot, despite their handicaps. In the group were several new cases who were being examined for the first time by the clinic physicians. There were many old cases who had previously received care, many of them at Gillette State Hospital and who came in to be checked up or to see that their progress was satisfactory.

Several important services were available at the clinic. After the history taking and weighing and measuring, each child was examined by the specialist attending the clinic. Crippled children needing special massage and exercises were referred to the physiotherapist employed by the Division of Services for Crippled Children. Those needing hospital care were given application blanks to be filled out by their family physician and local county authorities.

Follow-up nursing service arrangements were made by Miss Barbara Becker, district nurse of the Division of services for crippled children. The Elks club in Thief River Falls assumed responsibility for any x-rays in Pennington county.

MAHNOMEN MAN IS NEW DISTRICT BAR ASSOCIATION HEAD

District and Supreme Court Judges Are Guests at Crookston Meeting

L. A. Wilson of Mahnomen was elected president of the Fourteenth Judicial District Bar association when the annual meeting was held Saturday evening in Crookston with three members of the state supreme court as honor guests.

Other officers named by the Bar association are: J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston, vice president, L. S. Miller of Crookston and W. P. Murphy of Crookston re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively; H. O. Chommie of this city, representative to the board of governors; A. A. Trost of Warren, representative to the Minnesota State Bar association.

About 50 attorneys from the fourteenth district, which includes six counties, were guests at the dinner meeting. Members of the supreme court present included Chief Justice Henry Gallagher, Justice Julius Olson and Charles Loring, all of whom spoke briefly on the program.

District Judges J. E. Montague of Crookston and M. A. Brattland of this city and Former District Judge William Watts of Crookston were also honor guests at the banquet and spoke briefly.

TOWNSEND CLUB WILL MEET SATURDAY NIGHT

F. J. Dudley, president of the local Townsend club, announced today that a meeting of the organization will be held in the court room at the court house Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

State Supreme Court Rules for Red Lake Co. Town in Pauper Action

The Minnesota supreme court Friday handed down a decision in favor of the Town of Equality, Red Lake county, in an action won by Equality township in district court against Star township in Pennington county, and appealed by the latter township to the high court. The case involved the establishment of the place of settlement of a pauper. The court held that the legal settlement of a poor person having been established in a certain municipality, it there remains until a new one is acquired. It further ruled that the state emergency relief administration by temporarily taking over the burden of poor relief did not thereby change the place of settlement of the poor.

TIN CAN DAY ALMOST TOO MUCH FOR COACH

Little Falls. Tin can day with tin cans coming in on wheel barrows, wagons, trailers, rumble seats, and "rafts" proved almost too much for Coach Kenneth Wilson and his crew of busy men. The whole affair proved something of a headache for the Bremer shows publicity man who promised to give a free ride ticket for each set of 25 cans up to 100. Tin cans came in from every direction and with every conceivable conveyance. As the derby came into the home stretch it was estimated that there would be 50,000 tin cans to haul to the dump. A force of five helpers proved helpless in the early hours of the morning and it became necessary to press a staff of nine into service clacking the cans as they poured in. An 11-year old girl led the field, bringing more than 2,800 cans.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION TAX SOON DUE

All Having One or More Workers Called on to Pay by July 31

Nearly 60,000 employers through Minnesota this week received forms for reporting their second quarterly pay rolls under the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Law. Completed forms, together with contributions at the rate of 1.8 per cent of pay rolls, must be returned to the Unemployment Compensation Division, Shubert Building, St. Paul, Minnesota by July 31st to avoid penalty. All employers of one or more individuals are subject to the law.

"The Unemployment Compensation Division has been lenient with first-time reporters," according to Frank T. Starkey, Chairman of the Industrial Commission which is administering the law. "However," he said, "there no longer is any cause for delinquencies. The Unemployment Compensation Law has been well advertised throughout the state and every employer now should know his responsibilities under the law."

"The recent United States Supreme Court decision upholding the law, has removed all legal doubt which may have induced tardiness. Special extensions of reporting deadlines have been granted as appeared necessary, but now penalties are being imposed upon employers delinquent for the first quarter of 1937.

"The fact that many employers did not receive first quarter forms from the Unemployment Compensation Division is no excuse for delinquency. The law specifically placed the responsibility of reporting upon the subject employers."

First quarter 1937 reports and contributions were due in full by April 30th, but extensions brought the deadline to May 31st. Interest at the rate of one per cent per month, as provided by the law, must be added to all delinquent first quarter contributions paid after May 31st, 1937.

Mr. Starkey urged all employers of one or more individuals who do not receive second quarter forms by July 10th to write to the division headquarters immediately for a supply. The division also will furnish copies of the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Law and Industrial Commission rules and regulations concerning the law upon request.

MOTHER HEN STREAMLINES CHICK, 4 WINGS AND LEGS

Morton—Equipped to meet all competition in this modern world, a chick with four legs and wings appeared last week at the Ed. Bowers home, 2½ miles east of Morton, as an example of what Mr. Bowers' chickens are doing to keep abreast of the machine age which places great emphasis on streamlining. The extra appendages were attached to the body of the bird directly behind the normal sets of wings and legs. Thinking of Thanksgiving time it seems that it would pay Mr. Bowers to continue to raise these modern birds for any fowl with four drumsticks and four wings ought to go far, but as long as the new models are coming out with spare parts, it should also be in order to equip chicks with air brakes. Another factor in the mystery of the chick with the double chassis is that it was apparently hatched from a normal appearing egg.

NRS Office Prepares for Harvest Rush on Farms

Anticipating the usual heavy demand for farm workers with the beginning of harvest, E. R. Stanghelle, manager of the National Reemployment office in this city, this week made the following statement:

"During the slack season our office is making a special effort to get in touch with farm workers available when the rush season arrive. Anyone interested in farm work at that time is requested to get in touch with he National Reemployment office as soon as convenient, and also to inform us regarding other persons who might be interested."

"The National Reemployment Service," says Mr. Stanghelle, "is of course, furnished without charge to employers and applicants alike. The Thief River Falls office is operated by the United States Employment Service with the cooperation of the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county."

Let Cars Pass and Avoid Penalties, Patrol Warns

If the other fellow comes up behind you on a highway, toots his horn and starts to pass, don't race him, its expensive. This is the warning of the Minnesota Highway patrol. It might cost you $100 or it might send you to jail for 90 days. That's the maximum penalty provided by the new traffic code. Since the new law becomes effective the patrol has arrested a score of drivers for violating Section 34, which forbids speeding to prevent passing.

An Iowan resented a car passing him near Fairmont. He "stepped on it" and was traveling 55 miles an hour when a highway patrolman caught him. He paid a $10 fine, and $4 costs. A man from Blue Earth paid $12.50 for the same offense. Others about the state have found the violation equally as expensive.

"It's a silly practice," said Chief John P. Arnoldy of the patrol, "and a dangerous one. When one vehicle pulls out into the left lane to pass legally, it is highly dangerous if another vehicle refuses to let it pass for it will probably be difficult to get back into line in case a car approaches in the opposite lane. Patrolmen have been instructed to pick up all offenders."

DRIVE ORDERED TO END HITCH HIKING ON STATE ROADS

State Highway Patrol Will Enforce Provisions of Traffic Code

Orders to end hitch hiking on state highways went out to members of the Highway patrol this week after reports of several accidents had reached the Highway department. "Hitch hiking is a dangerous practice," said N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. "We have had considerable trouble with persons on the highways soliciting rides, endangering their own lives.

"The new traffic code is very plain in its ruling against hitch hiking. It says: 'No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the driver of any private vehicle.' That is plain enough and I have instructed the patrol to arrest violators."

Violation of the code on hitch hiking is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $100, or by imprisonment of not more than 90 days.

The patrol has also been instructed to give special attention to enforcement of the law on dimming of headlights. Glaring headlights are causing accidents in Minnesota almost daily, according to John P. Arnoldy, chief of the patrol. The new traffic code makes it a misdemeanor to fail to dim lights, with the same penalty as for hitch hiking.

The patrol also urged caution when pleasure cars follow trucks too closely as the trucks have power brakes and can stop much more quickly. Several accidents have been caused by pleasure vehicles hitting trucks from the rear, Mr. Arnoldy said.

Two Youths Sentenced on Charges of Larceny

Pleading guilty in district court Monday to the grand larceny charge of having picked a man's pockets during the recent American Legion convention in this city, Lloyd Votava, 18, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the St. Cloud reformatory and was taken there Tuesday. Henry Olson, 19, living southeast of the city, was arrested Wednesday of last week on a petit larceny charge. He pleaded guilty to the theft of a radio from an automobile and was given a twenty-day sentence in the county jail.

State Chairman Urges Importance of Traffic Safety Fund Campaign

Continuation of safety work which has saved lives in Minnesota depends directly on the interest and leadership of members of city and county public safety committees, A. V. Rohweder of Duluth said in a statement today.

Rohweder is chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee and heads the current supporting membership campaign for funds for traffic safety activity.

Each motorist in the state is asked to become a supporting member of the safety committee in his residential area. The fee is 25 cents for two years membership.

"Without the active cooperation and leadership of safety committee members, the drive will fail—and should it fail, work which has saved life and property in Minnesota will cease," Rohweder warned.

"The city and county committees are in direct charge of the drive in their localities. If they will take a deep interest in the drive, it will succeed. During recent years, traffic safety work throughout the state has been through the cooperation of the committees. Their support is needed now more than ever," he said.

Distribution of 500,000 emblems to be given motorists becoming supporting members of public safety committees has been started by the Minnesota Public Safety committee. The emblems, designed to be placed on automobiles, are being sent to local and county safety committees.

MAD MONKEY CHASE NOW LATEST SPORT

Sleepy Eye Monkey business hit a new high here last week "Stan" and "Tiny", two of the three monkeys at the Midget Grocery and Standard Oil station, on main street, escaped and frolicked for an hour on neighboring housetops before they were captured. Family trouble developed inside the cage where the monkeys are on display and when Albie Neumann attempted to remove two of the animals to a smaller cage, they made a successful break for the open, eluding both Albie and the school athletic coach, who happened to be near. "Stan" was soon captured in a nearby garage, but "Tiny" climbed a grape vine and for an hour frolicked on the roof of a house until he was caught hiding in a bush.

BIG AMUSEMENT PROGRAM PLANNED AT MARSHALL FAIR

Annual Event Opens in Warren Next Thursday for Three Days

Old time balloon ascensions, two big afternoons of saddle horse racing together with an elaborate program of 12 big grandstand circus acts and the Merry Whirl Revue of 1937, are some of the many features of the greater Marshall County Fair at Warren, July 1, 2, and 3.

Directors of the association are leaving no stone unturned to make the 1937 fair the greatest event in history and with the splendid crop prospects throughout the Northwest have gone the limit to bring the people of this section the finest in entertainment.

Fair visitors will also share in the distribution of $100 as a cash attendance prize to be awarded on Saturday afternoon, July 3. Coupons will be given with every admission to the grounds and grandstand entitling the holder to have an opportunity to share in the awards.

Wedding bells will ring at the Fair Grounds Thursday night, when a popular young Marshall county couple will be "joined" in Wedlock, with everybody from everywhere as invited guests. This wedding will be one of the most elaborate weddings ever staged in Marshall county. A bevy of beautiful bridesmaids will assist in adding beauty to the event. Who is the fortunate couple? Be sure to come to the fair July 1 and see.

More than 20 years of time have elapsed since the last balloon ascension in Marshall county, so today there are thousands of people in this section who have never seen workmen inflate the huge gas bag and watch the bag make its ascent into the skies. The huge balloon will make an ascent Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Saddle Horse racing program will be conducted Friday and Saturday afternoons. Friday afternoon's race program will feature local pony and running races, with entries limited to Marshall and Northern Polk county horses only. Saturday afternoon's running races will be a free-for-all, with entries coming in from a wide area in the middle west. A shetland pony race will also be run Saturday afternoon for ponies in Marshall and Northern Polk counties.

Reemployment Office Gives Brief Summary of National Activity

Scope of activity of the United States Employment Service is indicated in a report made available recently through the Thief River Falls office, which is affiliated with the national system.

From July 1933, when the National Reemployment Service was organized, up to April 1 this year, the combined offices of the United States Employment Service made 19 million placements, more than 5 million of which were in private employment, 7,750,000 on emergency works projects, and 6,500,000 in prevailing wage jobs on PWA highway, and similar projects. It is also interesting to note, says E. R. Stanghelle, that during this period the Service took 26 million new registrations of persons who were unemployed, or employed but seeking better positions.

It is significant, says Mr Stanghelle, that every one of the forty-eight states has passed legislation creating a state employment service. All of these services will be in operation within the next four months, he said. At the present time state services are operating 147 offices 257 district offices and 160 branch offices.

"The Thief River Falls office," says Mr Stanghelle wants all employers and all job seekers to feel that this is their clearing house for information about jobs and applicants for jobs. There are no fees charged either applicant or employer."

DRIVE ORDERED TO END HITCH HIKING ON STATE ROADS

State Highway Patrol Will Enforce Provisions of Traffic Code

Orders to end hitch hiking on state highways went out to members of the Highway patrol this week after reports of several accidents had reached the Highway department. "Hitch hiking is a dangerous practice," said N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, "We have had considerable trouble with persons on the highways soliciting rides, endangering their own lives.

"The new traffic code is very plain in its ruling against hitch hiking. It says: 'No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the driver of any private vehicle.' That is plain enough and I have instructed the patrol to arrest violators."

Violation of the code on hitch hiking is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $100, or by imprisonment of not more than 90 days.

The patrol has also been instructed to give special attention to enforcement of the law on dimming of headlights. Glaring headlights are causing accidents in Minnesota almost daily, according to John P. Arnoldy, chief of the patrol. The new traffic code makes it a misdemeanor to fail to dim lights, with the same penalty as for hitch hiking.

The patrol also urged caution when pleasure cars follow trucks too closely as the trucks have power brakes and can stop much more quickly. Several accidents have been caused by pleasure vehicles hitting trucks from the rear, Mr. Arnoldy said.

Two Youths Sentenced on Charges of Larceny

Pleading guilty in district court Monday to the grand larceny charge of having picked a man's pockets during the recent American Legion convention in this city, Lloyd Votava, 18, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the St. Cloud reformatory and was taken there Tuesday. Henry Olson, 19, living southeast of the city, was arrested Wednesday of last week on a petit larceny charge. State Chairman Urges Importance of Traffic Safety Fund Campaign

Continuation of safety work which has saved lives in Minnesota depends directly on the interest and leadership of members of city and county public safety committees, A. V. Rohweder of Duluth said in a statement today.

Rohweder is chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee and heads the current supporting membership campaign for funds for traffic safety activity.

Each motorist in the state is asked to become a supporting member of the safety committee in his residential area. The fee is 25 cents for two years membership.

"Without the active cooperation and leadership of safety committee members, the drive will fail—and should it fail, work which has saved life and property in Minnesota will cease," Rohweder warned.

"The city and county committees are in direct charge of the drive in their localities. If they will take a deep interest in the drive, it will succeed. During recent years, traffic safety work throughout the state has been through the cooperation of the committees. Their support is needed now more than ever," he said.

Distribution of 500,000 emblems to be given motorists becoming supporting members of public safety committees has been started by the Minnesota Public Safety committee. The emblems, designed to be placed on automobiles, are being sent to local and county safety committees.

MAD MONKEY CHASE NOW LATEST SPORT

Sleepy Eye—Monkey business hit a new high here last week "Stan" and "Tiny", two of the three monkeys at the Mulgot Grocery and Standard Oil station, on main street, escaped and frolicked for an hour on neighboring housetops before they were captured. Family trouble developed inside the cage where the monkeys are on display and when Albie Neumann attempted to remove two of the animals to a smaller cage, they made a successful break for the open, eluding both Albie and the school athletic coach, who happened to be near. "Stan" was soon captured in a nearby garage, but "Tiny" climbed a grape vine and for an hour frolicked on the roof of a house until he was caught hiding in a bush.

BIG AMUSEMENT PROGRAM PLANNED AT MARSHALL FAIR

Annual Event Opens in Warren Next Thursday for Three Days

Old time balloon ascensions, two big afternoons of saddle horse racing together with an elaborate program of 12 big grandstand circus acts and the Merry Whirl Revue of 1937, are some of the many features of the greater Marshall County Fair at Warren, July 1, 2 and 3.

Directors of the association are leaving no stone unturned to make the 1937 fair the greatest event in history and with the splendid crop prospects throughout the Northwest have gone the limit to bring the people of this section the finest in entertainment.

Fair visitors will also share in the distribution of $100 as a cash attendance prize to be awarded on Saturday afternoon, July 3. Coupons will be given with every admission to the grounds and grandstand entitling the holder to have an opportunity to share in the awards.

Wedding bells will ring at the Fair Grounds Thursday night, when a popular young Marshall county couple will be joined in wedlock with everybody from everywhere as invited guests. This wedding will be one of the most elaborate weddings ever staged in Marshall county. A bevy of beautiful bridesmaids will assist in adding beauty to the event. Who is the fortunate couple? Be sure to come to the fair July 1 and see.

More than 20 years of time have elapsed since the last balloon ascension in Marshall county, so today there are thousands of people in this section who have never seen workmen inflate the huge gas bag and watch the bag make its ascent into the skies. The huge balloon will make an ascent Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Saddle Horse racing program will be conducted Friday and Saturday afternoons. Friday afternoon's race program will feature local pony and running races, with entries limited to Marshall and Northern Polk county horses only. Saturday afternoon's running races will be a free-for-all, with entries coming in from a wide area in the middle west. A shetland pony race will also be run Saturday afternoon for ponies in Marshall and Northern Polk counties.

Reemployment Office Gives Brief Summary of National Activity

Scope of activity of the United States Employment Service is indicated in a report made available recently through the Thief River Falls office, which is affiliated with the national system.

From July 1933, when the National Reemployment Service was organized, up to April 1 this year, the combined offices of the United States Employment Service made 10 million placements, more than 5 million of which were in private employment, 7,750,000 on emergency works projects, and 6,500,000 in prevailing wage jobs on PWA highway, and similar projects. It is also interesting to note, says E. R. Stanghelle, that during this period the Service took 26 million new registrations of persons who were unemployed, or employed but seeking better positions.

It is significant, says Mr. Stanghelle, that every one of the forty-eight states has passed legislation creating a state employment service. All of these services will be in operation within the next four months, he said. At the present time state services are operating 117 offices, 257 district offices and 100 branch offices.

"The Thief River Falls office," says Mr. Stanghelle wants all employers and all job seekers to feel that this is their clearing house for information about jobs and applicants for jobs. There are no fees charged either applicant or employer."

Defective wiring is blamed as the cause and it is only due to the hard work of volunteers that the fixtures and contents of the building were saved. PLANS NEARING READINESS FOR '37 COUNTY FAIR

Annual Pennington County Exposition Set for August 10-13

ERNIE YOUNG WILL PRESENT BIG REVUE

Premium Lists to be Ready for Distribution Next Week

The announcement by Secretary Robert J. Lund that premium lists will be ready for distribution late next week serves as a reminder to residents of this section that the annual Pennington county fair is just around the corner, the dates set for this year's exposition being Tuesday to Friday, August 10-13.

In giving out a list of some of the attractions that will be offered, Mr. Lund said that the time-honored slogan "Bigger and better than ever" will be fully lived up to this year. Featuring the grandstand performance will be a new revue by the popular producer Ernie Young, the cast comprising approximately 40 persons, including an ensemble of 20 dancing girls. In addition will be presented six outstanding vaudeville acts.

Carnival attractions will be supplied by the Fairly-Martone Shows, which have added many new features since their appearance at the fair here last year.

Contributions from this community to the program will include the appearance of the local band, auxiliary drum corps and the Lincoln high school tumbling team under the direction of B. W. Gabrielson, whose performers evoked much favorable comment during the past school year.

Other events scheduled for this year include horse racing each day with prize money set up in the aggregate amount of $1,000, this department being under the direction of Harry R. Lund. Other sports events will consist of a half-mile bicycle race for boys from 12 to 15 years old, and a quarter-mile race for girls of the same age.

In view of the unusually favorably growing conditions this year, and with the fair dates two weeks later than last year, an exceptionally fine display of products of the farm and garden is in prospect for the fair this year. Premiums to be awarded in all departments will aggregate well over $1,500, Mr. Lund said.

The distribution by local merchants of free prize tickets in connection with the fair is now well under way, he added.

Plans for checking of performance in the soil conservation program are being made at this time to start work in the field sometime during July, according to Hans Anton, president of the Pennington County Agricultural Conservation association. Farmers who plan to plow old soil conserving acreage before it is checked by the farm reporter should have such fields inspected by their committeeman before the field is plowed. By doing this errors will be less common in the checking of performance Mr. Anton states. All committeemen have a supply of forms to be filled out which will be given the farm reporter before he starts the checking on each farm.

HOUSE, SENATE DEADLOCK ON TAX MEASURES

Two Houses Hold Each Other Responsible for Impasse

DISAGREE ON IRON MINING TAX ISSUE

Hope for Early Adjournment of Special Session Is Fading

The effort to compromise legislative differences on important tax increase measures was still at an impasse Tuesday night, with both Farmer-Labor administration and conservative senate leaders ready to tackle the problem but awaiting overtures from the other side.

As matters stood, each side blamed the other for the situation that has arisen at a time when customarily strenuous efforts would be made to overcome differences.

The senate asserted that the Farmer-Labor house leadership was responsible for the failure to even hold meetings. The house chiefs tossed the responsibility right back at the senate. Senator F. J. Miller of Little Falls, chairman of the senate income tax conference group, said his committee was ready any time to meet with the house. Representative Edward Hagen of Milan, chairman of the house group, said the same thing. Still, no effort was made to hold a meeting on the income tax differences.

Leaders of both groups caucused, the Farmer-Laborites of both houses meeting with Governor Benson, and the senate majority group by itself.

Senator Charles N. Orr of St. Paul, senate majority leader, declared following the caucus that the senate has performed all of the tasks necessary to get final action except on the $17,000,000 relief and the two tax-raising bills just passed by the house—corporate excess and the levy on mined ore. Both of these will be passed in the senate promptly, he said.

"It is apparent to the senate," he said, "that the house is waiting for someone outside the legislature to tell it what to do. The thing for the house to do is to get down to brass tacks and thresh these problems out. There is no need of spending the taxpayers' money on a prolonged session unless it is being done for political effect."

Speaker Harold Barker of Elbow Lake said that the Farmer-Labor viewpoint is founded on the theory that the proposed tax on mined ore ranging from nine to 15 cents per ton on open pit ore and from .5 of one per cent to 15 cents on underground ore, will solve the problem.

Agreement by the senate on this tax, he said, will mean agreement by the house to the senate's demand for a flat six per cent corporation tax in the income tax bill instead of the 10 per cent maximum asked by the house. Passage of the ore tax bill, he said, would mean "several other important concessions by the house," that would wind up the session quickly.

Building Activities in City Are Thriving

Four Business Blocks and Many Houses Now Under Construction

A drive thru the downtown and residential districts of the city reveals that there has been a thorough-going revival of the construction industry, at least so far as Thief River Falls is concerned. That this community is maintaining its forward march is revealed by the fact that from 15 to 20 new residences are now in various stages of construction, while work is under way on four substantial business blocks in the expanding downtown section.

The latest project, for which excavation work was started this week, is the new welding shop to be erected on LaBree av. at Fourth st. by Phil Hawkins, proprietor of the Electric Welding and Machine Shop. The structure, to cost approximately $10,000, will be 50 by 100 feet in dimensions with an apartment upstairs and of brick and tile construction. Also being excavated this week is the basement for the store building being erected on East Third st. by Mrs. Halvor Loken.

Excavation work was completed last week for the large and thoroly modern new theatre being erected on LaBree av. by the Bachr interests, owners of the Avalon theatre. Pouring of concrete for the foundation and basement walls is now nearing completion.

The large and substantial addition being erected by A. M. Magnuson to his Independenta Grocery store on East Third st. is now getting into the final phases of construction, and represents a fine improvement to that district, involving an investment of approximately $10,000.

Don McKenzie, Crookston Publisher, Attains Golf Hall of Fame on Sunday

Playing in the tri-city tournament on the local course Sunday, Don McKenzie, publisher of the Crookston Times, achieved immortality in the rarefied atmosphere of golfdom by making a duly attested hole in one. Teeing off on the 165-yard fourth hole, Mr. McKenzie's usual aplomb was upset when he discovered that his ball had come to earth near the cup and had then rolled gently into that repository. A closeup witness of the feat was Dr. Thomas Spence of Crookston, who was about to tee off on the adjoining fifth hole, and who could not believe his eyes until he walked over to the cup. Playing in competition with Mr. McKenzie at the time were Ronald G. Riggs of this city and Ed. Haugstad of Erskine. The resulting excitement attracted players from all parts of the course, and they insisted on permitting Mr. McKenzie to treat them to refreshments. It was the first hole in one to be made on the local course since it was reconstructed.

LOCAL BALL TEAM LOSES 2 LEAGUE GAMES, TIES ONE

Poor Support Loses Game to Warren in 9th Inning Wednesday

The Thief River Falls entry in the Red River Valley baseball league had poor luck in its games during the past week, losing two and tieing one.

Playing on the fair grounds diamond last Thursday evening, Oslo scored three runs in the last inning to end the game in a 5-5 tie. Benson and Scholt were the battery for the locals, while Gooselaw and Michalski for Oslo. A feature of the game was a home run by Scholt with a man on base.

Overpowering three Thief River Falls pitchers Sunday, the Oslo team went on a batting spree and piled up a total of 16 hits, the game ending 16 to 5 in their favor. The locals accounted for seven hits and made four errors.

With good pitching by Sahl, who allowed only five hits, but with poor support from his teammates, Warren Wednesday evening vanquished the locals at the fair grounds after scoring twice in the ninth inning, the final tally being 5 to 4. Numerous errors marred the play of the local team. Stroble pitched for Warren.

Playing Plummer last Wednesday evening the locals were victorious by a decisive 7 to 2 score, while at Roseau Friday evening Thief River Falls took the short end of an 8-7 score. Scholt was on the mound for the locals, with George Lee behind the bat.

No games are scheduled in the Red River Valley league for this week end, the local team having scheduled games at Bemidji Sunday and Monday in connection with a Fourth of July celebration to be staged there.

INDEPENDANCE DAY

One of the reasons why the United States is an independent country today instead of a colony of the British Empire is because the king of England had taken over the control of the courts of justice. In their Declaration of Independence the colonists stated that they could no longer tolerate English rule because the king had "made judges depend upon his will alone."

And that no doubt is one of the reasons too, why the founders of our government took all possible precautions to establish an independent judiciary. They knew from experience that their liberties could be safeguarded only by definite limitations on the authority of their public officials. They provided such safeguards by adopting a system of checks and balances in the distribution of power. They provided for a government of laws, decreed the Constitution which they adopted to be the supreme law, and retained for the people themselves the sole right to amend that Constitution.

Now, after more than a hundred and fifty years of reasonably successful experience with that system of checks and balances which the founders established, we are told that it is an antiquated system, a remnant of a horse and buggy era that should be discarded and replaced by a system that will enable the government to operate with greater dispatch. We are informed that submitting constitutional amendments to the people is entirely too slow a procedure. It will be so much more simple to make necessary changes in the Constitution merely by replacing the Justices of the Supreme Court with a group of yes-men.

This proposal by the President is so brazen an attempt to usurp power that it fortunately is meeting with opposition even among the friends and followers of the President himself. Observers seem to agree now that there is slight chance of the administration being able to carry out its plan.

Perhaps it is well that the institutions of government which secure for us our liberties are occasionally threatened. It is only under such conditions that we appreciate the need for safeguards against autocratic power if our liberties are to be preserved. In recent years popular government has lost much ground in the world. We have seen several typical examples of the methods employed by popular leaders to establish themselves in absolute power. It is significant that the dictators who rule with an iron hand today received their power by the consent of the governed as necessary emergency concessions. Once that power is secured, it is maintained by ruthless destruction of all opposition. What has happened in other countries could also happen in ours. We are fortunate, in a world of despots, that Independence Day can still be celebrated by the people of our country.

EVADING THE LAWS
(Fergus Falls Journal)

President Roosevelt is furiously indignant because certain rich men have been taking advantage of loopholes which he and his congress have left in the tax laws, and thus evading their full share of taxation. Instead of closing these loopholes which have been in existence for the past four years, he and his congressmen are holding public hearings at which men like Actor Laughton and Rootmaker Fehlck are held up to public scorn, and the public is thereby "educated", as he says.

While law evasion is under discussion, it might do no harm to look into another little matter that is also attracting some public attention. Some time ago, a Democratic Hand book, setting forth the accomplishments of Mr. Roosevelt and his congress, was issued by the Democratic national committee, and the faithful were invited to buy copies at $2.50 apiece. After the faithful had been fairly well canvassed, W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the Democratic national committee and uncle of President Roosevelt, brought the president thousands of blank sheets of paper on which Mr. Roosevelt signed his name. These sheets of paper were pasted in the $2.50 book, and a letter was sent to corporations that are either in deadly fear of the government, or are selling extensively to it, inviting them to buy these autographed copies of the campaign book at $250 each.

The corrupt practices law says that no corporation shall contribute to a campaign fund, but the circular letter from the Democratic National committee called attention to the fact that there is no law that prevents a corporation from buying a book, especially a book with the president's signature. It also suggested that, if the corporations did not care for a number of these books, they could pay for them and leave them with the committee to be disposed of as it saw fit.

In response to this polite invitation, Bethlehem Steel, which supplies the government with a lot of steel for its battleships, bought 20 copies; Automatic Voting machine corporation bought twelve; the California Portland cement company bought 8 and a long list of other corporations made purchases.

The idea of evading laws is shocking to the president's moral sense, when someone other than the president and his committee are in the evading business.

I have no choice between Communism and Fascism. They are both enemies of every vital liberty and every right and privilege of the average man or woman. Both reduce the average citizen to a state of political and economic serfdom. Both succeed in breeding and fostering discontent in all the different nations in the world . . . The world is torn and tortured with religious and race persecutions, with a species of brutality, almost without precedent. The people are being taxed in every land almost beyond endurance for greater and costlier weapons of destruction. These things are in a marked degree the fruits of the systems which are built upon force and at enmity with human liberty. Senator Wm. E. Borah.

ITASCA PAGEANT SEASON TO OPEN SUNDAY, JULY 4TH

Cast of Over 100 Indians to Appear in First Performance

Recounting the colorful and exciting legends of the days when Minnesota was an Indian paradise, the annual state park's pageant, boasting a cast of more than 100 Sioux and Chippewa Indians, will get under way with a performance at Itasca State Park on Sunday, July 4th, in the natural amphitheatre on slopes surrounding the actual source of the Mississippi River. The program will start at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Sponsored jointly by the Northwestern Minnesota Historical Association and the state department of conservation, the pageant will be presented July 18th, August 1st and 15th, at Itasca, with a two-day showing slated July 10 and 11th in Sanden State Park near Marshall, headwaters of the Red River.

As fantastic and mystifying to the present generation as they were unreal to the first Americans, the Indian legends still stand as picturesque background for nearly every locality in Minnesota. The story of the creation of Lake Itasca, source of the Father of Waters, is that chosen for presentation in this year's spectacles, according to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searls, who prepared the script and in cooperation with Earl A. Baker, president of the Historical Society, will actively manage the showings.

It's a story of a romance between the Chippewa maid "Itasca" and her lover "White Deer" staged in a true-to-life Indian village for which a score of typical birch bark tepees will be erected. Bearing a more modern flavor as it progresses, the story tells of the kidnapping of the maid by Chabibo, ruler of the underworld, who besets the serene village with his horde of wood spirits. So unhappy were the villagers that their tears plus those welling up from the eyes of Itasca in the underworld, that the lake which has ever since borne her name was formed, the legend has it.

The coming of the Jesuits and Explorers, first white men to [illegible], will be presented in a tableau preceding the pioneer episode wherein will be depicted the settlement of the land by pioneers, the coming of the voyageurs and fur traders to tap the rich resources of game, fish and fur. Authentic costumes typifying the dresses of the various periods will be worn by the cast of more than 100 which will participate in the pageants. Records of the Minnesota Historical Society were consulted to insure [illegible] as well as [illegible] in unfolding the story.

WEDDING LICENSES HELPS OBTAIN FISHING LICENSE

Bemidji: One license led to another when a beaming young couple came into a local hardware store to ask for a fishing license. C. W. Richards got out the licenses and prepared to make one out for the applicants. But they had nothing to identify them—nothing, at least, which would satisfy the law which [illegible] that persons applying for fishing licenses must have satisfactory written identification. Mr. Richards wanted to give them the license. "But," he explained. The young woman flushed prettily and said, "Wouldn't our marriage certificate do? It's right in the traveling bag." Leonard Backala of St. Paul flushed too and got the certificate all in order and very new. The hardware man handed them the fishing licenses, wished them luck and sent them on their way.

Filling Station Men Support Safety Drive

The Minnesota Association of Petroleum Retailers, with thousands of filling station proprietor members throughout the state, threw its support today behind the movement to expand traffic safety work.

M. A. Clark of Minneapolis, president of the association, urged association members to cooperate with safety leaders in the drive for funds to continue Minnesota's outstanding traffic safety activity.

Under plans outlined for the drive, each motorist is being asked to become a supporting member of a public safety committee through payment of a membership fee of 25 cents for two years.

"The association is solidly behind this movement," Clark said. "If all filling station proprietors will cooperate, the campaign will be a success."

The drive in the various communities and counties is in charge of public safety committees. Directing the statewide campaign is A. V. Rohweder of Duluth, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee.

Forest Fires

Browsing through old newspaper files the writer encountered an interesting article on early forest fires in the Thief River Falls Press of Oct. 2, 1908. The article follows:

"The terrible work of the flames which have burned over and destroyed hundreds of thousands of acres of timber and property to the value of millions in the Lake States in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin and which are still raging, making thousands of families homeless at this, the opening of the winter season, and while no lives are reported to have been lost, many have escaped miraculously, whole towns have been destroyed and many others have had narrow escapes, recalls to memory other great forest fires which have attained historic importance (the construction seems to be a bit ambiguous).

"One of the earliest of these was the great Maramichi fire of 1825. It began its greatest destruction about one o'clock in the afternoon of October 7 of that year at a place about 60 miles above the town of Newcastle on the Maramichi river in New Brunswick. Before 10 o'clock at night it was 20 miles below Newcastle. In nine hours it had destroyed a belt of forest 80 miles long and 25 miles wide. Over more than two and one-half million acres almost every living thing was killed. Even the fish were afterward found dead in heaps on the river banks. Five hundred and 90 buildings were burned and a number of towns, including Newcastle, Chatham and Douglastown, were destroyed. One hundred and 60 persons perished and nearly 1,000 head of stock. The loss from the Maramichi fire is estimated at $3,000,000, not including the value of human lives.

"In the majority of such forest fires as this the destruction of the timber is a more serious loss, by far, than that of the cattle and buildings, for it carries with it the impoverishment of a whole region for tens or even hundreds of years afterward. The loss of the stumpage value of the timber at the time of the fire is but a small part of the damage to the neighborhood. The wages that would have been earned in lumbering, added to the value of the produce that would have been devoted to roads and other public improvements, furnish a much truer measure of how much, sooner or later, it costs a region when its forests are destroyed by fire.

"The Peshtigo fire of October, 1871, was still more severe than the Maramichi. It covered an area of more than 2,000 square miles in Wisconsin and involved a loss, in timber and other property of many millions of dollars. Between 1,200 and 1,500 persons perished, including nearly half the population of Peshtigo, at that time a town of 2,000 inhabitants. About the same time a strip 40 by 180 miles was burned over in Michigan. Several hundred persons perished. Again in 1881 Michigan was devastated. The property [illegible] amounted to $2,300,000 and 138 persons lost their lives.

"The most destructive forest fire of recent years was that which started near Hinckley in Minnesota in September, 1894. While the area burned over was less than in the other great fires the loss of life and property was tremendous. Hinckley and six other towns were destroyed, about 500 lives were lost, more than 2,000 persons were left destitute and the estimated property loss was $25,000,000. Had it not been for heroic conduct on the part of engineers and other railroad men the death list would have run much higher.

"This fire was all the more deplorable because it was wholly unnecessary. For many days before the high wind came and drove it into uncontrollable fury it was burning slowly close to the town of Hinckley and could have been put out without great difficulty but the opportune moment was neglected."

About 10 years ago the writer visited the Peshtigo country and heard many tales about the great fire there, especially in the town of Peshtigo. It is true that the fire crippled that community and that the effects of the disaster still are felt. Not far away are virgin tracts of timber never cut and owned by great lumbering firms. The contrast is striking.

Since the Hinckley fire there have been serious ones in northern Minnesota. We recall one summer and fall when Governor Eberhart was in office. If we are not mistaken he visited the stricken area and directed the work of relief. Later other fires swept over the same general region. But the logging off of much of the northern part of the state has eliminated most of the danger from forest fires, although today greater care is exercised than ever before to prevent them. The main reason is that the growing timber must be preserved and other reasons include the menace to property and life even on a smaller scale that cannot be tolerated today as well as desire to preserve the state scenic beauties and protect tourists and game.

Those of us who travel in the northern part of the state see the high towers from which forest rangers sweep the surrounding area with glasses to detect signs of smoke. We were surprised on talking with several of them to learn that many small fires start and are checked without publicity. Often five or six or more fires will be seen in a single day and promptly ended by systematic work which includes telephone or radio communication.

Leaving of campfires still burning by careless tourists or dropping lighted cigarettes into the tinder-like leaves and underbrush are often causes of fires today in the woods. Considerable damage would be done right here in this locality by such carelessness. But the officials charged with preventing or putting out fires have proved effective to the extent that fewer fires are started. The fact that carelessness in this respect renders the one responsible liable to legal punishment also is a deterrent.

FISH POLE AND REEL RECOVERED FROM LAKE

Ronald Walter Kimball of Grand Forks who lost his fishing equipment in what might have been a serious accident on Lake Bemidji still has fishing equipment, although the vintage is uncertain. Mr. Kimball felt a strong pull on his line while fishing and when he reeled in his line he found it was connected to another line. Then came into view a fishing rod which apparently had been reposing on the bottom of Lake Bemidji for an indefinite period. Attached to the split bamboo pole was an old type reel which was found to be in good working order and a spinner. With his own equipment at the bottom of the lake as the result of the overturning of his boat a few days later, Mr. Kimball now prizes his find more highly than he did when he first found it.

OLDEST RESIDENT IS AT STORE EVERY DAY

Northfield — Other communities may think they have the oldest [illegible] will have to be reckoned with when the matter is finally determined. This became more certain last week when William Ebel, oldest local merchant, noted his sixty-first anniversary in business in the same location. At nearly eighty-two Mr. Ebel still observes a daily schedule of work which begins at 7:00 o'clock in the morning and closes at 6:00 o'clock in the evening and on his anniversary took occasion to deny that he has any intentions of retiring. It was June 16, 1877 that he opened the doors of his general store as proprietor and sole clerk, his father having been in business here before him. He is today the dean of Northfield's businessmen, a respected citizen who has served his community as a member of the county board for 12 years, its chairman for eight, and his city as a member of the council for 12 years, and as an active businessman for a longer period than any other person in its history.

OPINION FAVORS TAX-CUT POLICY, SAYS STATE UNIT

Taxpayers Group Pleads for Cooperation Among Legislators

"Farmers and townspeople as well as rural public officials still regard it as necessary to cut government costs in order to reduce taxes. This sentiment is revealed in a symposium on Minnesota taxes just taken by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Recent increases in county taxes, which have boosted farm levies, are being attributed by rural officials to new demands for "match funds" with higher units, and to other tax demands laid down in mandatory laws over which these officials have no local control. This is the majority concensus of opinion as revealed in the symposium.

Many county officials state that "new laws force them to spend more local money", with relief assistance as a major factor in county tax rises. Total rises in county levies jumped from $24,944,866 last year, to $28,116,200 for the present year, with an increase of $3,171,334.

The symposium includes opinions expressed by county and local officials officers and members of county taxpayers associations.

Commenting on the results, James P. McDonnell, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, pointed out that "there is a growing feeling of apprehension among farmers and rural people because of expected tax rises this year".

"At a time when farmers are just commencing to get on their feet, and to clean up their back taxes and other accumulated debts and obligations, they find a large part of their incomes being diverted to higher taxes", McDonnell stated.

"There is a great deal of apprehension, too, because of the failure of the state legislature to get together on a tax bill. Rural people are fearful that larger appropriations portend still higher taxes. Fair-minded citizens trust that the tax problem will be met with tolerance in the special session. All that the public asks is a solution fair and just to every one. There is an age-old tradition in American law, and in human relations that all laws shall be reasonable. Legislators will serve their constituents best when they, too, are reasonable in their decisions on public questions."

Albert Lea. A most distressing accident occurred near the Harry Partridge farm home northwest of Hartland when Palmer Irving, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Solberg, ran into the fast revolving propeller of an airplane, almost severing his head, after having gone up in the plane. After the ride young Palmer jumped from the plane as it landed and all excited, he started to run to his father. In so doing, he ran into the propeller. END OF SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE TERM IN SIGHT

House and Senate Conferees Reach Agreement on Income Tax

ESTIMATE YIELD AT EIGHT TO 10 MILLION

Agree On Different Method of Allowing Personal Exemptions

House and senate conferees on the big income tax bill reached a final agreement late Friday after approximately 26 hours of conferences, making windup of the special session of the legislature by Saturday fairly certain.

Conferees had agreed Friday morning on all but two points of difference in the bill, and they settled those at a four-hour session Friday afternoon.

They agreed on an allocation of $10 per pupil to school districts from income tax revenue on the basis of the number of children in the district from 6 to 16 years, inclusive, with a provision that 16-year-olds must be in attendance at school to be counted. The house bill asked the allocation on 6 to 16 years, while the senate based it on average daily attendance from 5 to 21 years.

The other point in dispute, that of how to allocate income of corporations doing business in several states, was settled by adopting the present method, based on the percentage of sales in Minnesota, with a clarification of the present law giving the state tax commission authority to use another method if the sales factor alone does not reflect profits correctly.

The senate yielded to the house on a provision to allow corporations a deduction of up to one-tenth of their tax for property and payrolls within Minnesota.

Estimates as to yield of the bill as agreed upon vary from $8,500,000 to $10,500,000 a year.

Rates in the bill, agreed on early Friday, are a flat seven per cent on corporation incomes in 1937 and 1938, and six per cent thereafter, as compared to the present graduated one to five per cent rate applying to both corporation and individual incomes.

Rates on individual incomes will be:

On first $1,000—1 per cent.
On second $1,000—2 per cent.
On third $1,000—3 per cent.
On fourth $1,000—4 per cent.
On fifth $1,000—5 per cent.
On sixth and seventh thousands—6 per cent.
On eighth and ninth thousands—7 per cent.
From $9,000 to $12,000—8 per cent.
From $12,500 to $20,000—9 per cent.
Over $20,000—10 per cent.

Mercury Mounts Above 90 Degrees This Week; Grain Fields Need Rain

With temperatures rising above the 90-degree mark locally Monday and Tuesday, and with no general rains of consequence since the first week in June, crops in this section are showing the effects of the prolonged dry spell. HOSPITALS REPORT NO ACCIDENT CASES

Newfolden Man Hurt in Collision West of City July Fourth

The Thief River Falls community enjoyed a thoroly safe and sane Fourth of July observance, the city presenting a deserted appearance as the result of an exodus of citizens taking advantage of the double holiday and ideal weather conditions.

Many went to lake resorts, the Bemidji and Detroit Lakes localities being the most popular objectives, while large gatherings assembled for Fourth of July celebrations in Crookston, Plummer, Oklee and Gatzke.

Much less than the usual disturbance of recent years was created by the use of firecrackers locally, and there were no serious accidents over the week-end that called for hospital treatment. Traffic mishaps also were few, the most serious being a collision the evening of the Fourth on Highway 1 two miles west of the city when a car driven by Henry Jarshaw of Newfolden ran into the rear of the John Molskness car parked at the side of the highway. Mr. Jarshaw sustained cuts on his face when he went thru the windshield, while the occupants of the Molskness car escaped with a shaking up.

Press dispatches reported that the holiday week-end took a toll of twenty lives thru traffic accidents, drownings and heat in the Northwest. Eleven were killed in accidents, including five in a train-automobile smashup at Paynesville; eight were drowned while seeking relief from the heat; and one death from heat prostration was reported.

A survey of the nation revealed that 495 persons died in the course of the two-day celebration, a record unequaled in the last eight years. A total of 289 auto-accident deaths were reported, 81 more than were killed in the corresponding period a year ago.

Explorer Tells How He Gave Name to Lake Itasca

How did the name "Itasca" originate as applied to the lake from which the infant Mississippi flows to begin its long journey to the Gulf of Mexico? Many answers to this puzzling question have been suggested. Some writers asserted that Itasca was the name of an Indian maiden whose tears, according to a legend, formed the lake. Others said that the name came from a Chippewa word meaning a fount.

Lake Itasca was discovered and named in 1832 by Henry R. Schoolcraft. Forty years later a member of his party, the Rev. William T. Boutwell, a missionary, revealed that the explorer had coined the name from two Latin words, "veritas" and "caput," meaning "truth" and "source." Boutwell supplied the words and Schoolcraft took the last two syllables of one and the first of the other to form the new name.

Contemporary evidence that Lake Itasca received its name in this way now has been found. In the June issue of "Minnesota History," the quarterly magazine published by the Minnesota Historical society, appears a letter written by Schoolcraft himself less than two weeks after he discovered the lake. In it he tells of his journey to "Itasca lake "from a derivation of the expression 'veritas caput') which is the true source of this celebrated stream, the Mississippi. The letter was discovered by Dr. William J. Petersen of the State Historical society of Iowa, who supplies a brief introduction.

HOLSTEIN BULL JUMPS FROM TRUCK, LEADS MERRY CHASE

New Ulm. A Holstein bull, weighing almost a ton, resented being "lead" to slaughter", and while preparations were being made here to unload the bulky animal before the rope that tied him to the livestock truck, jumped from the cattle rack, and sprinted lively away. Heading north, through the alley, Mr. Bull got into a garden and stood defiant, pawing up an onion patch. Eluding his pursuers, the burly animal cavorted along the alley, taking a notion to inspect the hatchery poultry yard. The woven wire fence proved no insurmountable obstacle—the bull went through it like "greased lightning." The chickens unaccustomed to such a big, bold intruder, fluttered in all directions and escaped from the enclosure, through the aperture in the fence where the bull had entered. By the time the bull retraced his steps, the bull became quite tame from sheer exhaustion.

"THE PUNISHMENT FITS THE CRIME"

"My money went for whisky. Not for food".

A placard with this "slogan" will adorn the back of any man in Clifton Forge, Virginia, who is caught using relief money to get drunk. The dictum was issued by Mayor F. H. Wheeler, who is also police court judge and city relief administrator, following his discovery that his police docket in one morning showed four relief workers arrested on charges of drunkenness.

LIQUOR SOLD TO INFIRMARY PATIENTS

Warning that selling liquor to infirmary patients will result in revocation of liquor licenses has been given to seven tavern owners of Chicago by President C. F. Smith of the Cook County liquor board, following discovery that intoxicants are being smuggled to inmates by tavern owners in the vicinity of the institution. On Monday mornings, according to the infirmary superintendent, from three to fifteen men are found drunk, "and we don't get them all," he added. Infirmary attendants have destroyed at least a thousand bottles taken from the men. A marked increase in the number of intoxicated men was noted by the officials when the inmates first began to receive old-age pension checks, and the drinking expeditions often result in death from alcoholism and exposure.

Doctors Issue Health Hints for Vacationists During Summer Months

Camp-wise tourists and vacationists are not always health-wise. Minnesota doctors accordingly issue some simple rules for vacationists, today, that should eliminate the rare but unhappy disasters of illness or accident that always mar somebody's precious two weeks away from the office, the kitchen or the job. The warnings are included in a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

1. Be sure to drink only water and milk that you know to be safe and good. Typhoid still lurks in unexpected places and every year sees a certain number of typhoid cases contracted by vacationists. If you know you are going to be far from the safeguards of community sanitation, be vaccinated against the disease before you go. Otherwise, boil your water and milk if you cannot vouch for its purity.

2. Get a reliable first aid manual, simple first aid supplies such as sterile bandages and iodine, and learn how and when to use them. Avoid unpleasant dangerous infections, particularly blisters on your heels, that may lead to serious trouble later.

3. Avoid prolonged exposure to the sun if you are not used to it; but if you foolishly acquire a deep sunburn, treat it carefully as you would any burn and avoid the unpleasant consequences of illness and infection. The better part of acquiring a nice sun tan to show the folks back at the office is a system of gradual exposure to the sun. The same applies to strenuous exercise, particularly for those whose ordinary pursuits are sedentary. A violently overtaxed heart is not conducive either to a good rest or a safe return home.

4. Never go swimming all alone, especially if you are not an expert swimmer; and never dive off into unexplored waters where sand bars, rocks or old piles may be waiting to meet you. Swimming is splendid vacation exercise for nearly everybody except sufferers from chronic respiratory infections or sinus trouble. For these, injudicious swimming and diving may result in a serious aggravation of their trouble.

5. Look out for insects, particularly wood ticks, which should be removed promptly before they have a chance to burrow and, perhaps, present you with tularemia, a disease of small wild animals and some wild birds. An occasional case is reported each year among vacationists.

Collectivism

Collectivism is a theory of economic and social organization in which all productive capital would belong to the community, and the share of each individual would be determined by the value or social utility of his contribution to the social income. Collectivism is practically synonymous with the generally accepted concept of socialism.

New Horticulturist Is at Northwest School

The new horticulturist, Professor A. C. Vogele, has arrived to take up his work at the Northwest school and station, Crookston. Professor Vogele is filling the vacancy created by the advancement of former horticulturist T. M. McCall to the superintendency of the school and station on April 1st of this year. Superintendent McCall supervised the in addition to his other duties until the arrival of Professor Vogele.

Professor Vogele comes to Crookston from the State Agricultural college, University Farm, St. Paul, where during the past year he was acting head of the department of plant physiology during the leave of Professor E. B. Harvey who returned July 1st.

Professor Vogele received his bachelor of science degree in horticulture at the University of Illinois in 1918, his master of science degree at Illinois in 1920, and the doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Minnesota in December, 1925.

The Term Tree Claim

The tree claim term applies to an old law concerning homesteaders in the Northwest. They were allowed to file a claim on 160 acres and if they would plant 20 acres of trees they could double their claim.

BOY PEDALS 80 MILES FOR VISIT WITH AUNTS

Luverne—While an 80-mile trip on a bicycle might seem like quite a journey to some folks, it's just a little jaunt to James Walker of White, South Dakota who arrived here recently to visit his two aunts Mrs. Y. A. Long and Mrs. Geo. Shurr. Leaving White at midnight, James, together with a friend, arrived in Luverne the following noon after pedaling the distance of 80 miles. Seventeen-year-old James doesn't understand why folks get so "hopped up" about the feat—to him it was just a drop in the bucket, for he has often biked to Sioux City, Iowa, and Mankato. He admits, however, that he was a bit weary when he arrived in Luverne. The trip took him longer than he had expected because he had a few blowouts and hot weather slowed down his speed.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

NO FUN PAYING TAXES

Officially, there are only twelve dogs in Thief River Falls. That is the number of licenses that have been issued to date. Right now much is being said about tax dodgers. Just how far would any politician go in public life if all the tax evaders and tax avoiders voted against him?

Speaking of tax avoiders, President Roosevelt is not demanding a thorough investigation of the charges preferred against a certain New Yorker in the Senate. This New Yorker owns a five hundred acre estate. It seems that it costs a lot of money to operate such an estate. In this particular case the New Yorker had deducted some of the cost as a loss in his income tax returns. While no definite answer has been filed to the charge that he had made an improper deduction, this New Yorker is said to have explained that the family estate was really a business venture, that he hoped eventually to make it pay through the sale of Christmas trees. The fact that in this case the New Yorker happens to be Mr. Roosevelt himself makes it rather an amusing thing. The treasury department may be expected to look upon it as a huge joke.

But it really isn't such a strange thing that people try to both evade and avoid taxes. In this respect the rich are not more to be condemned than the poor. The only possible justification for a more careful check on the tax returns of the rich than the poor is that it pays in dollars and cents. There are comparatively few taxpayers in Pennington County, or any other county for that matter, who pay all they would have to pay if they paid all that the law says they should pay. The dog tax in Thief River Falls is a good example of what we might expect in tax revenue if all tax contributions were put on a voluntary basis. It is the fear of John Law that makes most of us public spirited in this respect. The only thing that keeps many of us out of jail is the fact the government can't afford to spend five dollars to collect one. Of course one or two prosecutions probably would result in a large increase in the recorded number of shot guns, watches, diamond rings and other such bric-a-brac that counts up fast in the tax totals.

Another annual payment has been made by the city on the paving debt. Four more installments and the streets will be ours. Less than fifty thousand dollars of the original $225,000 bond issue remains to be paid. And when that is out of the way the burden will be lightened not only for those property owners who have been paying direct assessments but for all tax payers as well. The city has been levying six thousand dollars a year to pay for intersections and delinquencies. That will mean six thousand dollars less to spread on the levy when the last payment on the bonds is made four years from now.

Our stuff seems to be running along the tax line this week and while we're on the subject let's feel good about the increased valuation just turned in by the assessor. As a result of last year's building, real estate valuation in the city is up a hundred thousand dollars. Another hundred and seventy thousand dollar increase in the valuation of personal property is also recorded. Increased valuation means lower rates and lower rates mean less taxes. With the city and school district well on the way out from under a debt load that a few years ago was almost unbearable, and good prospects for steadily increasing valuation as a result of new buildings and increased population, the tax picture, locally, is not at all discouraging.

ZWIENER TELLS OF THE PARADE

Those who were a part of the large audience that watched the memorial parade and attended the memorial service the last night of the Legion convention will derive pleasure from reading the following observations on that impressive event written by C. A. Zwiener, state adjutant of the American Legion. The article appeared in Zwiener's personal column of the organization's official weekly paper.

Occasionally something comes along during the every day run of the affairs of the Legion, which, so to speak, pulls you up by your boot straps and sort of gives you a new grip on things. It may be a part of a post meeting, something that happens at a rally or at a convention—but wherever it happens and what I mean to call attention to is one of the Really Worth While things which comes along.

The particular one I have in mind at the moment took place as a part of the Ninth district convention recently held in Thief River Falls—and it occured on a Sunday night after all business of the convention was over and after the usual convention parade had passed and become a matter of history. It was the memorial parade held Sunday evening, just prior to the memorial services.

From away up the street came the faint sound of music—played not like the usual parade, but with that slow tempo denoting something besides fun. The Ninth district band was leading the memorial parade down the street, which was literally lined with people. That majestic strain of music indicated that there was to come a parade in memory of the men and women who, by their sacrifice, have given us reason for memory.

Then the music ceased, but there continued that steady, almost monotonous beat of the muffled drums and from our vantage point we could see the band. We could hear the tread of marching feet—a tread slower than usual. Something inside us seemed to touch home—we were witnessing an affair not of the usual type.

Presently folks in marching units began to pass us—and those faces, only hours before wreathed in the smile that always accompanies a marcher—were dead sober in their countenance. They were looking straight ahead—yes, more than that—looking into space, seeing perhaps some man or woman for whom their memory went out. The beat-beat-beat-muffled, tread-majestic stride carried them on toward their objective.

Besides district officials and a few others exactly Nineteen uniformed bodies took part in that march and in the face of everyone who amounts to anything—in and out of ranks—you could imagine their actually feeling: "We remember."

The procession wended its way into the city park. Six drummers, their instruments muffled took their post and kept up that steady beat until each of the nineteen units had gotten into the park, where more than 6,000 people awaited the service. They brought with them, to everyone of that 6,000—the thought that here IS the serious side of The American Legion and Auxiliary—here is the side of the Legion and its Auxiliary too little seen and too little known!

Here is the side of these organizations which has totally escaped the mind and eye of some critic who still tells the world how the boys and girls gather to throw paper bags and revel in hilarity! Here is the side which a critic Would Not see unless someone hogtied and haltered him and led him to it. And then probably he wouldn't know what it meant! Here is the side of the Legion and Auxiliary which soon is to count heaviest when the chips are on the table! Sentiment, love for another comrade—and above all a memory—not shop worn—but still alive to the things that count.

Oh, I know! We have parades of this kind every year, here and there and that's okeh with me. But let me hasten to add that I have never seen a better one and seldom have I seen one which reached the very bottom of you like this one did. When writers of events pencil their thoughts, I hope that some day someone will get around to making mention of things like this.

They will—they'll have to! This can't go on forever without someone seeing!

GOOD NEWS

(Park Rapids Enterprise)

As a general thing the kind of news sent out by the weather bureau isn't good news. But now and then there is an exception, and a forecast regarding a repetition of last year's drouth is an example. It is the kind of weather news everybody around Park Rapids will enjoy reading.

According to this new prediction the country will witness a more moderate summer than the last one. The experts say temperatures will be more normal; there will be no long record breaking hot spells such as we went through in 1936. While there has been more than the usual amount of moisture already this year, the weather men think there still will be a sufficient amount to meet all needs, and vegetation will not suffer as it did last June, July, and August. In other words, Uncle Sam's weather bureau does not believe that the country is in for another drouth.

Along with this cheerful forecast comes one just as rosy from the Department of Agriculture to the effect that while many sections are below normal crop conditions owing to excessive spring moisture, the general outlook is good and warrants the prediction that bumper crops of all kinds will more than make up for the shortages caused by a lack of it last year. Putting the two reports together makes the kind of news every reader likes to get hold of, and the kind of news every newspaper likes to print.

Topics of the Times

By M. A. B.

Filling station attendants are collecting a billion dollars in taxes this year, but they're not on the government payroll.

We are advised that Herman Wenzel, last week appointed state conservation commissioner, is the father of twelve children. The new job should be to his liking.

The most upright persons are not necessarily the best known for that reason. Consider the leaning tower of Pisa.

Now they are trying to recall Governor Langer of North Dakota. As we recall it, that's a habit out there.

G-Man Edgar Hoover is probably right when he blames the current epidemic of sex crimes on to the presence of too many sob sisters on parole boards.

The difference, according to a colleague, is that the old-fashioned girl blushed when she was ashamed, while the modern one is ashamed when she blushes.

Another pest threatens Northern Minnesota. That pesky bird, the starling, has come as far north as Itasca county.

With nearly a dozen weddings reported in the Times last week, the month of June lived up to its reputation.

It took all of the President's diplomacy last week to handle the situation when his son married into the duPont family.

The treasury department, with its gold buying program, finds itself in the position of the man who bought the gold brick.

John L. Lewis should be well satisfied with his investment of $500,000 in the Democratic campaign fund.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times of July 7, 1927

Nearly 1,000 persons attended the 10th annual convention of the Tronderlag in this city.—H. O. Chommie was the Fourth of July speaker at Middle River.—E. F. Dolan is leaving shortly to attend a convention of the train dispatchers association in Chicago.—Hans Anton is cutting 65 acres of alfalfa, some of which will yield two tons to the acre.—Waldie Christenson July 1 established the Oakland Dairy.—More than 3,000 adults paid admission to the Fourth of July festivities at the fair grounds. Richard Jorngdal and Miss Myrtle Mellum were married July 6.—Leaving on a three weeks trip to Yellowstone national park were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brumund, Mrs. Anna Kretschmar, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mabey and Miss Maude Johnson.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News-Press, July 5, 1917

In connection with the draft for military service, a local exemption board was appointed, including County Auditor T. P. Anderson, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Dr. H. W. Froehlich. W. W. Prichard, Sr., was named treasurer of the Red River Valley Development association. M. T. McFarland, driving his big Velie 45 racing car, won first place in the automobile race staged at the fair grounds on the Fourth of July. Fred Hvag was second and Joe Houfek third.

Reemployment Service Will Help in Securing Harvest Labor on Farms

A heavy demand for harvest hands is expected by the National Reemployment Service, reports E. B. Stanghelle, manager of the Thief River Falls office. Prospects for a bumper crop in Minnesota are the best they have been in several years, according to latest reports.

Already many farmers have informed the employment service that they will need men when the harvest season opens. Indications are that a shortage of available local workers will exist in some sections of the state, a situation which the net work of National Reemployment offices throughout the state will try to meet through a cooperative arrangement whereby workers will be directed to localities where the supply is inadequate.

"Farmers are urged to make their needs known to the National Reemployment office at once," says Mr. Stanghelle. "If we are informed as to the number of men needed we can anticipate the starting date and make an effort to have men available."

Ananias

Ananias was a follower of the apostles and a member of the first Christian community of Jerusalem. The Bible says that these early Christians "had all things common." According to Acts 5, Ananias sold a piece of land and conspired with his wife Sapphira to keep back part of the price instead of contributing it all to the common fund and taking an equal chance with the others. For their falsehood and hypocrisy both were miraculously punished by Peter with sudden death.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vic Weber

"Home by Christmas" was the hope of the over-seas veterans some twenty years ago, and home by July 3rd is the hope of the members of the legislature, but this correspondent is not so sure that such will be the case. Things have happened the past week that may extend the extra-ordinary session far into the summer, if not into the fall.

The thing I refer to is the determination of administration lieutenants to exact a "pound of flesh". They are out to force, if possible, an extra twelve or fourteen million dollars out of the taxpayers pocket and into the state treasury. They are trying to carry out their well laid plans through amendments in the Senate to the several House tax bills.

The Senate Tax committee, after long and careful study, is of the opinion that the State can meet its obligations during the next two years and balance the budget with approximately $20,000,000 additional revenue. The administration supporters still insist on some $34,000,000. Therein lies the disagreement that in all probability will cause a deadlock and which may carry the session into late summer, fall or winter.

Not a single House bill has been up for consideration, but amendments raising the rates have been offered. An examination of the amendments proves conclusively that they were written by the same person and in the same office. In every instance the authors name has been written in pen and ink, whereas individual amendments are usually written in by typewriter. All of these amendments have been voted down by the Senate, the majority group practically without exception opposing them and the administration forces voting solidly for them.

These tax bills as recommended by the Senate Tax committee, therefore, go back to the House and as these lines are being written conference committees are endeavoring to arrive at agreement with the House conferees.

It is upon the outcome of the conference committee activities that depends the adjournment of the special session. And from personal contact with many Senators I am of the opinion that the House will be forced to accede to the wishes of the Senate in greater degree than to the regular session. If they do not, in the opinion of many Senators, the session will be carried on with frequent three day recesses until the House agrees to reasonable rates in the several classifications of taxation.

The Senate has a great advantage for on July 1st there will be no available funds for several important state departments, notably the Board of Education. Likewise the Senate can, and undoubtedly will, hold up the appropriation for relief. Since "money talks" and the Senate willing to "stick tight," it is apparent that it is an indurance contest with the odds in favor of the upper body.

The desire of Governor Benson to clean house in the highway department has been stopped at least to some extent by the federal government. In order to qualify for federal grants for highway purposes the state entered into an agreement as to the personnel of certain departments within the highway department, more especially the planning department. The moment two of the members of the planning board were ousted the government served notice that $100,000 now available would be withheld and that other amounts involving better than $3,000,000 might also be held up pending an investigation. The Governor, however, has reinstated the two planning board members. In the future he will doubtlessly proceed with greater caution.

That the farm help problem is a vital one was stressed in a resolution authored by this writer and Rep. Neilsen, in the House. The resolution cites the fact that farm help is now scarce and that relief workers are refusing to quit the relief rolls and accept farm employment. With a bumper crop in prospect farmers of Minnesota will find themselves in a bad way if help cannot be had. The purpose of the resolution, therefore, is to urge the Governor to issue a proclamation ceasing all relief cases where necessary so that men so employed will have to accept farm employment. The time for such a moratorium of relief help is suggested as from July 15th to November 1st. The fact that there are over 10,000 men so employed proves to what extent farmers of the state are handicapped in procuring help during the harvest season.

LETTER DELAYED IN PLANE CRASH

Montevideo—Salvaged from the wreckage of the Western Air Express plane which vanished last December 15, a letter which had been mailed December 11 by Mrs. Paul Wade from Coronado, California to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Arntzen at Montevideo, was received by them last week. The envelope in which the letter had been mailed was undamaged, was postmarked December 14, and stamped "Delay due to air mail interruption at Salt Lake City, December 15. Wreckage of the plane which vanished with seven persons aboard was discovered June 6, near Alpine, Utah, scattered on both sides of a sharp mountain peak still half-buried in the unmelted remnant of a winter's snow.

Road Patrol Makes Drive on Blinding Headlights

Automobile and truck drivers throughout Minnesota were warned this week to dim or depress their headlights within not less than 500 feet of an approaching vehicle, or suffer the penalty under the new state highway traffic regulation act.

Instructions were issued to highway patrolmen by Chief John P. Arnoldy to first make every effort on a continued campaign of strict enforcement of the new law against every driver who fails to comply with it in this respect.

"Speed and insufficient visibility in other words, over driving the headlights, has been a common cause of night accidents in the past. Glaring headlights too have added to the accident toll," comments the memo which launched the new safety campaign."

The new traffic act requires that headlights with an upper and lower beam be so arranged that upper beams provide visibility at least 350 feet ahead. This is sufficient for night driving, experts assert, giving the motorist ample time to stop or swerve to avoid obstruction or collisions. These lights, however are too intensely bright to be faced with comfort or safety by an approaching driver. Therefore, the motorist is required to lower his beam or dim his lights at least 500 feet from a vehicle he is about to meet.

Birds Don't Like Flying

Scientists show that birds fly only from necessity and that those living where there is plenty of food and no danger tend to lose their aerial abilities.

FINDS BUFFALO HEAD OF MANY YEARS AGO

Jackson—John Mellum, farmer in Belmont township, near here, exhibited last week an American Buffalo head that is believed to be one of the most perfect specimens found in years in this vicinity. Mr. Mellum found the head after the recent heavy rainfall in a deep gully after he had gone to the pasture to drive home the horses. The specimen, which no doubt, had been covered under mother earth for years, was still in perfect preservation, the horns and entire skeleton being almost perfect in all details. The American buffalo was a native of the western plains before the coming of the white man, the Indians depending on it largely for their food and clothing and to furnish them subsistence during the long winter months.

$1.80 REFUND PER ACRE

A smart thing for any farmer to do right now is to apply Phosphate after the first cutting of alfalfa, sweet clover or on any tame grass and pasture. With a government allowance of $1.80 per acre this year aside from the many times over returns you will get in increased crop yields. Summer and fall rains beside winter snow and moisture will neutralize the phosphate in the soil for perfect results next year and years to come.

JUST GOOD FRIENDS

The newlyweds on their honeymoon had the drawing room. The groom gave the colored porter a dollar not to tell anybody on the train they were bride and groom, says the Windsor Star. When the happy couple went to the diner for breakfast next morning all the passengers snickered, and pointed, and eyed the couple knowingly. The groom called the porter and demanded:

"Did you tell anybody on the train we were married?"

"No, sir," said the dusky porter "I told 'em you all was just good friends."

Without Flavor

Pretty Customer (in local drug store)—I want a plain soda without flavor.

Clerk—What flavor do you want it without?

Pretty Customer—What flavors have you?

Clerk — We have chocolate, vanilla, pineapple and caramel.

Pretty Customer — Well, I want it without strawberry!

Clerk—I'm sorry we are all out of strawberry. Wouldn't you just as soon have it without chocolate?

The Reason

A very proper and careful old woman was engaging a new gardener.

"Have you any references from your last place, my man?" she inquired.

"No, mum," replied the applicant. "They wouldn't give me one."

"Why?"

"Oh," answered the man, absently, "I hit one of the wardens."

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The Administration has seized the right moment to aid in the investigation of tax dodging now being conducted by a joint Congressional committee.

While Governor Benson was asking that the Legislature grant $25,000 to the state tax commission in order to aid locally in the search, hearings before the federal group were revealing who the tax shirkers are. It should surprise no one that the men who now stand exposed as social criminals are the same ones who have long decried the tax rates upon great incomes, and we can wonder what strange cargo the state's local hunt will bring back.

The rich shift their share upon those not clever enough or not crooked enough to avoid it. Now that the Legislature is considering a tax program designed to relieve the low income groups, the property owners, and small merchants, the demand for an investigation of tax dodgers comes in excellent time. What good does it do to place taxes which the wealthy are able to avoid? The tax commission will undoubtedly find an answer.

The problem of obtaining fair leases by farm tenants presents one of the major agricultural problems today, according to recent findings of the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota.

With a growth in tenancy of 25 per cent in Minnesota since 1900 and with 17 per cent of all farm land in the state tilled by tenants, the problem is one of ever-widening proportions.

Federal aid making it possible for farm tenants to buy farm lands on an easy payment plan is probably the best solution. In the meantime, however, the survey points out that improvements in leases and leasing practices designed to provide equitable treatment of the tenant, encouragement of good farming practices, and the remuneration of the tenant for his contributions to the productivity of the farm are vitally needed.

"Business America, in order to keep pace with the progress made through science and invention, must wake up and share more liberally the wealth of our nation with those who have contributed so largely to the creation of that wealth."

It is not a progressive congressman speaking, not a leader of labor, but George Hormel, one of the largest meat packers in the country.

Lending aid to the fight in Congress for sufficient old age pensions, his remarks were hailed by progressives who heard his open letter read into the congressional record by Representative Harry R. Sheppard, California. Hormel's letter further went on to point out that American business is well able to support an old age pension plan which will give to workers past their efficiency at least $100 a month. "However," it stated, "pressure must be brought to bear upon American business leadership to the point where they will recognize this responsibility as theirs."

A nationwide conference of Luther Leagues was concluded in Minneapolis last week with several thousand young Lutherans in attendance. Although the conference was not called primarily to deal with social and economic problems, nevertheless when these questions came up, speakers urged the young people to adopt a liberal attitude.

Dr. Sverre Norborg, professor of philosophy at Augsburg seminary, pointed out that indifference [illegible] fatal in regarding social problems are selfish and unchristian. Irving Rosnaran, state director of the National Reemployment Service, said, "Do not be content to satisfy your own spiritual needs in an individualistic attitude towards humanity. Christian fellowship means service and sacrifice. Service in modern complex society may mean intelligent and aggressive support of community influences, governmental as well as civic. We are our brother's keeper."

The address given by Governor Benson in a statewide radio audience recently contained a well thought out indictment of the tax structure not only of our state but of other states as well.

In substance the Governor declared that a tax program which bases itself overwhelmingly upon real estate and property is antiquated and out-dated. No foreign country presses so hard upon real property as the American states. [illegible] Governor Benson points out, is to tax wealth according to ability to pay rather than real property.

The appointment of Herman Wenzel, former commissioner of public utilities in St. Paul, brings to the post of conservation commissioner, a man of known administrative ability and experience. Long a leading figure in the state's labor ranks and the progressive movement, Mr. Wenzel is fully expected to put into operation a department lead to the best use in the new position.

Senator Ernest Lundeen has been appointed by President Roosevelt to serve on the newly created Delaware Tercentenary Commission to plan for celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the settling of Delaware by the Swedes in 1638.

Labor disputes within the state will be speedily settled in the future, if the measure now before the Legislature becomes law. Governor Benson has called the attention of the Legislature [illegible] that its passage would mean that labor and industrial strife will become a matter for orderly, quick agreement instead of long drawn out disputes.

EMPLOYERS PAY UP IN JOB RISK LAW DELINQUENT DRIVE

Protect Workers With Accurate Reports, Starkey Advises

More than 5,000 employers responded with reports and contributions during the first week of the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Division state-wide drive to eliminate delinquencies for the first quarter of this year.

This was reported by Frank T. Starkey, member of the Industrial Commission in charge of the division, who said that the contributions received from the employers covered approximately 12,000 employees. The contributions included penalty at the rate of one per cent per month from June 1.

Commissioner Starkey urged all employers of one or more persons to send in reports and contributions immediately if they have not already reported for the first quarter, to avoid additional interest penalty. He also pointed out that second quarter reports and contributions are due in full by July 31.

The commissioner advised all reporting employers to fill out in detail their forms, to make possible the accurate crediting of their accounts and to assure their employees full credit in the event of unemployment after January 1, 1938, when benefits will be paid to eligible persons.

TWO WOMEN DIE IN AUTO MISHAP NEAR ERSKINE THURSDAY

Tire Blowout Brings Tragic End to Vacation Trip to Canada

A mother and daughter were killed near Erskine late Thursday in an automobile accident that brought an abrupt end to a vacation trip in Canada.

The dead are Mrs. Nels Greenier, 64, of Hugo, Minn., and Mrs. Hector LaCroix, 45, of St. Paul. In the Erskine hospital are Nels Greenier, 67, who suffered a scalp wound, fractured ribs and a broken leg, and Joe Greenier, 40, his son, who suffered a broken collar bone and ankle. Hector LaCroix, driver of the car, was bruised and cut. Mrs. LaCroix was the mother of nine children.

The accident occured as the party was returning home from a trip through Canada. A blowout was said to have caused their car to leave the highway two miles west of the village, careen through a ditch and crash against an embankment 150 feet from where the machine left the road.

All of the passengers except LaCroix, the driver, were thrown out of the machine. Mrs. Greenier was instantly killed and Mrs. LaCroix died in her husband's arms shortly after the crash.

Torkel Knutson, highway patrolman, investigated the accident and said he was told by members of the group that earlier in the day a tire had been punctured and they had repaired it with a patch. It was the loosening of the patch, he said, that caused the tire to blow out and send the machine out of control.

When a man gets the idea he is the big shot he is soon fired.

Will Hold Potato Tour in Valley in August

Plans for a series of potato tours in at least five counties, to be sponsored by the Red River Valley Potato Improvement association, were to be formulated at a meeting of directors of the association in Moorhead this week, it is announced by Fred L. Behling, president. Seed plots arranged by county agents in Clay, Wilkin, Becker, Norman and Polk counties will be visited early in August and it is planned to arrange large delegations of growers and dealers in each of the counties to inspect the plots, Mr. Behling said.

A. G. Tolaas, in charge of potato certification for the University of Minnesota extension department, has promised his cooperation and it is probable that he and R. C. Rose, plant pathologist at the university, will accompany the tours.

MAN BURNED AS HOT TAR SPILLS

Moorhead—His head and hands badly burned, C. H. Strdberger has been confined to his home, recovering from the effects of an accident in which he turned a full pail of hot tar over his head while aiding in retarring the roof of a building. He climbed a ladder to hand the pail of hot tar to the man on the roof and in so doing was blinded by the sun and hit the end of the pail against the roof edge, spilling the contents over himself. Since he wore no hat at the time, his head was exposed to the full force of the tar. His eyes were protected by glasses. Blisters appeared on his hands and arms and the skin peeled from his head when doctors prepared to dress the burns. Removal of the tar required almost three hours work.

CROPS AND SOILS DAY NEXT MONDAY AT N. W. SCHOOL

Farmers Thruout Valley Are Asked to Inspect Experimental Plots

The annual Crops and Soils visitation day has been scheduled at the Northwest School and Station at Crookston for Monday, July 9. A general invitation to farmers throughout the Red River Valley area to attend this meeting has been extended by Superintendent T. M. McCall.

The field crops visitation will consist of a tour of experimental fields. The rust resistance of wheat varieties will be an item of unusual interest this year. Aside from the variety trials in cereals and horticultural crops, the soil improvement work with sweet clover and pasture grasses will be of particular interest to all farmers participating in the soil conservation program.

The Red River Valley Crops and Soils Association will have their annual summer meeting in conjunction with field crops day. Melvin Pluskernal, president of the Crops and Soils association has called the meeting for that organization for 11 o'clock.

Visitors are invited to bring their picnic lunches; coffee and cream will be furnished—an all-family program has been arranged. Plot visitation will be in charge of Professor R. S. Dunham agronomist, assisted by Professor E. R. Clark, seed specialist, and the newly appointed horticulturist, Professor A. C. Vogele. Miss Retta Bede of the Home Economics staff is arranging the program for the ladies. H. J. Christgau, athletic director, is arranging an athletic program of kittenball and swimming for the young folks of the families attending.

Social Security Tax Unit Is Set Up in Washington

Commissioner Guy T. Helvering today issued an order, effective July 1, establishing an additional tax unit in the bureau of internal revenue to be known as the social security tax unit. Victor H. Self, assistant deputy commissioner of the accounts and collections unit, was named acting chief. A. B. Niess, at present head of the social security division of the income tax unit, was designated assistant chief.

Approximately 500 internal revenue employees will be transferred to service in the new social security tax unit. The work attendant on the taxing provisions of the social security act is now being carried on in Washington in the social security division of the miscellaneous tax unit, the social security division, the clearing division and the rules and regulations division of the income tax unit.

The new set-up will not change the social security tax divisions in the collection districts.

FIRE CONTROL OUTLOOK BRIGHT, CONZET SAYS

Abundant rainfall and dense growth of vegetation has resulted in unusually favorable conditions for forest fire control, Director Grover M. Conzet of the Division of Forestry announced last week.

"With the exception of peat fires, there have been no large fires this year," Conzet said. "However, a prolonged dry period would bring a return of hazardous conditions. Fishermen and campers should not become careless with their fires or smoking."

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Working

Northwest Territory

Readers of the Times should be interested in the action of congress last winter in appropriating $100,000 to help defray the cost of a great pageant commemorating the passage of congress of the Ordinance of 1787. The observance will take place this year and the bill provided for appointment of a commission of 14 to map plans. The area involved embraces 6 states, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Officially, the celebration will commemorate the signing of the Ordinance of 1787. Before explaining the nature of this ordinance, it is necessary to discuss briefly the status of this northwest region at that time. The treaty of peace which officially ended the Revolutionary war had been signed less than four years before the ordinance was passed by congress. The American frontier was marked by a tortuous line running north through eastern Kentucky, through Marietta O. and on to a point midway between Marietta and Lake Erie and from there turning abruptly east across Pennsylvania to roughly border New England on the west.

What was known as Northwest Territory then was a wholly unknown region, rich in mysteries and teeming with dangers. To be sure, some venturesome explorers had penetrated the region and had returned with colorful tales but their fragmentary reports shed little light on the unknown territory. It must be remembered that the vast area in the Mississippi basin known as Louisiana, which included most of Minnesota, then belonged to Spain and that the broad sweep westward to the Pacific coast was also Spanish domain, except the territory beginning at a point near the present Los Angeles and stretching northward and northwestward to the Arctic. This was labeled on maps of the period "Unexplored Territory."

Now residents of the Thief River Falls territory are likely to be interested in the fact that the land policy of the government in 1787 was little different from the homestead laws of comparatively modern times. Congress had a large war debt and funds with which to meet it with were meager, with little to be expected in the form of taxes and other national revenues. So it was decided to sell lands in the Northwest Territory for the dual purpose of obtaining funds and building up the region. At first farm tracts not less than 640 acres were sold, but this size was soon reduced to 160 acres. The price was $2 an acre and the total amount could be paid in four installments. It was at this time, by the way, that Congress adopted the survey system by which the territory was divided into squares called townships, measuring six miles each way, with each township divided into 36 squares, called sections, each one a mile square.

Congress reserved the sixteenth section in each township which was given to the state in which the land lay for the support of their public schools. Incidentally, two whole townships were set aside in each state for endowment of a state university. It is apparent that the importance of the government's policies in opening the land alone warrants recognition. It must seem to many almost like one of the great beginnings in world history. Our township and section divisions and our school lands have become so thoroughly a part and parcel of the land that they seem actually a part of it physically.

But in those formative years congress could not foresee future trends and was guided by current needs. The slavery question already had raised its kinky head and it was decided to bar slavery from Northwest Territory and congress also stressed religious freedom and support of education as features of its policies with regard to the region. These provisions bore importantly on the future. The anti-slavery ruling helped bring about the Civil war and the interest in religion and education brought in thousands of splendid settlers from Europe.

Although only a small portion of Minnesota was included in the Northwest Territory, that portion, the Grand Portage district, was a key position and wielded an important influence on future development. In the pageant attention undoubtedly will be given Grand Portage. The pageant will originate at Marietta, O. It will move down the Ohio river on a steamboat and will come up the Mississippi. An idea of the scale of the celebration may be gained from the fact that it is proposed that the pageant shall move about the country for two years. In that time millions probably will become familiar with details of American life in post-colonial days and school children particularly will learn much of value and interest concerning the country in which they live. It is probable that Minnesota will have a state celebration in connection with the major observance and perhaps Thief River Falls will decide to celebrate locally. Anyway, schools will be interested.—Northwest Feature Service.

BAGLEY YOUNG MAN GETS FEDERAL RADIO LICENSE

Bagley—Kenneth Covey of Bagley, a graduate of the local high school, last week received his amateur radio station license from the Federal communications Commission at Washington, D. C., which permits him to operate his 20-watt station for the next three years. Although he may later add the equipment necessary to carry on vocal conversations with other stations, Kenneth at present uses a key and the dot-and-dash code for communications, the use of which he learned in boy scout work. While there have been amateur radio stations in Bagley and Clearwater county before, this is now the only station in Bagley and is identified by the call letters

State Buys Highway Building for $198,000

The State Highway department, in accordance with provision by the last regular session of the legislature, has bought the building on University avenue St. Paul, in which it has been housed on a rental basis for many years.

Although the board of appraisers, appointed by Judge J. C. Michael in condemnation proceedings in Ramsey county district court, awarded the owners of the property $232,032 as a fair price for building the land, Commissioner N. W. Elsberg appealed this award and then was able to negotiate the purchase for $198,000. This settlement was made by stipulation.

The state will pay $75,000 down and $41,000 a year for three years. It had been paying $42,500 a year rental, including heat and light.

SOCIAL SECURITY REGISTERING NOW IN MINNEAPOLIS

Local Postoffices Merely to Give Out Application Blanks

All social security account numbers to Minnesotans will henceforth be issued by the Minneapolis and Duluth offices of the social security board, beginning today, according to an announcement made by Fred M. Wilcox, regional director of the social security board. These activities have formerly been carried on by local post offices.

Post offices will continue to carry supplies of employers' applications for account numbers and employees' applications for identification numbers, Mr. Wilcox stated. Post offices will also give assistance to persons in filling out these forms, but the forms themselves and all correspondence regarding social security numbers should be directed to the Social Security Board office serving the district in which the writer resides.

The Minneapolis office, with H. P. Hartigan in charge, will serve all of the State except the counties of Aitkin, Beltrami, Carlton, Cass, Clearwater, Cook, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Itasca, Kanabec, Koochiching, Lake, Lake of the Woods, Pine, St. Louis and Wadena.

These specially listed counties will be served by the Duluth office, with G. B. DuBois in charge.

Every commercial and industrial employer in the State should immediately make sure that he has a social security number for every employee who has worked for him at any time between January 1 and June 30, Mr. Wilcox stated. These numbers are necessary on Wage Information Returns which must be made by employers to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Saint Paul, on or before July 31.

2,000 Young Pheasants Distributed by State

Distribution of pheasants raised at the State Game Farm at Madelia began this week, when 2,000 young birds were released in 11 counties.

The pheasants were shipped by truck to Todd, Wadena, Hubbard, Becker, Clay, Mahnomen, Red Lake, Clearwater, Pennington, Polk and Marshall counties, according to Frank Blair, state superintendent of propagation.

"With 10,000 pheasants on hand at Madelia, we have a larger stock than ever before," Blair said. "Stocking conditions are also very favorable."

INFANT SAVED FROM SUFFOCATION DEATH

Arlington Prompt action on the part of parents and a local physician's efficient methods were no doubt responsible for saving the life of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schauer of Kelso. The 18 months old baby was nearly suffocated when he pulled a rubber garment over his face in his sleep, the soft rubber so effectively covering his mouth that breathing stopped. His mother found him in an apparently lifeless state and he was rushed immediately to Arlington, where a doctor applied treatment.

Baseball Tryout Camp at Crookston July 12

J. Wylie, president of the Cardinal-owned Decatur club of the Three I League, which will sponsor the camp.

Boys between the ages of 17 and 23 who believe they have a future in professional baseball are urged to attend the camp, with the first session scheduled for Monday morning, July 12, starting at 9:00 o'clock.

The camp will last approximately one week and out of town boys should plan to remain three or four days in order to be given a thorough trial. No fee is charged the boys but they must bring their own shoes, gloves and uniforms and must pay their own expenses while there.

Analysis Is Made of Age Groups by National Reemployment Service

An analysis of the active file of the public employment services in Minnesota as of April 1, 1937 reveals interesting information regarding the age distribution of applicants, says Irene Bornstrom of Saint Paul, National Reemployment director. The "active" file includes the applications of individuals who have indicated within the last 30 days that they are seeking work, and also all persons who are working on WPA projects at security wages.

The analysis reveals that 20.1 per cent of the 136,048 Minnesota applicants on the active file are under 25 years of age; 11.6 per cent under 35; 65.6 per cent under 45. The report shows that 34.4 per cent of the applicants are over 45 years of age; 14.7 per cent over 55; and 3.2 per cent 65 years and over.

A further analysis shows that 18.8 per cent of applicants in the three large cities are under 25 years old, while 21.8 per cent of those in the rural areas are under 25; that in the cities 36.1 per cent are over 45, and in the rural areas 31 per cent. In the cities, 4.2 per cent are 65 and over while in rural areas the figure is 1.9 per cent.

YOUNGSTER IS INJURED IN DYNAMITE CAP EXPLOSION

Rochester Summer vacation took on a dark hue for nine year-old David Campbell as from a hospital bed he contemplated the loss of two fingers blown off by a dynamite cap with which he had played. His face, too, was lacerated as if it had been peppered with buck shot. There were cuts on his arms and chest, and a third finger on his left hand was quite badly injured in the explosion which occurred in the kitchen of his home a few minutes before David's bedtime one evening. He had been in the kitchen only a short while when the house was shaken by a loud explosion, his mother said. It was apparent that he had obtained the dynamite cap from boys with whom he had been playing. Thinking it was a discharged rifle cartridge because one end was dented, he took it home. The explosion occurred while with a fork he attempted to clean out the dirt wedged into the dent.

STATE GOP PARTY PLANS COMPLETE REORGANIZATION

Would Place Control in the Hands of the County Chairmen

A far-reaching reorganization of the Republican party was proposed in a plan approved by the Republican State Central Committee at its recent meeting at St. Paul attended by approximately four hundred members when it was decided that a statewide convention be scheduled for this fall to consider a new constitution for the party under which it was stated control of the organization would be "taken away from the top and put in control of the rank and file of the voters."

The plan as proposed at the St. Paul meeting contemplates that control of the party shall be in the hands of the county chairmen and county chairwomen who would be elected at county conventions and would abolish the present control by a committee selected by candidates for office.

Major features of the reorganization plan are: Conventions will be held every election year and the state central committee will consist of the county chairmen and chairwomen who are elected in their counties and this committee will select its own state officers; Members of the party will pay $1.00 a year dues to the county organization but counties may waive dues at their discretion; Only actual members of the party will be allowed a voice in party caucuses and conventions; Candidates for state office will no longer pick state committees but will be represented in party work by their own committees.

Highway Chiefs Open Drive on Weeds; Will Clear Highway Signs

Orders were issued to all district maintenance engineers on Minnesota's 11,500 mile state highway system this week to launch a concerted attack upon the unusually heavy growth of roadside grass and weeds, with special attention directed to eliminating hazards that obstruct the motorist's view of warning signs.

Under authority of N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, the instructions were issued jointly by W. F. Rosenwald, who on July 1 retired as state maintenance engineer to take charge of the new Public Safety Division of the Highway department, and L. L. Allen, formerly Mr. Rosenwald's assistant, who has succeeded Mr. Rosenwald as chief of maintenance.

The orders took cognizance of the fact that vegetation growth has been especially rank and rapid this year on account of the heavy rainfall, and that roadside signs on trunk highways, especially "stop" signs, "guide signs," and warnings of "curves," "turns," and "stop signs ahead" were rapidly becoming obscured. This created a condition of extreme hazard to drivers of motor vehicles.

Similar orders to all maintenance engineers called for special efforts toward the eradication of noxious weeds on highway right of way and instructed that the mowers start clearing immediately along the entire 11,500 mile double swath that marks the trunk highway system.

This order was based not only upon the necessity for eliminating unsightly growths on roadsides, but also for the eradication of patches of such weed pests as Creeping Jenny, Leafy Spurge, Canadian Thistle, and like weeds which spread infection into farmers' fields.

All district men were instructed to be sure that all such weed patches are cut on highway right of ways before they have time to go to seed.

CONCRETE PAVEMENT ENDS
For Safety's sake PAVE THE GAPS WITH Concrete

Why do state highway departments warn the public: "Concrete pavement ends"?

Because it is universally accepted that speeds which are reasonable and safe on concrete become dangerous on other surfaces.

To save lives, to prevent accidents . . . demand concrete all the way.

True and even, it has no high crown—is usable to its full width. Brakes are at their best on its gritty non-skid surface. Its light gray color and sharply defined edges give high visibility at night. Any car is a better car on concrete.

And concrete saves money for motorists and for taxpayers. Insist on concrete for your roads.

Paving the gaps will increase the usefulness of sections already paved. Minnesota needs more concrete on main through routes.

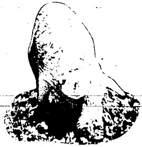
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA



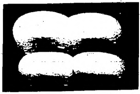
In great demand in eastern markets is the firm cold country pork from Minnesota and North Dakota. Shown here are various steps in processing a hog between the time it enters the packinghouse in one piece and leaves it in eighty.

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE PIG THAT GOES TO MARKET

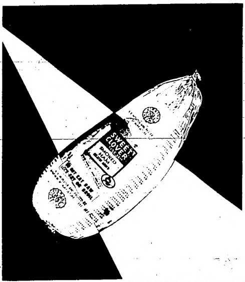
Above, (Hog Line), more like a wax figure than a real animal, the carcass passes through a scalding bath, is shaved by a paddling machine and singed by roaring flame.

Hours later, chilled pink, it appears in the Cutting Room where you can watch it run the gauntlet of flashing knives and saws as it melts smoothly and magically into neat uniform pieces.

Pictured below, left, is a scene as new to the packing industry as it is to you: a method of curing hams without the 60-75 day soak in 250 gallon curing vats. The ham is pumped, individually cured in twelve days.



Cooling Coils. A common sight in the chilly rooms of a packinghouse are hundreds of frosted coils. Most perishable of fresh meats, pork must move fast.



The Spotlight of the packing industry is on this new method of Tender Curing. The Northern Packing Company's Tender Cure secures unusual tenderness without robbing the ham of flavor.

THE NEW BISMARCK AIRPORT

To provide facilities for the increasing number of private and government pilots and passengers of the Northwest and Hanford Airlines landing at the capitol city, Bismarck and the Works Progress Administration constructed a new $13,000 airport administration building and improved their existing landing field.

Above is the beginning of the new building, in the background, buildings of the Department of Air Commerce and airlines serving the capitol city.

Below, the building when completed February 20th of this year. Included in the project was the grading and graveling of airport runways, removal of power lines adjoining the field. In the foreground is a portion of the cement apron fronting the administration building.

Above—Members of the State Livestock Breeders Association visited this field on the Wm. Lewis farm near Park River to observe a demonstration of the work directed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with farmers of the area. The field was planted to potatoes in 1936 with four rows of corn every ten rods to prevent wind erosion after potato harvest. The elevation on which the cars stand was built up by wind erosion in previous years.

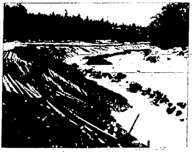
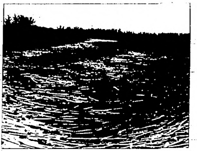
• MINNESOTA'S LAST BIG LOG DRIVE •



Spring of 1937 began the last of the big log drives in Paul Bunyan land. On the Little Fork River on the northern edge of Minnesota spring snows began to melt from giant piles of logs along the river.



Just like the melodrama of old Paul Bunyan yarns, this gigantic log jam gave the photographer a thrill as he climbed the groaning pile to snap the picture above.

With the beginning of thaw hordes of lumber jacks descended on the stacked timber to start the long trek northward with millions of feet from the winter harvest of Minnesota timberlands.

With the swelling waters of a warm spring lumber jacks continue their log drive down the Little Fork River to the great mills of the Northwest.

FALL TERM OF SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 7

Board Abandons Later Opening Date for Ensuing School Term

AWARDS CONTRACT FOR WINTER COAL SUPPLY

Bye Submits Comprehensive Report on Past Year's Operations

Reviewing the comprehensive report submitted by Supt. Morris Bye covering the past year's operation of the local school system, awarding contracts for next winter's coal supply and approving the school calendar calling for the opening of the fall term Tuesday, September 7, were the principal matters to receive consideration at the July meeting of the board of education Monday evening.

Low bids of the Central Lumber company were accepted to supply 225 tons of Commander coal screenings at $7.65 a ton and 50 tons of Pocahontas dock run at $9.02, while the bid of the O'Hara Fuel & Ice company was accepted for 200 tons of Youhiogheny dock run at $8.05.

The local schools, which opened September 14 last year, a week later than usual, will revert to the earlier opening schedule as a result of numerous objections registered to the later date by local residents, Mr. Bye explained. The school year will end with commencement exercises June 3, 1938.

Mr. Bye reported to the board that the budget-expenditures statement for the school year 1936-37 showed a net credit balance for the whole budget of $2,445.98, there being small overdrafts in only six of the 55 funds.

With an unobligated balance of more than $2,000 in the bond and interest fund, the board voted to take up at this time a block of $12,000 in bonds issued in 1921 and maturing July 1, 1940. The advance payment of the bonds will permit a saving of a total of $1,440 in interest during the ensuing three years, and will reduce the principal amount outstanding to $103,000, all of which is scheduled to be retired by 1950.

Mr. Bye reported that fuel costs for the four school plants during the past winter aggregated $4,396.26, compared with $5,010.01 the preceding school year and a ten-year average of $4,584.18.

Figures were presented showing that the total cost for transporting pupils in the school district for the past year was $3,373.83, and that the district is entitled to state reimbursement to the amount of $2,726.92, in addition to which the district receives from the state $61 a year in high school tuition for each of 49 non-resident high school pupils, together with apportionment and supplemental aid.

Mr. Bye stated that the serving of milk in the schools for the purpose of improving the condition of children who were underweight accomplished its objective, as revealed by a reduction in the number of underweight pupils at the end of the school term. An aggregate of 26,319 bottles of milk were served during the school year at a net cost to the district of $41.44.

In pursuance of its policy of buying one or two instruments for the high school band each year, the board voted to purchase another sousaphone and case and a case for a previously bought sousaphone at a total cost of approximately $210. A set of tympani also was recently purchased.

Light Bi[illegible] 6 Months of [illegible] [illegible]ly Equal to Figures for '36

Gross billings of the Thief River Falls light department for the first six months of the current year were almost equal to the figure for the corresponding period of 1936 despite the fact that considerably lower rates have been in effect this year than last, City Clerk P. G. Pederson announced today. Total billings for the six months to June 30, 1937, were $55,958.93 compared to $56,756.41 for the same months in 1936. As the lower scale of rates went into effect in September, 1936, billings for the full year of 1937 are expected to show a substantial gain over last year.

LOCAL BALL TEAM WINS TWO OUT OF 3 GAMES PAST WEEK

Shut Out League Leaders 3-0 Sunday; to Play Roseau Here Tonight

Showing a marked reversal in form, the Thief River Falls entry in the Red River valley baseball league won its last two games by decisive margins, defeating the league-leading East Grand Forks outfit 3-0 Sunday at the fair grounds ball park, and winning from Warren Tuesday evening by the one-sided score of 8 to 1. Warren, playing on its home lot last Thursday, nosed out the visitors by a 6-5 count.

Roseau is coming to Thief River Falls for a return game this evening at 6:15.

ning at 6:15. A game scheduled with Hagley here for next Sunday has been canceled, but efforts are being made to line up another opponent, manager George Lee said.

In the Warren game Tuesday evening, the local lineup was reinforced by the presence of Baumgartner, East Grand Forks pitcher, who held his opponents to four hits, while Thief River Falls garnered seven. The locals ran in five scores in the third inning, which was featured by a home run by L. Benson with one man on base, and scored again in the fourth and sixth innings, while Warren made its lone tally in the fifth after making two hits.

Downtown Park Presents Attractive Appearance

Established only three years ago on a tract that was then only barren ground, the city park in Block 28 west of the business district now presents a highly attractive picture with a wide variety of flowers in full bloom, and with trees and shrubbery in a thriving condition. Local residents are urged to inspect the park and see the progress that has been made.

BOARD APPROVES PART OF COUNTY BUDGET FOR 1937

Completion of Task Held up Until Later On in the Year

The county board at its semi-annual business session Monday and Tuesday completed the major portion of its work in connection with the county tax levy for 1937, deferring final action until later in the year.

The following levies were agreed on, the corresponding figures for the 1936 levy also being given:

	1937	1936
Revenue	$35,935.00	$35,000.00
Road and Bridge	30,900.25	40,500.00
Poor fund	11,562.50	9,062.50
Old-age assist.	21,000.00	24,000.00
Sanatorium	7,000.00	6,000.00

In addition to the above amounts, a further levy will be made this year for the bond and interest fund to retire bonds maturing in 1938. Until the holding this fall of the forfeited tax land sale, from which the county hopes to realize a substantial amount, it will be impossible to determine how much will have to be levied for this purpose, County Auditor A. M. Senstad explained.

Other action taken by the board at its session included the appropriation of $400 for the support of the county fair, the same amount as last year; the reappointment of County Engineer J. A. Erickson for a two-year period ending in May, 1939; and the selection of 30 additional petit jurors.

LOCAL CREAMERY BREAKS RECORDS FOR JUNE OUTPUT

Production for First Six Months Gains 50,118 Lbs. Over 1936

Testifying to the flourishing condition of the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery, the institution in June shattered all previous records by manufacturing 108,282 pounds of butter, it is revealed in figures released today by G. S. Bergland, manager, who forecast that by the end of the current year a total of 800,000 pounds of butter will have been churned in the local plant.

During the first half of 1937 churnings aggregated 368,576 pounds, compared to 318,458 pounds in the first six months of 1936, a gain for the period of 50,118 pounds. Gains have been recorded consistently each month this year over the corresponding months in 1936.

Mr. Bergland stated that the creamery now has a total of 580 patrons, of which number 25 were added during the month of June.

County Equalization Board to Meet Monday

The county board of commissioners will meet next Monday morning, July 19, to sit as a county board of equalization for the purpose of equalizing personal property tax assessments turned in by city, township and village assessors. The board is expected to be in session two or three days.

LEGISLATURE PASSES 3 BIG TAX MEASURES

Income Tax Bill Included in Those Sent to Governor

TWO HOUSES TANGLED ON OTHER MEASURES

Relief Bill Chief Cause of Conflict Between Lower and Upper Houses

Gov. Elmer A. Benson, terming the income tax bill "obnoxious to liberals," Wednesday said he will not sign the measure because ofthe lowered exemptions for single persons and the "favoritism it shows to those of larger incomes." The bill thus automatically became law at midnight Wednesday when the three days in which the governor may act upon a measure, expires. The governor said he regarded a veto of the bill a "futile act on my part."

The state legislature Thursday gave final approval to three major tax measures and sent them to the governor. The upper and lower houses were deadlocked on relief and other bills this week, with the adjournment date still in doubt.

The three bills sent to the governor were the income, inheritance and gift tax measures and were in the form adopted by conference committees representing both houses. They now need only the governor's signature to become law.

The income tax measure provides for a flat rate of seven per cent on corporation incomes for 1937 and 1938 and six per cent thereafter, with rates on individual incomes graduated from one to 10 per cent.

Under the new bill, taxes would be computed on total income and the personal credit deduction from the amount of the tax—$10 for a single person, $30 for a married person and $5 for each dependent.

Of the revenue from the increased tax, approximately $5,000,000 will be distributed to school districts on the basis of $10 per child, from 6 to 16 years old, inclusive, with the aid going for 16-year-olds only if they are in actual attendance at school. The remainder would be used to pay special state school aid up to the amount appropriated by the legislature.

The inheritance tax bill increases the rates in brackets above $20,000 from the present 4 per cent to a top of 12 per cent where the recipient is a widow or child of the deceased, with higher rates applying as the degree of kinship of the recipient decreases.

The gift tax bill applies the same rates as the inheritance tax to gifts and is designed primarily to plug loopholes in the inheritance tax. The two together are expected to increase state revenue from this source about $800,000 a year beginning in 1938 because inheritance taxes are not payable until twelve months after death.

Water Carnival to be Held Here Next Sunday

The event will be sponsored jointly by the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross and the local park board, and will be conducted under the direction of B. W. Gabrielson. No admission will be charged. Mr. Gabrielson announced today that swimming instruction will continue for another week, ending July 24.

Local merchants have donated prizes to be awarded to winning boys and girls in all age classes from five to 18 years, the races varying in length from 25 feet for the youngest swimmers to 100 feet for those aged 16 to 18 years.

Other events will include backstroke races for boys and girls of all ages for a distance of 75 feet; distance races for boys and girls for a distance of 400 feet; a swimming exhibition showing old-time and modern strokes featuring Mr. Gabrielson and Pepper Lee; springboard diving exhibitions by boys and girls; tower diving by boys and girls; and a life saving demonstration by a group of boys and girls.

Rifle League to Hold Tourney July 17 and 18

Thief River Falls Club Will be Host to Northwest Shooters

The Red River Valley Rifle and Revolver league will hold its first annual 30-calibre shoot on the range of the Thief River Rifle Club three miles north of the city on next Saturday and Sunday, July 17 and 18. Members of the local club have been working for weeks on their range extending it to include 300, 500 and 600 yards.

The first event, which is designated as the Roy L. Ericson memorial match, will be shot over the 200 and 600 yard ranges: 10 shots standing at 200 yards, 10 shots prone at sandbag rest at 600 yards. This will no doubt be the main event from the standpoint of local shooters.

The second event is the Red River Valley special match, which is 5 shots sitting and 5 shots kneeling at 300 yards and 10 shots prone at 500 yards.

The third event is known as the Interstate Pioneers' Match and is all composed of rapid fire open only to rifle club and National Rifle association members: 10 shots at 200 yards sitting, 10 shots at 300 yards prone, and 10 shots at 500 yards prone.

The fourth event is known as the grand aggregate or Red River Valley championship match. This is composed of the combined scores of matches No. 1, 2, and 3, and the winner is declared the Red River Valley rifle champion.

Match No. 5 is the Ladies' Red River Valley championship match and will be shot at noon Sunday by those ladies who have had range experience.

Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded in all these matches and will be on display at Elofson's Jewelry Store for several days before the match.

One of the interesting sidelights to the tournament is the boat livery service put into effect at the range. Shooters will be transported from the short range to the long range by motorboat. The unusually high water has made motorboating very good all along the river for miles and the club is quick to take advantage of this added attraction. The scenery along the river at this time is very attractive, and local boating fans would do well to take the trip up Thief River.

This is the first event of this magnitude attempted by the local club which hopes for a good turnout so that the matches can be made an annual affair to be looked forward to by all the shooters of the Northwest. Many inquiries have been coming from North Dakota, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and the club looks for many shooters from these parts.

They have been working on the development of the club with other members since the last meeting. Harold F. ARSON CHARGED IN RESIDENCE BLAZE HERE LAST AUGUST

Four Men in Custody Charged with Setting Fires Here and in Federal Dam

Four Federal Dam men have been taken into custody on charges of arson, following an investigation by the state fire marshal's office of circumstances surrounding two fires last August that damaged a residence on Bridge st. adjoining the Soo tracks, then belonging to B. G. Rounds of Federal Dam, formerly of this city, and another blaze in January that destroyed the Rounds store property in Federal Dam.

Rounds, who left this city about twelve years ago, is in jail at Walker, according to word received by local authorities, while two others implicated in the alleged plot are in custody at Cass Lake. In the Thief River Falls jail is Thomas O'Brien of Federal Dam, who is reported by authorities here to have implicated the others. Both buildings were insured.

According to the confession reported made by O'Brien, he brought kerosene here from Federal Dam which he used in starting a blaze in the back part of the house August 15, 1936. This failing to destroy the building, he set another fire in the kitchen August 30. At the time the first fire was set at 11 o'clock at night, nine persons, members of the Mrs. Anna Quinling family, were in the building.

COUNCIL HOLDS LONG SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Approves Permits for New Buildings Estimated to Cost Over $67,000

TAKES ACTION TO CALL FOR SIDEWALK BIDS

Vote to Make Temporary Repairs to Roof of Library

The city council, in a long session Tuesday evening, disposed of a variety of matters, including passing on more than $67,000 in new buildings, some of which are now in varying stages of construction.

Permits acted on at the meeting include: Hilda J. Erickson, residence, $2,100; Gerhard Kast, residence, $2,000; Baehr-Operated Theatres, theatre, $35,000; Mrs. M. T. McFarland, two residences, $2,500 each; Pete Bresnay, residence, $1,200; O. L. Ihle, residence, $2,500; Farmers Union, service and bulk station, $3,200; Douglas M. Johnson, residence, $3,500; Phil Hawkins, enlargement of his building under construction on La Bree av. N., $5,000; Trinity Lutheran church, parsonage, $6,500; O. M. Bishop, basement under residence, $400; J. S. Schmitz, garage, $175; and E. W. Hedon, remodeling, $1,000.

The council also voted to call for bids on the construction of sidewalk, curb and gutter on the east side of Crocker av. from East Third st. south to Mussey st., the bids to be opened July 29. Bids are also being asked on sidewalk, curb and gutter per running foot in the event it is decided to award contracts for other contemplated construction. It was pointed out that the WPA workers have been transferred fom this city to the resettlement project, and that is unlikely any help will be available from this source for sidewalk work. B. F. Umland was named engineer to supervise the Crocker av. project.

Mayor W. W. Prichard announced the appointment of H. B. Raftseth as weed inspector, and said he would shortly name a dog catcher to pick up unlicensed dogs in the city.

In connection with the granting of building permits, the council discussed the advisability of appointing a building inspector whose duties would include seeing that no construction be started until a permit has first been obtained from the council or from a special committee. In the meantime notice is being served on contractors not to start any new construction until a permit has been arranged for.

A communication was read from H. O. Berve announcing his resignation from the library board, the action, he stated, being due to lack of the necessary time to devote to the work.

Following a request from H. A. Pratt of the library board that early action be taken to repair the library roof, which is in leaky condition, and after hearing representatives of two roofing material firms, the council voted to make temporary repairs at a cost for material of $95.

The council authorized the payment to Henry C. Eckland, architect, of the sum of $580, being the balance due on his contact for services in connection with the construction of the winter sports arena.

Birds Are Fidgety

Birds are highly organized nervously, that is why their motions impress a human observer as fidgety in the extreme, but really they are not so. The bird is simply twitching as part of its life program. Many of its motions are of the jerky sort, owing to the construction and pull of the muscles, and not because it is particularly sensitive.

Dickens Danced at Night

Charles Dickens liked to have his children dance and especially delighted in the polka step. Often he would practice it gravely in a corner by himself. One winter night he awoke with the horror that he had forgotten the step and leaping out of bed diligently rehearsed its "one, two, three, one, two, three," until he felt secure in the knowledge of the wonderful step.

Growing With Your Child

Let's Pretend

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

During the long summer days much pleasure and valuable experience can be gained by children in the game of "Let's Pretend."

Little children enjoy pretending. Their toys should be the type with which they can pretend. Dolls, boxes, blocks, stones, bits of wood, crayons, and so on allow for the use of imagination. Games such as playing house or train bring much satisfaction to small children. Pretending is a lovely game if adults leave children alone to enjoy themselves or if they really enter into the spirit of the game. Of course, make-believe life should not occupy all of a child's time, but during the pre-school years it can take a very important place.

And what can the older child do in the way of pretending? At certain ages children will enjoy dressing up in old clothes. They will like playing simple games or even just parading in their costumes. When they are older they will begin to be interested in amateur theatricals or puppetry. Adults can be of value at this stage by encouraging children, making only few suggestions and giving advice when it is asked for, providing space and material to work with. Much help can often be secured from the public library.

An attic or basement room or corner of a room could be set aside for plays. A make-shift stage might even be built out of odds and ends, the work being done by the children with help from their father if necessary. A stage curtain will add greatly to the pleasure. There can be costume, make-up, and scenery departments. In designing costumes and scenery, there is no need for spending much money. Nearly every home has materials and discarded clothes which are most valuable in putting on plays.

An interest in theatricals may lead to play-writing and the showing of one's own play. It might develop into an intensive study of plays or the history of the stage. It may, of course, remain at the level of putting on only a few plays which are suggested to the children by interested adults. But, in any case, many facts are learned, information is gained, and there is much wholesome fun in such leisure time activity.

There are social values, too, in games of pretending. Children, whether in the preschool or adolescent period, develop socially by playing with other children. Amateur theatricals, puppet shows, and other pretend games, help to develop the ability to play together, to cooperate, to take one's place in group activity.

Adults can do their part by making games of pretending possible, by offering help when it is asked for. They may encourage the children and form an interested audience for the show. Then last, but not least, they may allow the children to do things themselves, to follow their own interests, and to put on their show in the way they desire.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Governor Benson is plainly dissatisfied with the provisions contained in the income tax bill and it appears certain that he either will veto the bill or sign it under protest.

The Governor's objection to the bill which was passed by the Legislature is primarily on the ground that it places a burden upon the small wage earners, particularly those who are earning a bare subsistence wage.

"The provision in the bill which makes single persons earning from $1,000 to $12000 a year subject to taxation is particularly objectionable," he said, "because it will impose a tax upon stenographers, clerks, and others who already earn too little for a decent standard of living, and at the same time because administration costs will exceed the amount collected."

Payments to farmers who participated in the AAA crop curtailment program have dwindled steadily, figures compiled by Farm Research, Inc., show. Benefit checks have often been delayed two or three years, working much hardship on the farming population.

At the same time, two fifths of the total 500,000 farm families getting loans or monthly grants from the Resettlement Administration have been left out in the cold under the terms of the $1,500,000,000 administration relief bill passed by Congress. Although no amount for farm relief is set by the bill, it is estimated that $100,000,000 will go to the Resettlement Administration for loans, but it is not intended for relief.

This is the second drastic relief cut for the farm population since last harvest when 278,000 drouth cases were dropped from WPA rolls, some of whom were transferred to R. A. direct relief lists which paid $15 a month instead of the $40 paid by WPA.

More than one third of the families in Sweden are represented in cooperatives, according to statistics released by the International Cooperative Alliance which show a rapid growth of cooperatives in all the democratic countries in Europe.

Membership in Swedish cooperatives was boosted by 17,000 in 1936, making a total membership of 585,000. Cooperative business aggregated $11,494,000 the past year.

Cooperatives in Norway increased their membership 10,000 during 1936, making the new total 148,000, approximately one-fourth the nation's families. More than 11 per cent of all the commodities handled through cooperative stores were produced in factories owned by cooperatives.

Finnish, French, and Czechoslovakian co-ops also forged ahead. Gains in Britain dwarfed all the rest in volume but the percentage gains were not so great as in the Scandinavian countries where the movement is much younger. Business of English cooperatives topped the billion mark.

Depositors of closed banks in Minnesota have received dividends totalling $616,017.56 so far this year, according to figures released by Robert D. Beery, state commissioner of banks.

The amount represents 71 individual dividends. Liquidation of 22 banks—the State Bank of Revere and the State Bank and Trust Company of Red Lake Falls—is receiving payment of their claims in full. Ten Minnesota state banks have returned 100 per cent to their depositors in the last three years, Commissioner Beery announced. Creditors of the Northwestern State Bank of Cloquet and the Farmers State Bank of Moose Lake recently received an extra dividend. Liquidation of these banks had been completed in 1935, but additional proceeds had come in from claims held in these banks in connection with the Cloquet fire of 1918.

The fifth successful strike settlement effected by Governor Benson was made last week in the St. Paul truck drivers' strike. Insisting that the drivers and employers come together and settle their differences in a peaceful and speedy manner, the Governor spent 14 hours in a peace parley with representatives of both groups before an agreement satisfactory to both sides was reached.

Employees gained a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, time and a half for overtime, and definite improvements in working conditions.

The Governor declared at the signing of the agreement that the controversy served to emphasize the need of a Minnesota Labor Relations Act patterned after the national Wagner act which affects only inter-state business. The Governor sent a short message to the Legislature requesting that they pass such an act earlier in the week.

The United States Sesquicentennial Commission for Minnesota to direct statewide observance of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution on September 17, has been named by Governor Benson. Members of the commission are Attorney General William S. Ervin, Chief Justice Henry M. Gallagher, and Lewis E. Lohman of St. Paul, former state commander of the American Legion.

The Colosseum

The Colosseum in Rome was begun by Vespasian on the site of part of Nero's famous Golden House, and inaugurated by Titus in A. D. 80. It consisted originally of three arcaded stories of stone and an upper gallery, originally of wood, which was rebuilt of stone in the present form some time in the Third century. The Colosseum probably seated between 40,000 and 50,000 persons. It is elliptical in plan, with its long axis 615 feet and its short axis 510 feet, its arena, 281 feet long and 177 feet wide. Its total height to the top of the Third-century stone screen wall is about 160 feet.

The Wake

The custom of keeping watch over a corpse or holding a funeral wake is observed as a feast held on the occasion of a death. The neighbors of the deceased assemble, and spend the night in the room with the corpse, chatting and telling stories. The conversation on such occasions naturally turns to a large extent of the virtues of the departed. Among the lower classes, wakes are still very prevalent; beggars have their own wakes. A wake is quite an expensive ceremony to a poor, struggling workman or tradesman; but he feels he would lose caste without holding it.—Spectator (November 30, 1820).

LOCAL CREDIT UNIT SHOWS HEAVY GAIN IN FARMER LOANS

Secy. Lund and Directors Go to Detroit Lakes for Conference

The Thief River Falls Production Credit association increased its 1936 loan business 25.5 per cent over that of the previous year and gained 10.7 per cent in members, says Secretary Robert J. Lund, who attended the 2 day conference of directors from the eastern part of North Dakota and western part of Minnesota held at Detroit Lakes Monday and Tuesday.

Membership on May 31 this year total 394 farmers who had obtained their short term funds for farm operations through this cooperative association. The largest volume of business during the year was $116,000 and the average outstanding monthly volume was $107,000, with the average loan amounting to $414.

The conference is an annual event in which directors from contiguous territory get together to compare notes and lay plans for the annual meetings of their stockholders to be held later. Good natured rivalry marked some periods of the session as directors noted phases of the work in which they excelled some of their neighboring association.

Present at the conference, in addition to Mr. Lund, were Directors Alfred Longren, F. H. Erdmann, Red Lake Falls; E. H. Pomerenke, Mavie; Bert Grahn, Roseau; and Fred Voth, Holt.

Twenty camps have been assigned to the protection and improvement of the national forests, 12 in the state forests, 11 to soil erosion control projects, nine to improvement and development of state parks, and two to the Bureau of Biological survey for work in the Thief lake migratory waterfowl refuge and the Tamarac lake refuge.

Mardi Gras, French Name, Alludes to Old Ceremony

Mardi gras (pronounced mardee grah) is French and literally means fat Tuesday. It is Shrove Tuesday, the day before the beginning of Lent. Shrove is the past tense of shrive, meaning confess, and Shrove Tuesday is the day on which confession of shrift was made preparatory to the 40 days of lent.

The French name mardi gras or fat Tuesday alludes to an old ceremony in which a fat ox, symbolizing the passing of meat, was paraded through the streets of Paris and other French cities on Shrove Tuesday. Lent being a period of fasting, mardi gras naturally became a day of carnival and revelry.

In England the day was formerly observed by eating pancakes, and it is still often referred to as pancake Tuesday, although eating pancakes on this day survives only as a social custom. Pancakes seem to have become particularly associated with Shrove Tuesday because the people desired to use up what grease, lard and similar forbidden foods they had on hand before Lent. Carnivals and pageants still characterize mardi gras in many cities in Europe. Several cities in the United States also observe the day in like fashion, and in two or three states mardi gras is a legal holiday. The pageant on mardi gras at New Orleans was introduced by the French population. Although pageants were given as early as 1827, it was not until 30 years later that the distinctive ceremonies now associated with the day in that city were introduced.

Some Superstitions Our People Like to Mention

That it is bad luck for a black cat to cross in front of one is based on the medieval belief that Satan often assumed the form of a black tom cat when he went out among the people to stir up mischief. In some parts of Europe it was believed that black cats lived only seven years, when they were transformed into evil spirits.

That June is the lucky month for marriage is based on the Roman belief that June was named in honor of Juno, the wife of Jupiter, who was the patroness of happy marriages.

That opals are unlucky is said to date back to the Fourteenth century when they were unfavorably associated with the plague known as the black death. It was said that in Italy, particularly in Venice, such gems worn by persons stricken with the plague suddenly turned brilliant and then lost their luster when their owners died.

Friday the thirteenth long has been regarded as an evil omen, the idea being about 2,000 years old. Jesus was crucified on Friday. At the Last Supper there were 13 at the table, and Judas, the thirteenth disciple, was the one who betrayed his Lord.

That it is unlucky to accept a third light from a match is said to originate from war times. When a soldier lit a match it revealed his whereabouts to the enemy.

Fighting Cattle of South France

The fighting cattle of South France bear a strong resemblance to the extinct aurochs. Their home is in the Rhone delta and particularly the Island of Camargue, situated between the two principal branches of the Rhone. These cattle are relatively small, but speedy and active. They are used principally for bloodless bull fights, which are held in all cities and villages of Provence. In color they generally are black and in winter they have long coats of hair. They have well formed horns bending first to the side and then straight forward, similar to all ancient pictures of the aurochs. These cattle are bred to preserve their primitive wildness and have few, if any, of the traits of domestic cattle.

Count Our Blessings

In going through life we often bewail our misfortunes, but seldom dwell upon our blessings; the illness is reckoned to a day, the bad debt is computed to a cent, the sleepless night is spoken of with deep self-commiseration; but we forget to reckon the many months of our health; we take as a thing of course, and not worth mentioning, that we enjoyed hours of calm and refreshing sleep, undisturbed even by a dream.

Adventure

By KARL GRAYSON
© Associated Newspapers. WNU Service.

THIS was my first view of the ocean. I was overwhelmed by it. I couldn't believe it. I scooped up a handful of water and tasted it. I stared and stared at the distant horizon.

I rowed along the shore for an hour; presently sighted a point of land some 500 or 600 yards away and headed for it. I beached the boat and stepped ashore. This was a new experience. I was seized by a sense of adventure, and set off to explore.

The place was quite deserted and I spent an hour or two on a high point looking out to sea.

Returning at last to the point where I had left the boat, I discovered with surprise that it was gone. My first thought was that I had missed my direction, and set out to follow the water's edge southward. It was then that my eye chanced to light upon a moving object some distance off shore. I stood still, staring, realizing to my great dismay that it was my boat, drifting steadily farther out to sea.

There was naught to do but skirt the cove, which task I found difficult as the way was rough and the cove more deeply indented than I had at first supposed. After an hour I stopped dead still and stared. Ahead lay naught but wide and empty ocean. The cove was not a cove at all! The point of land not a point, but an island!

My spirits sank and my heart was filled with horror. The distance to the mainland was, at the nearest point, fifty yards, and the intervening water was filled with treacherous eddies.

There were but few remaining hours of daylight, and it occurred to me to make the best of them. So I tramped back over the island and came at dusk to a little sheltered nook among the rocks. And here, cold, hungry and miserable, I crouched down, trying to sleep, buoyed up only by the thought that on the morrow some passing vessel would pick me up.

I left my shelter at dawn, stiff and sore, and scanned the ocean. A few boats were abroad, but none near enough to hail. Keenly disappointed I sat down to wait, only to become more conscious of the emptiness in my stomach. At length, desperate, I rose and began to hunt for berries, which, upon investigation, proved to grow in plentiful quantities. They served to allay my hunger, and after quenching my thirst at a tiny creek I returned to the high land. My heart leaped. A boat was going by, not twenty-five yards off shore.

I set up a mighty shout and waved my hands wildly. The boatman looked up, and waved back at me.

It was then that I realized the seriousness of my plight. The boatman had thought my cries and gestures were merely a friendly salute. He could not believe I was stranded on an island so near the mainland. The realization made my blood run cold.

Miserable, unhappy, forlorn, I spent another wretched night. The next day, wearied of my diet of berries, I remembered reading how a certain castaway had survived on shellfish, and went in search of some. I found great quantities among the rocks and they proved a welcome change.

All this second day I spent attempting to hail passing boats and explaining my plight. By night I felt utterly discouraged. It appeared that I was destined to end my days here, and few there were remaining, I felt quite sure.

The will to live, however, is strong, and instead of giving myself over to fate I turned toward the beach once more and my hunt for shellfish. Strangely, there were fewer than heretofore, and I began walking along the shore, searching sedulously. Presently I had collected enough to appease my hunger and looked up to get my bearings.

The sight that greeted my eyes caused my heart to stop beating. I blinked, rubbed my eyes and looked again. But the scene hadn't changed. It remained quite the same.

I had come to that section of the island that was nearest the mainland, but instead of an intervening fifty-yard stretch of water the distance was now filled with a gully of dry land!

It wasn't till I had wallowed through the muck and had my feet securely placed upon the dry soil of the mainland that I gave the miracle any thought. And then it was explained all at once. Piqued, I justified what would appear like my stupidity to a seaman by repeatedly telling myself that an inland dweller such as I could not be expected to know anything at all about tides.

But for all this, I have related my experience to nobody, for now that I think of it I feel very foolish.

Much Dust in the Lungs

There is precipitated in the lungs of the average man during the course of a single year more than 1.2 pounds of various dusts. The average dust fall in a large city is approximately 200 tons per square mile per month, according to an investigation. An adult takes into his lungs more than 500 cubic feet of air each day. This air, in passing through the respiratory organs, which are constructed as a perfect filter, precipitates practically all of its dust with the incidental germs.

Old Name for Knee Cap

Doctors of ancient Egypt described the knee-cap as "the round cake of the knee."

WHY— Ohio Was Given Nickname of the Buckeye State.

Two derivations are given as to the origin of Ohio's nickname, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The most commonly accepted one is that the name originated from the buckeye tree which is indigenous to the state and not found to any extent elsewhere and only in a very restricted region about Ohio and contiguous territory.

The Indians called the buckeye "hetuck," meaning the eye of the buck, because of the striking resemblance of the seed both in color, shape and appearance to the eye of the buck.

The other derivation was brought out at the opening of the first court in the Northwest Territory on September 2, 1788, when a rather imposing procession marched to Campus Martius Hall at Marietta. The procession was headed by the high sheriff, Col. Ebenezer Sproat, a tall commanding figure, carrying a sword. The Indians, greatly impressed by the ceremony, dubbed Colonel Sproat "Hetuck," or "Big Buckeye," not in derision but in the greatest admiration. The nickname stuck and was later passed on to other Ohioans.

Ohio's nickname was not crystallized, however, until the presidential campaign of 1840, when Gen. William Henry Harrison was a candidate for President of the United States. During that campaign buckeye cabins and buckeye walking sticks became emblems of the state's first presidential candidate. It was this campaign that set Ohioans apart as "Buckeyes."

Why Northern Ohio Was Known as the Fire Lands

Not all of northern Ohio was known as the Fire Lands. These lands consisted of 500,000 acres at the westerly end of the Western Reserve. With slight variations in their boundaries they embraced the counties of Huron and Erie.

During the Revolutionary war the British burned or otherwise destroyed a great deal of property belonging to Connecticut citizens. These citizens afterward appealed to their Legislature for reimbursement. Their claims were considered in 1791, and in 1792 the Assembly set aside these acres for the benefit of the sufferers and their heirs.

Originally this tract was called "the sufferers' Lands," but later became known as the Fire Lands.

Why People Have Red Hair

Why does a red-haired child have red hair? Why is the "Bourbon jaw" transmitted for centuries from one generation of Bourbons to another? Why do characteristics of temperament or body reappear in descendants? The one answer is summed up in a word — chromosomes, states a writer in London Answers Magazine. In London, biologists have been pursuing elusive chromosomes for some years. They have been able to detect them now. They are tiny things found in germ cells of every living creature. They are of various shapes and sizes, but it needs the most powerful microscope made to discover the largest. In these chromosomes are the answers to all the above questions.

Why U. S. P. Is Used on Drugs

U. S. P. means United States Pharmacopoeia, a work containing a list of accepted drugs and established standards for their purity, with directions for making preparations from them. The first edition of the U. S. P. was compiled in 1810 and has been revised every 10 years by a committee of physicians and pharmacists. It was made the legal standard by the National food and drug act, January, 1907. The initials U. S. P. after the name of a drug mean that the drug conforms to the official standard.

Just a Little Smile

BEST HE COULD DO

A vast cloud of smoke and big tongues of flame began to issue from the windows of a house. A man ran over to it and pressed the electric bell. The door was opened by a woman who suffered from deafness.

"Madam, your house is on fire!" exclaimed the man.

"What's that?"

"Your house is on fire!" he repeated.

"What's that? House on fire? Oh, is that all?"

"Well," replied the man, aghast, "that is all I can think of at the moment."

"Sure," said Paddy, pointing towards his heart, "it was here where I was struck by the enemies' bullets—"

Mike looked dubiously at him. "But, man," he said, "if you had been shot through the heart ye'd have been killed."

Paddy shook his head. "There ye're wrong, Mike," he replied. "At the toime I was shot me heart was in me mouth."

The Christian Era

About the year 533 A. D., a Roman abbot named Dionysius Exiguus introduced into Italy what he called the Christian era, according to which dates are reckoned forward and backward from the birth of Christ. This method came into use in France and England in the Eighth century, and in other countries later. He used the year 754 of the Roman era as the year of Christ's birth; subsequent authorities have placed that event four years previous, or in 4 B. C., instead of in the year 1 A. D. There was, of course, no year 0 A. D., so that from the end of 4 B. C. to the beginning of 3 A. D., six years elapsed (3 B. C., 2 B. C., 1 B. C., 1 A. D., 2 A. D., 3 A. D.). The date of the crucifixion is generally regarded as 29 A. D., when Christ was thirty-two or thirty-three years of age.

Habits of Garter Snakes

A garter snake may be met in all sorts of situations, but is partial to grassy meadows and to the border of streams, where the frogs, toads, fish, mice and shrews on which it mainly feeds are numerous, and—being a near relative of the water-snakes—it takes to water willingly and swims well. All garter snakes are also good climbers, wriggling easily up a scaly tree-trunk, a wall of brick or of rough boards, and they search the bushes for eggs and young birds in the spring, but rarely climb high, as sometimes do blacksnakes on a similar errand. They are bold in coming about gardens and village parks, and enter cellars, dairies or chicken houses, but do so less often than some of the larger serpents.

Superstitious Scotland

A moth is regarded as telling of a letter on its way; spiders in the home are lucky; killing a beetle brings rain; and a falling picture foretells news of a death. Very few people in Scotland move to a new home on a Saturday, as it is believed that "a Saturday flitting means a short sitting," or that misfortune will soon come along. To present a new-born baby with a silver coin insures luck for the child, but copper coins spell ill-luck for the innocent infant.—Pearson's Weekly.

Ticket Sales Open for Football Contests at Minnesota University

Thirty-five thousand ticket applications, the largest mailing in the history of the University of Minnesota ticket office, were sent over the week end to Gopher football followers in 36 states, Canada, Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands and Cuba.

At least 12,000 of these applications will be returned with season ticket orders if the trend follows that of last season. The remainder will include orders for single games. A new type application blank will permit purchasers to order either season books or single game tickets on the same application.

Notre Dame promises to be the high point on the Gopher schedule and indications are that the sale for the game will not last more than 10 days, ticket officials reported. Capacity crowds are also indicated for the Northwestern and Wisconsin games.

Cost of season tickets for the five 1937 home games will be $12.10, a 10-cent increase over the season ticket price of last season, but still under the price of the five games if the tickets are purchased for each game.

Tribute to Wesley

John Wesley, founder of Methodism, like so many others, was bitterly and coarsely assailed in his lifetime. But there were compensations. Once, a differing bishop, at table, refused to sit above him, saying, "Mr. Wesley, ma, I be found sitting at your feet in another world!"

Crookston Man Is New Road Maintenance Chief

Joe R. Boyd, Crookston city engineer for the past five and one half years, last week was appointed superintendent of maintenance in charge of the Crookston division of the Minnesota State highway department.

He will assume his new post on July 16, succeeding R. C. Gran, who has held the post approximately 15 months. He succeeded A. M. Graves in the spring of 1936 when Mr. Graves was transferred to Bemidji.

Mr. Boyd was appointed city engineer by Mayor Kirkwood when the latter took office for his first term as mayor in January, 1932. In his new position he will have supervision of state highways in seven counties including Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, and Norman.

Horticultural Society Hits Membership Mark

"Seventy-one years old and still growing" might well be the slogan of the Minnesota State Horticultural society which now has an all time membership record of 4,222 annual members and 720 life members on the rolls.

R. S. Mackintosh, secretary, University Farm, says the previous high point was in 1921 when there were 1,171 annual members and 625 life members. Much of the gain this year has come through the increased number of local garden clubs and horticultural societies which have affiliated with the State organization. Arnoldy Bans Doubling up of Motorcycle Riders

Six deaths already this year from motorcycle accidents in which two riders on one cycle have usually been involved has brought a sharp warning from John P. Arnoldy, chief of the Minnesota Highway Patrol, against the deadly practice of "double-bike" riding.

The patrol chief so frowns on the practice that he announced that he is studying steps whereby it will be made illegal for two persons to ride on a single cycle, unless one is in a side car.

The death of one woman near Anoka and the serious injury of three persons near Dilworth over the Fourth of July holiday prompted Chief Arnoldy's warning. In each of the accidents two persons were riding on the motorcycles involved.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Remember the school election next Tuesday night. It will take only a few minutes to cast your vote and the satisfaction of knowing that you were sufficiently interested in the management of our schools to at least take part in the annual election will more than compensate you for the effort. And votes are important. It is important that the result of the election really represents the wishes of the people. If only a few people vote there is more of a possibility that the wishes of the majority have not been expressed. The larger the vote the closer the result comes to being a true expression of public sentiment. So do your part, attend the election Tuesday, and vote.

If you are interested in baseball and would like to see what is being done to revive this great American game, journey out to the fair grounds ball park next Monday or Tuesday and look over the crop of youngsters who take part in the Legion tournament. You will see heads-up ball and a better variety of the game than was played on the corner lots when you were a kid. This isn't a reflection on the older generation. These teams play better ball because they are getting better training and they are getting better training because there is an organization in back of them. The Legion deserves a lot of credit for the good job it is doing in bringing baseball back to the youth of America.

During the month of June the local creamery turned out a hundred and eight thousand pounds of butter. That's nice volume and indicates that things are going well at the creamery. It's only a few years ago that there was some reason to wonder whether the creamery should be classified as an asset or a liability. There is no question about that now. Very definitely, it is now an asset and a valuable one to both the city and country. With continued good management, there is no reason why it should not continue to grow and eventually become one of the largest as well as one of the best creameries in the Northwest.

Gross billings for light and power in the city for the first six months came within eight hundred dollars of the total for the same period last year in spite of the rate reduction which went into effect last September. That means a big increase in demand. The figures are particularly encouraging because they indicate that the lower rates will not result in decreased revenue to the city. The last six months of the year should show a substantial gain in the income of the department because billings during the last four months will be at the same rate that prevailed the last four months of 1936. Net profits may drop a little below last year's figures but water in the river means lower production costs so there is also a possibility that the net profits may increase.

Last year at this time we were sweltering in the heat. For a solid week the thermometer had registered above the hundred mark each day and the crops were burning up. It was an extremely hot summer following an extremely cold winter. The weather man has been a little more moderate these last seasons. Our winter was comparatively mild and while the spring dragged along too slowly to suit most of us we have had little reason to complain about the summer up to this point. And we know now that it can rain. Last year at this time, we were wondering if the country ever would get soaked up again. And how we did scold about the money that had been thrown away for useless ditches. Right now, while we are still mad because they cost so much, we are kind of glad the ditches are here. It's funny how such things work out.

It would be nice to know just exactly how much it had rained here during the past forty-eight hours. Sometimes we think the community ought to rise up in arms and demand that the weather observation station be restored. But when in a more deliberative mood we know that such a demand would be unfair to the government. Years ago, when the spendthrift Republicans were wasting the taxpayers' money, government officials thought little or nothing of spending $3.00 a season to get a record of the rainfall in this territory. It was just things like that that swept Roosevelt and his economy program into office. And one of the first steps taken in this economy program was to cut out the weather station at Thief River Falls. This is the one thing the administration can point to as proof that it made an honest and sincere effort to fulfill its promise to reduce government expenses twenty-five per cent. As a result of this tight fisted policy the national debt is now only thirty-six and one-half billion dollars. Under these circumstances, to ask the administration to reverse itself, to break faith with the people who voted for economy and efficiency in government, would be the worst kind of ingratitude. No, let us get along without a weather station and stand loyally by our leader who had the courage to check the tide of extravagance and wastefulness that was undermining our government.

A NEW BUSINESS LAUNCHED

(Morris Tribune)

County welfare boards are being set up all over the state, and public relief on an elaborate scale is going to a permanent basis.

Unless these local boards are to be in constant strife with the state board of control which sets up the rules and regulations under which they act, all hope of the public relief bill returning to normal amounts may as well be dispelled. The very fact that an organization is set up which provides easy access to the public treasury will itself create "business" for the organization.

The county welfare board is composed of three county commissioners and two others appointed by the state board of control from a list nominated by the commissioners. So far as providing a board interested in efficient and economical administration and responsive to local public opinion is concerned, this set-up is excellent, if such a board were given a free hand, but instead, it is to be dictated to as to the rules and regulations under which it shall act and as to the qualifications of its employed personnel by the state board of control, which appears to be much stronger on "social philosophy" than the average board of county commissioners.

The new county welfare board shall take over the duties of the present child welfare board and also all forms of public assistance and public welfare, both for children and adults, including aid to dependent children, old age assistance, veterans' aid, aid to the blind and other public assistance and public welfare purposes. Its budget, however, must be approved by the county commissioners, but all its rules and regulations are prescribed by the state board of control.

The state board of control has issued an order (modified for the smaller counties) that each county welfare board must have an executive secretary at $175 to $200 a month, a county case supervisor at $125 to $160 a month, a senior case worker at $100 to $130 a month, a junior case worker at $90 to $115 a month, and visitors at $80 to $100 a month. Most of these workers are required among other things to be college graduates of the social work department with "interest and concern for the solution of social problems," a certain number of years' experience in social work, and "knowledge of and experience with rural problems and conditions." There is no room in the set-up for the administrator of seasoned judgment and a practical viewpoint on the relief problem.

In normal times, (say, ten years ago) the county commissioners looked after the unfortunates as part of their duties, and the total cost to the county was less than $10,000 a year, and deserving cases were well taken care of. Today, relief in this little county has become a $50,000 business, without counting WPA, and a lot of other alphabetical agencies. The new business now will have an office, and an administrative staff, and "clients." It will enjoy plenty of patronage as long as the money holds out. Customers will not be hard to find, the administrative force will be interested in the permanence of the arrangement, and the state board of control will supply the flock of inspectors, and plenty of suggestions for creating new business.

WHY NOT PLUG THE LOOP HOLES?

(Long Prairie Leader)

The country has been waiting for the long list of economic royalists who with much blare of publicity were announced as dodging their federal income taxes. However, up to this time the senatorial committee that was appointed to investigate has been able to get only a few names from the department and these seem to be chiefly stock brokers and movie magnates. In the cases submitted, the treasury officials admit there have been no illegal evasions so the conviction is growing that the whole thing was sprung in an effort to get the minds of the people off the circumstance the administration has lost out in its effort to get through the court packing scheme. The investigation has developed the fact there are loop holes in the law of which advantage has been taken by some few large taxpayers. Instead of advising congress what these loop holes are and suggesting proper legislation to close them, the administration seems to have preferred to build up a straw man bogie for a hurrah attack. What the country wants is more action and less ballyhoo.

HOW DICTATORS WORK

(Brown County Journal)

Late news from Italy shows how the minds of dictators work. To quote an A. P. dispatch, "Fascist Italy, angered by printed jeers at the prowess of Italian fighters in Spain, virtually broke off press relations with Great Britain." An official order recalled all Italian correspondents from London, and banned all but three English newspapers from Italy.

This dictatorship achieves its end by keeping its people in darkness, and shutting them away from any knowledge, any facts, any opinion which may suggest that the man or the party in power is less than perfect. Under various dictatorships the right to vote in free and honest elections has been taken from the people. The right of free speech has been taken from them. The right of free assembly has been taken from them. The right of open trial by jury has been taken from them. The right of a free press has been taken from them.

Between the United States and such tyranny stands the Constitution, a living document, reasonably interpreted by uncontrolled, non-political judges. We must be continually on our guard, lest, in our eagerness for seeming advantage, we unknowingly accept [illegible] the liberties for which millions of men fought during the centuries of bloody history.

Few people in this country realize how near we were to losing the freedom of the press under NRA and how close we will be to that same situation should the Supreme Court be packed.

Senator Glass says that congress is bankrupting the country, and Senator Borah calls the spending policy "creeping paralysis". Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader of the Senate, tried to get through a provision that local communities should pay 25 per cent of the expense of WPA projects, but the administration forces were too strong for him, and his proposal was defeated. This proposition to "redistribute wealth" by the government taking from those who have and giving to those who have not would appear entirely different if the experiment were limited to this generation. But that is not the case. The proposition that the government shall today take from those who have and give to those who have not is a fair and reasonable proposition compared to what the government is actually doing. Instead of doing that the administration is piling up the national debt for the next generation to pay and spending the money, the net result of which is to take the fruits of those who will labor in the next generation and waste it on this generation. Tomorrow the children of today can work for the children of the bond buyers of today. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves.—Morris Tribune.

The real rumpus in this state about the taxes paid by the mining industry is not about the amount the mines pay, but because a few local communities in the small mining region get three-fourths, the state only one fourth, of the twenty million dollars a year. That's why the range towns are lavishly rich and able to spend money with a reckless abandon that would make a drunken sailor on shore leave with three months pay in his pocket so ashamed of his spendthrift efforts that he would voluntarily surrender himself to the town constable.—Fairmont Daily Standard.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times of July 14, 1927

Leonard Erikkson, of Fergus Falls will speak Sunday at the Swedish picnic at Squaw Point.—Moneys and credits in the city totaling $405,544 were reported to City Assessor Ed. Hill.—Rev. Aner Bloom arrived from Chicago City to become pastor of Augustana Lutheran church here.—George M. Wilson opened a store at the Red Lake Narrows. TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News-Press of July 12, 1917

Interest in the approaching draft is overshadowing all other questions in Pennington county at this time, and county officials are being deluged with inquiries as to procedure.—H. O. Chommie was called to Decorah, Iowa, by the death of his father at the age of 80.—E. O. Mogenson and W. B. Fuller this week were victims of poison ivy.—Mrs. Milton Fowler, for the past 22 years a local resident, died at the age of 74. The city treasury had a balance of $75,296 on July 1.—Mrs. C. A. Pitkin left this week for North Yakima, Washington, to spend the summer months.—The county board decided to issue $15,000 in bonds to finance the cost of a new bridge across the river at High Landing.—Rev. F. J. Seltz returned from Milwaukee, where he attended a convention of the German Lutheran church.—G. P. Hinton returned from New London, Wisconsin, where he spent a two weeks vacation.

Yearly Pruning Keeps Shrubs Dense, Thrifty

To keep shrubs the proper shape and size and flowering profusely, they must be pruned yearly, points out C. M. Hunt, extension horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Merely cutting back the ends of the plants is not enough. Each season a few of the oldest stems should be removed completely to the ground. Through a period of years such a practice will completely renew the wood and leave the shrub dense and thrifty.

Shrubs that produce flowers on new growth, such as carragana, hydrangeas, spirea Anthony Waterer and tamarix, should be pruned early in the spring while the plants are in a dormant condition. In order to prevent cutting away potential blossom bud on shrubs which produce flowers on wood 1 year or older, pruning should be done immediately after flowering. Honeysuckle, mock orange, forsythia, bridal wreath spirea and lilac belong in this group.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Despondent Grasshoppers

A SEASONED maxim of the copybooks is that frequently a real cry does a person good. Leonard Baller, once a Nebraska farmer, is sure of it.

Rain washed away the railroads around his Nebraska lands; the drouth hit him squarely; then the dust storms killed every living thing; then grasshoppers arrived by millions and settled on his farms.

Wasn't a thing for the 'hoppers to eat but they were too tired to move on and Leonard almost lost hope. As a last gesture, however, he rushed out among the despondent grasshoppers, and planted several sets of the strongest and hardiest onions he could buy.

To his surprise the onions matured quickly. The moment their bulbs appeared above ground the grasshoppers pounced on them, ate ravenously and burst into tears.

"And that," Leonard recalls proudly, "is how my farms were saved. The land was drenched by the tears of the grasshoppers and as soon as they had drowned themselves I was able to raise a normal crop."

His Sermons for Posterity

Rev. William Davy, an English clergyman, born in 1743, constructed his own press, bought a quantity of worn and cast-off type, and composed and ran off one page at a time of his sermons. In thirteen years he thus wrote and printed twenty-six volumes of nearly 500 pages each; went off to London and deposited fourteen copies each in every one of the principal libraries there—to insure that he would be remembered by posterity.

Sand Into Stone

In Denmark the loose foundations of a famous cathedral have been made into practically solid rock. The dry soil was filled with a solution of silicic acid under pressure, after which a solution of mineral salt was forced in, resulting in the loose particles of sand and gravel being tenaciously bound together. A similar process was used in a tunnel under a London street.

Toasters and Lightning

Almost everyone has at some time or other been impressed with the apparently large amounts of electricity going to waste during electrical storms. Divining Rods Unreliable

Scientists can find no scientific basis for the belief that divining rods (whether of witch hazel, willow, ash, peach, elm or even wire or metal) are able to locate water. The Bureau of Mines has stated in a report that the divining rod is either a fraud, whether deliberate or unintentional or is based on some physiological principles of which at present we know little or nothing. If these water diviners in some cases are successful in locating water in a higher percentage of the tests than can be accounted for by mere chance, it is probably not because of some mysterious power in the rod but because the person holding it is a quick observer and has had considerable experience in finding water.

Flogging in England

In England flogging probably reached its heyday after the monasteries, where the poor had been sure of free meals, were abolished. This led to a great increase in vagrancy. The punishment was whipping. In many places the law provided that a vagrant be carried to some market town "and there tied to the end of a cart, naked, and beaten with whips throughout such market town till the body shall be bloody." Queen Elizabeth changed the law so offenders were stripped only to the waist. She also substituted the whipping post for the cart.

PREMIUM LIST FOR COUNTY FAIR NOW BEING GIVEN OUT

Fine Display of Agricultural Products Expected This Year

With the printing of premium lists in connection with the 1937 Pennington county fair August 10-13 now completed, Secretary Robert J. Lund of the fair board this week is engaged in distributing the booklets to prospective exhibitors.

As a result of the fair dates being set this year nearly two weeks later than in recent years, and with exceptionally favorable growing conditions prevailing to date, Hans Anton, superintendent of the agriculture department, foresees an unusually effective display of products in his division.

Other superintendents in charge of exhibits include: Livestock, S. E. Hunt, assisted by Mike McAndrews; poultry, Harry C. Woolson; Women's department, Mrs. Herbert Fuller, assisted by Mrs. W. R. Patterson; culinary, Mrs. P. O. Myhrum; fancy needle work, Mrs. Patterson; practical, Mrs. O. H. Bessler; flowers, Mrs. L. G. Larson, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Robinson; art, Mrs. C. W. Vorachek; rural schools, A. C. Matheson; and 4-H clubs, Howard Grow, assisted by Miss Thelma Solie.

Secretary Lund announced that a special feature of the program Tuesday evening, August 10, will be the appearance of the WLS Barn Dance troupe, which scored an outstanding hit on its first appearance at the local exposition last year.

Local Ball Team Seen in Action Sunday by St. Louis Cardinal Scout

The Red River Valley league ball game here Sunday, in which Thief River Falls shut out the league-leading East Grand Forks team 3-0, had as an interested spectator Harold Roettger, scout for the big league St. Louis Cardinals. The St. Louis club is contacting promising players at a tryout camp being conducted at Crookston, and Manager George Lee of the local team visited the camp Monday and Wednesday in company with Schobt, local catcher, Sahl, pitcher, and Jaranson, second base. Mr. Lee stated that their performance at the camp made a highly favorable impression on the men in charge, who will sign up from seven to 11 prospects for league play next year.

SOAKING RAINFALL VISITS NORTHWEST REGION THIS WEEK

Pool in River Here Rises 6 Inches Following Downpour

Following a period of more than a month during which only scattered showers fell in this locality, a steady downpour of rain set in Tuesday evening and continued with little letup until this morning, bringing a total precipitation estimated at in excess of two inches.

As a result of the rain, Supt. Ole Legvold of the water and light department reported that the water level in the river pool here was up slightly over six inches, bringing it up to near the maximum point. He expected that the added water supply would permit use of one of the turbines in the power plant for at least a short time.

Farmers coming to the city from the east Wednesday reported that Highway 1 was partly submerged at low points. Another substantial rain fell in this vicinity last Thursday evening. There is now adequate moisture in the ground to carry grain crops thru to maturity.

Ernie Young's "Passing Parade" Feat ure of Pennington Fair August 10-13

Probably the best and certainly the most pretentious attraction ever booked for presentation at the Pennington county fair this year will be the mammoth musical Revue "Ernie Young's Passing Parade". This is a duplicate of the New York show that played with such success in that city and broke all records for attendance figures this past winter and fall.

As a scenic production it is in a class by itself. Never before has such a wealth of elaborate mounting been seen on any Fair grounds. The electrical effects and general scheme for illumination surpass anything hitherto seen here and embellished as it is with every mechanical contrivance to properly stage the numbers, it stands out as a unique and surprising production of the highest calibre.

The principals have been recruited from the ranks of the highest paid vaudeville talent and the chorus and ballet scintillate with beauty and charm. Elaborate and wonderful costumes make a kaleidoscopic picture in all colors of the rainbow and the ensembles are elaborately staged and faithfully rendered.

A prominent lady singer, together with selected dancing teams and clever comedians interpret many novel and amusing numbers. There is a vim and go in the entire performance that is most acceptable and the bringing of such an attraction to the Pennington County Fair August 11, 12 and 13 marks an epoch of progressive and liberal policy in the way of up to date amusement.

Five years later he came to Sanders township and in 1912 to this city, where he spent the rest of his life. In 1882 he was united in marriage to Mathilda Ristau. Mr. Krause has been affiliated with the German Lutheran church of this city since its organization in 1895 and had been awarded a life-time position as honorary elder of the congregation.

Surviving his death are his wife, his two sons Emil and Max, both of this community; four sisters, Mrs. Caroline Hildebrand, Mrs. Bertha Hoppe, Mrs. Johanna Pope, and Augusta, all of Chicago; and six grandchildren. Two children preceded him in death.

One thing certain is that Nebraska's one-house legislature cuts down the need for assistant doorkeepers.—Indianapolis News.

PRIVATE JOBS CUT WPA LIST NEARLY 1,000 DURING JUNE

WPA Workers in Pennington Now Total 46, Says Kovarik

Approximately 1,000 WPA workers in Minnesota obtained jobs in private industry during the last 30 days, according to word from the St. Paul office of Victor Christgau, state administrator. Precisely, 925 persons left the work relief program, notifying project foremen that they were going to private jobs, thus making an official record that will entitle them to a preferred status should such jobs end through no fault of the workers and they are still eligible. WPA is making a special effort to meet quota reductions by relying on private employment. No new assignments are being made and, thus far, the voluntary activity of the workers in finding other jobs has kept apace with reduced WPA activities.

In the district of which Pennington county is a part, the number of workers who obtained private jobs totaled four, according to the office of J. B. Kovarik, district director. In Pennington county, the number leaving WPA for other employment was four, reducing the total employment locally to 46.

Mr. Christgau urged farmers to contact NRS offices just as quickly as they know their labor needs, so that arrangements can be made to meet this demand. WPA employment in Minnesota at the end of June was 37,362. As a result of reductions, necessary because of the smaller amount of money now available, the state's quota for July 15 was 36,000.

Mussolini wants to make Italy self-sufficient. No country, we mention as we breeze by, is ever going to be as self sufficient as Benito.—W. C. S. in Chicago.

3,254 Vacancies Filled for Private Industry in June, NRS Office States

Jobs in private employment totaling 3,254 were filled by the 26 offices of the National Reemployment Service in Minnesota during June, according to E. R. Stanghelle, manager of the Thief River Falls office. The information was received this week from Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul, state director.

The placements in private industry represented 60% of total placements made by the Service in June, 5,421. The comparison was similar to that of May when 3,260 or 60% of the 5,371 placements made were in private industry. During June last year private jobs filled by the National Reemployment Service totaled 1,706 out of a total of 11,132. Activity for July, says Mr. Stanghelle, is expected to show a considerable increase in private job openings due to the usual seasonal employment trend.

New applications received during June this year by all NRS offices in the state numbered 4,354; for June last year 5,116. During May this year 2,813 applications were received. The active file as of June 30 included 55,419 applications, including unemployed persons, those working on WPA projects at security wages, and persons presently employed but seeking better positions.

OLD MINNESOTA FAIR POSTER DISCOVERED

Farmington—An old poster—torn and yellowed with age—found here last week, announced that the Minnesota State Fair of 1882 would be held at Rochester from August 31 to September 8. It also disclosed the fact that a deceased Farmington resident, Col. R. C. Judson, was secretary of the fair association at the time when the exposition was held in a different city each year. The show placard was discovered by Harry Becker when he was moving the back shed of a house. Hanging between two walls, the poster was well protected through the years.

PLANS NOW GOING AHEAD FOR GREAT MINNESOTA FAIR

Dates of Annual Exposition Are Set at September 4th to 11th

Another great Minnesota State Fair is in the making. Record premiums—more than $100,000—a great building program, an avalanche of early exhibits and a heavy demand for industrial display space are factors that presage a record-breaking Exposition from September 4 to 11, announces Raymond A. Lee, Secretary.

For the first time in many years the State Fair is offering more than $100,000 for educational exhibits. Topping the list is the cattle department for which $21,458 has been set aside. Boys' and girls' 4-H club work is second with $19,122 with $14,370 offered in the horse division, closely followed by the agricultural, horticultural, swine, sheep, poultry and other competitive departments.

Crews of workmen are rushing to completion the new horse and poultry buildings, the finest structures of their kind in the world. The horse pavilion is being constructed of reinforced steel and concrete, monolithic in design, is 350 feet by 350 feet, and will house 750 animals. The poultry pavilion is similar in design, 350 feet by 151 feet. Completion of these buildings will permit a concentration of livestock in the west area of the grounds and will provide Minnesota with the finest buildings in the nation.

Other improvements include a new steel and reinforced concrete ramp to the grandstand, six new speed barns, new and enlarged auto parking areas plus several thousand feet of new sewers, water mains, and electric light conduits.

A man may be as old as he feels, but seldom as important.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

The closing days of any session of the legislature, regular or special, always finds legislators' nerves strained. The hot weather of the past week has not tempered this strain and as these lines are written anything may happen.

It was the fondest hope of all that the session would end this week, but as predicted by your correspondent, the little matter of millions alluded to aggregate not two or three, nor even four, but some ten or twelve—all of which must come out of Mr. Taxpayers' pocketbook. The bill, or rather bills, that carry these heavy appropriations are the Relief and Educational measures and so widely divergent are the opinions of House and Senate members that it seems a compromise can never be reached.

For long it has been known that Governor Benson and his House leaders would demand $17,000,000 for relief needs. Just as long as it has been known that the Senate would never vote so great an amount. The matter came to a showdown the past week when the House, as expected, voted the seventeen million, and the Senate, as expected, cut the amount in two. The upshot was a caustic criticism of the Senate Finance Committee, which committee slashed the amount, from the Governor. He was not choice of his language and his bitter attack left a bad impression not only on conservative members of the Finance committee, but on several of his own party as well. Said he in effect: "The Senate Finance Committee is senile, dishonest and immoral". (The last three words are verbatim.)

Anyone who has known Senator Rockne, who has given 30 years of his great ability to his state, cannot question his honesty or his morals. Dr. Oliver, of Graceville, beloved in his home community is a man of unquestioned integrity and decency. Sen. Harry Bridgeman, of Bemidji, an ardent Farmer-Laborite is known for his exemplary habits and outstanding manhood. They are but three of a committee of twenty-one and each and everyone measure up to the same standard as the three mentioned. The Governor's unfortunate remark, therefore came as a bombshell that shattered not only a heart but further lowered him in the estimation of those who "know what it is all about."

The relief bill now goes to conference. The Governor has stated to his lieutenants that he would veto the bill if it carried less than thirteen million. My best guess at this time is that he will have the pleasure—if it can be called a pleasure—of exercising that prerogative for knowing the tempo of the Senate conferees I am convinced they will not budge and will hold out for an amount not in excess of ten million. And, if this happens, the session will be prolonged or will be adjourned only to force another special session immediately.

On Tuesday the Senate overturned the report of the Rules committee that the Homestead Exemption bill did not come within the purview of the call for the special session and sent the bill to the Tax committee by a vote of 53 to 12. The debate did not lower the temperature of the Senate Chamber. Several hours were consumed in the discussion and proponents and opponents could well take to the showers after the ordeal to cool off.

Senator Jerry Mullin, of Minneapolis, lead the attack on the bill, declaring it to be a bill which "will inevitably result in a sales tax." He pictured the laborer drawing from $16.00 to $25.00 weekly and rather conclusively proved his contention that such an exemption on homestead would place a direct burden upon two-thirds of the people of the state.

Senator Carley paid his compliments to the bill by saying that it was a "cheap political instrument that has been handed us purely for advertising purposes." He held up before the Senate the Farmer Labor platform and campaign literature, which pledged to the people of Minnesota an exemption of not only State taxes but all taxes, local and state, up to $1,000 valuation.

He reminded the Senate that in the last campaign the Farmer-Labor party caused the defeat of Amendment No. 2 which would remove the state taxes on all property, because the idea did not originate with Farmer-Labor leaders, and said "Now they bring in this little sop so that they might go before the people in the next campaign and say 'See what we did, we saved the homesteader of the state from paying any state tax on their property.' Now when they have the first opportunity to make good on their promises," said Sen. Carley, the Farmer-Labor administration brings in this little sop."

Senator Cashman and others brought out the fact that the people are being fooled. "All over the state," said he, "people have been lead to believe that if this bill is passed they will have no taxes on their homes." He pointed out that the bill, if enacted into law, would reduce taxes at the very most but $10.00 and in the greatest number of instances but $6.00. "And the tenant, the renter," he said, "will make up the difference by increased rentals." He looked upon the bill as a cheap political gesture.

The climax of the discussion was reached in the statement of Sen. Victor Lawson, faithful Farmer-Laborite. He voiced his doubt that the Farmer Labor platform or campaign literature pledged exemption of all taxes on homesteads. In a moment Senator Carley was on his feet. "All right, Senator, [illegible] haven't the documentary proof at your disposal, I have," and thereupon he presented to Sen. Lawson the printed platform and circulars.

Senator Lawson was noticeably irked but, honest man that he is said: "I don't want to be responsible for any promise so made. It was a mistake. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people of the state."

But the bill is even more of a sham or "sop" than its worst opponents brought out. In tax committee it was discovered that the exemptions covered only homesteads in unplatted territory. Hence it would have no effect on homesteads in villages or cities.

FIGHTS BEAVERS FOR HIS DRINKING WATER

Bemidji—Andrew Johnson who lives alone on a farm along Grant creek, several miles northwest of Wilton, has to fight with the beavers for his drinking water. His water supply comes from a good-sized natural spring on the edge of Grant creek, near his house. This proved very satisfactory until a colony of beavers decided to settle in the creek a short distance below the spring. With all the skill and engineering efficiency of the beaver family they built a dam across the creek and created an artificial lake. When the dam got up toward four feet high the water in the creek overflowed Mr. Johnson's spring, and he got his axe, pick and other implements and attacked the dam until he got the water level well below his spring. As soon as he left, the boss beaver came out and surveyed the havoc and set all his beavers at work, tooth and tail, to repair the damages.

YOUTH MANUFACTURES HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE

Red Lake Falls—Strikes and slow production in automobile plants do not bother Louis Callier, 16-year-old son of Lawrence Callier of Lake Pleasant township, for he has built his own automobile. Driving the newly manufactured car from his farm home to town for the first time, he attracted considerable attention and many a Red Lake Falls boy envied Louis his possession, even though the vehicle has no knee action springs and upholstered seats. The car is powered by a gas engine, is belt driven and has a 48 inch wheel-base. Louis says that it will develop a speed of 18 miles per hour.

TREE IMAGE BURNED ONTO BOY'S CHEST

Redwood Falls—Sixteen-year-old LeRoy Brueske was marked, probably for life, by a lightning bolt which struck his home in New Ulm last week during a storm, burning an almost perfect image of a tree on his chest and upper abdomen. The youth had gone into the cellar to turn rain water into the cistern when the bolt struck the chimney, practically demolishing it. Flue stoppers in the chimney were blown out and electric fuses put out of commission, but no fire ensued.

CORN IN STATE DOESN'T WAIT FOR JULY FOURTH

Mankato.—Two inches short of measuring six feet from its roots to the end of the longest leaf, a stalk of corn which didn't wait for the Fourth of July, was brought here last week from the Jerry Jones farm in South Bend township. The stalk, which is of the golden jewel variety, allowing for the droop of the leaves, actually stands slightly under five feet tall. It was taken from a field on May 10.

TREE IMAGE BURNED ONTO BOY'S CHEST

Redwood Falls—Sixteen-year-old LeRoy Broeske was marked, probably for life, by a lightning bolt which struck his home in New Ulm last week during a storm, burning an almost perfect image of a tree on his chest and upper abdomen. The youth had gone into the cellar to turn rain water into the cistern when the bolt struck the chimney, practically demolishing it. Flue stoppers in the chimney were blown out and electric fuses put out of commission, but no fire ensued.

CORN IN STATE DOESN'T WAIT FOR JULY FOURTH

Mankato—Two inches short of measuring six feet from its roots to the end of the longest leaf, a stalk of corn which didn't wait for the Fourth of July, was brought here last week from the Jerry Jones farm in South Bend township. The stalk, which is of the golden jewel variety, allowing for the droop of the leaves, actually stands slightly under five feet tall. It was taken from a field on May 10.

CROPS AND SOILS DAY NEXT MONDAY AT N. W. SCHOOL

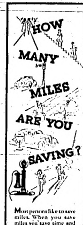
Valley Residents Invited to Share in Event at Crookston

A general invitation is extended by the Northwest School and Station to all who are interested in crops and soils problems to visit the experimental plots Monday, July 19. While the program will be of vital interest to the man, yet the day has been designated as an all-family day, a day in which the wives and children can get an outing. A special program of discussions and visitations of buildings and grounds has been arranged for the women, and a sports program of games and swimming has been arranged for the boys and girls.

The program for the day starts with the business meeting of the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association, which has been called by President Melvin Flaskerud of Fosston for 11:30 A. M. Those bringing lunches will find the school campus an ideal place for picnic dinners, and coffee and cream will be served free. At 1:30 a tour of the experimental plots will start. At 4:00 o'clock the tour will be interrupted for a light lunch and will be concluded about 5:00 o'clock. There will be no speaking program except the discussions in the field. It is planned to use a public address system on the plots so that all may hear.

One of the most extensive trials of sweet clover for soil improvement in the northwest was begun in 1931 at the Northwest Experiment Station. The first yields of wheat, oats, barley, and flax following sweet clover handled in various ways were obtained last year in a season of extreme heat and drought. The second set of crops may be seen this year in a season of ample moisture. In connection with this experiment, the effect of triple super-phosphate and ammonium phosphate fertilizer applied in the row with grain may be seen. The fertilizer attachment used on the grain drill for distributing the phosphate will also be on view.

It seems probable at this time that there may be enough stem rust to show the value of resistant varieties. Aside from those already in commercial use, there are a number of others not yet released whose behavior may be studied. Varieties from outside Minnesota in the trials this year include Apex and Renown wheat and O.A.C. 21 barley from Canada, Hull-less oat No. 165 and No. 1310 barley from South Dakota, Wisconsin 38 barley, D-67 and Iogold oats from Iowa, and Rusota oats and Rixon, Buda, Linota, and Bio flax from North Dakota.



Most persons like to save miles. When you save miles you save time and expense...and sometimes quite a bit of energy.

Some of our customers who have kept records report that they are saving miles at an average rate of about 200 miles a month...just by using the telephone to run their errands. Trip expense saved is estimated at more than twice the telephone charges they pay.

Some persons report saving more than 500 miles a month, all on local telephone calls. How many miles are you saving?

Merit System to Govern Conservation Employes, New Director Announces

Institution of a merit system and competitive examinations for all employees of the Department of Conservation other than division directors and their deputies was announced last week by Herman C. Wenzel, who assumed his new duties as commissioner of conservation July 1st.

Commissioner Wenzel also announced that E. V. Willard, former commissioner, would be retained as Chief Engineer of the department "to coordinate the engineering functions of the various divisions." Charles MacFarlane, deputy commissioner under Mr. Willard, has tendered his resignation.

"Conservation is a big subject and an exceedingly important one," Mr. Wenzel said. "We cannot hope to accomplish its ends without a long-time program."

"As head of the department, I intend to work for a six-year program that will result in better hunting and fishing for the average sportsman, conservation of our forests, protection of our valuable mineral resources, and improvement of state parks and other recreational facilities."

"I will naturally welcome the close cooperation of all interested citizens and conservation organizations."

Mr. Wenzel stated that examinations to determine the fitness of present employees of the department and those seeking employment would begin as soon as necessary arrangements have been completed. "In accordance with the law creating this office, merit will be the sole basis for employment in the department of conservation," the commissioner said.

Highway 32 Now Being Improved From Fertile South to Twin Valley

Construction work on that portion of Highway No. 32 between Fertile and south to Junction 31 near Twin Valley was begun recently, following the letting of a contract to the firm of Colligan & Weinhagen, says the Fertile Journal. A crew of men with trucks, graders and other road construction equipment is now at work, and according to advices from St. Paul, the job will be completed in six weeks. It will cost approximately $50,000.

As soon as this stretch has been finished, a further contract for construction of the second portion of the road, between Fertile and north to Marcoux corner, will be let by the highway department.

The contract calls for raising and grading and a 24 foot road surface of bituminous treatment and stabilization. When completed, Highway No. 32 will provide an excellent road north and south.

FORMER PLUMMER WOMAN IN CITIZENSHIP MIX-UP

Owatonna. Mrs. Carl Auborn, American born but denied the right to enter the United States May 18 because of legal technicality, finally joined her husband and son here last week after the ban had been lifted by the immigration department. She was admitted to the United States on a non quota visa. Despite the fact that she was born at Plummer, Minnesota, Mrs. Auborn must take out papers in order to secure American citizenship. Mrs. Auborn moved to Canada from Plummer with her parents when eight years of age and because her father took up a homestead in Canada and became a Canadian citizen, she also was made a Canadian and British subject. Under the existing laws her marriage to an American did not change her status. Her son, however, holds status as an American. When the family was on its way in May to make their home in Owatonna, Mrs. Auborn was detained at the border as an alien.

$2,266,708 TO BE PAID COUNTIES ON SECONDARY ROADS

Pennington County To Get Total of $15,420 up to 1940

"Good news" is going out this week from N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner to the county boards and county engineers of each of Minnesota's 87 counties, in the form of notices that they are to receive their full share of $2,266,708 in federal money for improvements on secondary and feeder roads during the next four years.

Allocations of funds have been made, Commissioner Elsberg said, on the same basis as that used by the federal government in allotting federal aid money to the states. That is, the funds were divided among all counties strictly on a combined basis of population, area, and road mileage within the counties.

Making allotments on a four year basis instead of only on a two year basis makes it possible for those counties most hard pressed financially, and therefore unable immediately to match the federal funds dollar for dollar as required by law, to get their full share of federal money without necessarily being required to take it this year or next.

The matching requirements for federal money, attached to the new allocations of secondary road funds to counties instead of to the state, are giving county officials not only the direct benefits of federal aid but also a taste of the strict requirement of the federal government which demands that those who would benefit from federal appropriations must also appropriate an equal amount of their own money.

This has long been a condition which has made the State Highway department subject to the availability of state funds for matching, but which other units of government, not required to match, could not reasonably be expected to appreciate.

Now that for the first time secondary road money is being allotted directly to the counties, and must be matched dollar for dollar by the county boards, the county governments are scraping the bottom of the barrel just as the Highway Department has had to do many times in order not to lose millions in federal aid dollars.

Under the present federal program, approximately $691,000 a year is allotted to Minnesota for secondary and feeder road improvements, of which $566,677 is available to the counties and $123,729, or 17.7 per cent, is for use on the State Highway system.

Under the equal-share basis worked out by Commissioner Elsberg, no county will receive less than $10,000 during the four year period.

Utilization of combined population-area-road mileage basis of allotment gives St. Louis County $161,161 as compared to $105,988 for Hennepin County and $88,100 for Ramsey.

Among other counties receiving large allotments because of their large area and road mileages are Itasca with $48,420; Stearns with $45,340; Beltrami with $40,120; Koochiching with $42,160; Marshall with $41,180; Polk with $50,780, and Ottertail with $54,600.

Aitkin, Becker, Blue Earth, Cass, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Freeborn, Goodhue, Morrison, Pine, Renville, Roseau, Todd and Wright counties' allotments range upwards of, or over, the $30,000 mark.

Pennington county will receive $15,120 for its share of the $2,266,708 available between now and 1940.

Fire Department History

We offer here some interesting data on the local fire department written in 1915:

Thief River Falls has one unique distinction—it had no fires without an organized force for fighting them." The first fire of which there is a record occured on March 1, 1893, when a small building owned by John LaBree, occupied by Sam Heasley and located at the west end of the iron bridge, caught fire from a defective chimney. The loss wasn't much but it showed the necessity for an organized fire department.

The honor of being the originators of the first fire department must be divided between F. H. Kratka, Adam Zeh, H. O. Hanson, Hans Nelson and C. A. Robbecke, who were members of the village council during the year 1893. After the Heasley fire, the council decided that the old bucket brigade deserved some assistance, and consequently, on Sept. 15, ordered from the Waterous Engine Co., of Minneapolis, one hook and ladder truck—still part of the equipment—and two 4-gallon Babcock fire extinguishers, the whole costing $494.

The equipment arrived in due time and through the active efforts of H. E. Mussey, who had a happy penchant for being "first" in many of the important things that had to do with Thief River Falls, a volunteer fire department was organized on March 8, 1894. Mr. Mussey was elected as the first chief, Ira C. Richardson was the first secretary and C. A. Robbecke was the first treasurer. The membership of this fire department consisted of every able bodied man in the village who was not afraid to get up at all hours of the night and hasten to the fire hall to help pull the truck to the scene of the conflagration. There were 47 charter members.

In the spring of 1894, the village council purchased the fire engine which is still kept for emergency, and included in the order 1000 feet of hose. The apparatus arrived on March 7, 1894, just one day after the first serious fire in the village, the burning of the Great Northern depot. As soon as the engine and hose were unloaded, a test was demanded, and in the presence of the entire population of the village, the engine was taken to the river, the hose was laid, and a stream of water was thrown upon the scenery, all of the kids and many of the men, a large proportion of whom had never seen a real fire engine in action.

The first uniforms of the "brave fire laddies" consisted of whatever pants were handy when a gala occasion arrived, bright red flannel shirts and regulation caps. Many were the evenings spent by the wives of the firemen, in making those shirts the cream of perfection, each hoping that her "man" would out-shine the next one in his appearance. This first public appearance of the fire department in uniform occured on July 4, 1894, the department being in charge of the celebration and it was some success!

From its organization in 1894, barring the Great Northern depot fire of March 8, of that year, until Feb. 2, 1897, no serious fires occurred, although it must be admitted that the fire fighters eagerly anticipated a conflagration that would test their mettle. On Feb. 7, fire was discovered in the O. P. Johnson store, entailed a loss of $2,500. The next fire occured six weeks later when the Hensel saloon, located where the Northern Hotel recently stood, was deliberately set on fire and burned to the ground. The next great fire occured on Dec. 23, 1898, when the Arlington Hotel burned.

For two years the only remuneration received by the fire department was the glory of being a fire fighter, but on Feb. 25, 1896, the council made provisions to pay the firemen $1 for each fire alarm to which they responded. Up to this time frequent practices were indulged in, the practice alarm being three strokes of the fire bell, repeated for a length of time. This signal was decided upon by H. E. Mussey the fire chief. The fire bell was the Central school bell, and many a time when the practice alarm was given, the pupils would rush breathless to the teacher to ask "where's the fire?"

Emil E. Zeh was the second chief of the fire department, being elected at the first regular meeting of the department in April, 1895. Ira C. Richardson was retained as secretary. The third election, held in April, 1896, resulted in the election of Louis Hanson as chief and Lars Backe as secretary. The contest was a warm one.

YOU'LL GET A BANG OUT OF THIS ONE!

Do you get a kick out of a golf ball's click when you really lean into one on the tee?

Does your heart beat faster when the big fish strikes, and your singing reel almost smokes?

Can a brisk breeze and a taut sail make you feel like a kid again, forgetting care in the sheer joy of action?

Mister, if you're like that, what a bang you'll get out of this big Buick!

You'll go for the way it goes for you. You'll like the quick, eager spurt of its get-away, the buoyant, swayless steadiness of its travel.

You'll thrill to the businesslike manner in which it settles to the pull, its quiet, dogged competence in long, tough going.

You'll welcome the way it cradles you over the bumps, the neat, compact, handily mobile feel of it. You'll be proudly aware of its beauty, of the picture you make riding in its this-minute style.

But don't forget this major thing—it's the buy of the season, price-wise as well as on performance! It's still selling at the lowest price in all Buick history—you can still get a big Buick eight for less than some sixes would cost you.

So don't hold back. Good things, you know, can't last forever. Don't pass up a buy such as Buick is at its low prices now.

In first round play Monday Thief River Falls defeated Winger 7 to 5 after getting off to a bad start in the first inning when Winger got six hits and three runs. From then on, Nicholson, on the mound, steadied down, allowing only two hits and two runs in the next six innings. Perry Peterson led the hitting with two doubles.

In other first round games East Grand Forks defeated Warroad 19 to 3, and Crookston won decisively from Baudette by a 10-1 score. Thief River Falls drew a bye in the second round, in which East Grand Forks defeated Crookston 12 to 11.

By virtue of its victory here Tuesday the East Siders will represent the sub-district in the ninth district tourney at Ulen this week-end. The winner there will participate in the state tournament to be held at Fergus Falls August 3 and 4.

At the Pennington county 4-H achievement day held in this city late last week, Marion Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green, was chosen to represent Pennington county as style queen at the Minnesota state fair Sept. 4-11. She modeled a black silk chiffon ridingote over a black and white flowered slip. She chose white for her accessories.

Dorothy Noper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Noper, was named the grand champion seamstress, and her clothing exhibit placed first over her 39 competitors. Her exhibit consisted of a chick navy blue dress with a diamond necklace as the only trimming. These two girls will receive free trips to the state fair.

The carnival, he explained, was put off owing to the fact that the four-day rain last week lowered the temperature of the water to such an extent as to make it unfit for swimming. LEGISLATURE'S ADJOURNMENT TODAY LIKELY

Conferences Reach Agreement on Controversial Measures

SEE STATE TAX LEVY OF ABOUT 11 MILLS

Homestead Owners Relieved of Portion of State Tax Burden

With only two major bills awaiting final action—the relief appropriation and chain store tax measures—the special session of the Minnesota legislature will wind up its work some time today.

Conference committees on the relief and chain store tax bills have agreed, but technical difficulties in drafting the report prevented its submission Wednesday.

Conferees on the monies and credits bill abandoned hope of reaching agreement and the bill was considered dead.

Final act of the legislature, after the relief and chain store bills have been passed, will be passage of the revenue fund property tax levy. House leaders expected to have the bill ready by Thursday morning. It is expected it will provide for a total state levy, including that for the revenue fund, of about 11 mills in 1937 and 10 mills in 1938, compared to the 12.45 mills in 1938, compared to the 12.45 mills levy in 1936.

Conferees on the big education appropriation bill reached agreement on House and Senate differences shortly after noon Tuesday. The bill totals $24,804,275, an increase of about $750,000 over the total agreed on but not passed at the regular session. On the major controversial item, the allowance for special state school aid, the committee agreed on $7,115,000 for the first year of the biennium and $7,216,000 for the second year. The House had allowed $9,000,000 a year and the Senate, $6,150,000.

A measure designed to save homestead owners of the state approximately a million dollars in state taxes this year was passed last week.

Exempting the first $4,000 valuation of homesteads from a portion of the state tax levy against general property, the bill was given final passage in the house.

It relieves the first $4,000 valuation of homesteads from all state property taxes except that which is levied for debt service. Although it will save home owners only about a million dollars this year, the amount saved will increase as the state's outstanding debts are paid off.

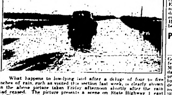
Fine for Boats Friday on Highway 1



What happens to low-lying land after a deluge of four to five inches of rain, such as visited this section last week, is clearly shown in the above picture taken Friday afternoon shortly after the rain had ceased. The picture presents a scene on State Highway 1 east of Thief River Falls and south of the Mavie community. The flood conditions abated as rapidly as overburdened ditches could carry off the surplus water.

Get Promise of Early Start on Highway No. 1

To Call for Bids on Rebuilding Goodridge Road Soon, Says Elsberg

That definite progress is being made in efforts by local men to secure the long-awaited improvement of Highway 1 from Thief River Falls to the Goodridge corner was revealed following a conference last week in St. Paul with N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Mr. Elsberg assured a Civic and Commerce association delegation that bids will be called for in August on the work of reconstructing the heavily traveled highway, and that practically all of the necessary 100-foot right-of-way has been arranged for.

A representative of the state highway department was in the county last week signing up the additional strip of land needed for the right-of-way, which is being donated by owners of abutting property, who are anxious to have the road improved at the earliest possible date.

Included in the group that conferred with the highway chief, were Frank Rinkel, chairman of the Civic and Commerce association road committee; secretary Paul Lundgren, and Alf Borry. Mr. Elsberg also informed the local men that he planned to come to this city August 13 to attend the meeting of the Minnesota division of the Highway 59 association scheduled to be held at the Auditorium.

LAST WEEK'S RAIN CAUSES DAMAGE TO LOW-LYING AREAS

Rainfall in Eastern Area Estimated as High as Nine Inches

While last week's four-day rainfall, bringing a total precipitation estimated at 4 to 5 inches in this section, was of much benefit to crops on the higher land, it caused a considerable impairment of crop prospects in the low-lying areas in the vicinity of Mavie, Goodridge and Grygla, according to reports reaching the city.

Some observers in the east country estimated that upwards of eight or nine inches of rain fell during the week, far more than the ditch system was capable of handling. Water was still standing in many low places this week.

High temperatures prevailed locally Tuesday and Wednesday, making conditions favorable to the development of rust on grain. Samples of Marquis and Ceres wheat from nearby farms heavily infested with black rust were brought into the Times office Wednesday by County Agent Howard Grow. Some potato fields in the eastern section of the county were reported infected by rot following the soaking rains.

The water level in Thief lake rose considerably during the past week, and yesterday was reported to be within one foot of the top of the dam at the outlet.

Booren, he performed the astonishing feat of landing two small-black bass weighing respectively five and four pounds on one plug at the same time. Detecting a strike while trolling, Mr. Curtis started to reel in approximately 150 feet of line, experiencing great difficulty in doing so. When the end of the line came alongside the boat, he discovered the reason—there were two huge bass impaled on two of the three sets of hooks.

8TH GRADE RURAL SCHOOL STUDENTS GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Rev. George V. Peterson Is Speaker at Exercises Last Thursday

LIBRARY NOTES

The trustees of District No. 111 have recently signed a contract for book service covering the next school year period. It is advisable for any school not affiliated with the library to take similar action during the summer so that the most possible use of the service may be had.

The puppet shows which were held each week during the winter have been discontinued for the summer but will no doubt be resumed in the fall.

The Life of Floyd B. Olson by McGrath, a gift of the Farmer Labor Club is being read with much interest.

Following is a list of some of the more recent books:

Kipling ..... Something of Myself
Coward ..... Present Indicative
Freuchen ..... Arctic Adventure
Bolitho ..... King Edward VIII
Carnegie
How to Win Friends and Influence People
Heiser American Doctor's Odyssey
Link ..... Return to Religion
Kaufman
...You Can't Take It With You
Gide ..... Return from U. S. S. R.
Strong ..... Photography for Fun
O'Brien
Best Short Stories for 1937
Silone ..... Bread and Wine
Burns ..... Laurels Are Cut Down
Forbes ..... Paradise

The library has four copies of "Gone With the Wind," in circulation. It is still necessary to have long waiting lists.

Why Insects Walk Upside Down

The feet of an insect that can walk upside down—the fly, for instance—are slightly sticky. The end of a fly's foot is also made very slightly hollow, so that it will cling to anything it touches by air pressure, like circular pieces of hollowed rubber. A fly is very light in weight, so that the slight trace of stickiness together with the air pressure on its tiny feet, makes it very easy for the creature to walk upside down on the ceiling.

Why Eyes Need Care

All persons who suffer from eye trouble are, by no means, going blind. But other kinds of eye trouble can be very serious if neglected. Eye trouble may be caused by a defect in the structure of the eye, specialists tell us, or by a disease of the eye or some other part of the body. Or by a deficiency in the diet, or by improper use of the eyes.

Why Dogs Howl at Music

Howling at music is not uncommon in certain dogs of all breeds. It does not appear to be caused by distaste for music, because the animal usually sits close to the performer instead of running away. It is probably a reflex condition produced by the effect of certain notes, chords, or keys on the emotions of the animal.

Self-Forgetting

When any one is thoroughly interested in some subject, outside of himself, he forgets all about himself and his appearance, his self-conscious bashfulness drops away, and he becomes natural and interesting; but, when self looms up in his mind as the central figure and the all-important theme, all true modesty, dignity, and ingenuousness will take their flight.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

There's an atmosphere about the Capitol, especially in legislative halls that bodes ill for the future. Farmer members are chafing to get home and help with the bounteous harvest, others glance longingly at the fishing tackle and ponder the glorious vacation in vacation in marvelous Minnesota that might have been had an unruly group of House conferees during the late lamented regular session seen fit to compromise and thereby avert a special session, and still others long only to be home to attend the business that has suffered not a little by a two months forced leave of absence.

But these very good reasons for biting at the bit are not the only ones. The thirty day pay limit long since expired and the boys find no pleasure in laying out their own hard earned cash to satisfy the dictatorial appetite of a chief executive who apparently knows no such word as compromise and insists on having his way or keeping the session going until snow flies.

House members this week attempted to get a raise in salary, or perhaps better, an additional $150 to $200 to tide them over a session that from present indications will continue another two or three weeks. And anyone who has lived in a city for any length of time knows that such a sum of money in common parlance "lasts quick". But the Senate is not so kindly disposed in making a further raid on the treasury and chances look slim for members of either body getting any extra compensation, milage expense or whatever name it goes by. The Senate Rules committee has thus far doggedly refused to grant the extra stipend.

Every bright hope was held out for adjournment by Wednesday of this week at the latest, but only again "the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agla." Conference committees failed to get together on the main bills in dispute, namely the Educational bills and the Relief bills.

The conferees on the Money & Credits bill announced agreement on Monday. The Chain Store conferees gave assurance of early agreement and lesser bills came through the conference grist mill happily, but the two mentioned are apparently deadlocked and may bring about a deadlock which will cause an adjournment sine die and the necessity of a second extraordinary session. As these lines are being written the Relief conferees have recessed with scant hope of agreement upon reconvening. Though the Senate has raised the anti from $8,500,000 to $11,000,000 the House conferees steadfastly held out for more. Members close to the House committee say they will be satisfied with nothing less than $13,500,000 and knowing the Senate conferees as I know them, I can say frankly that they have as much chance of getting that amount as a Poland China has of seeing the Pearly Gates.

Late Wednesday afternoon the conferees disagreed on the Educational bill, Which means another long ordeal to iron out differences in that connection. Due to this disagreement and in order to permit conferees to work uninterruptedly, to say nothing of giving the farmer members a much desired opportunity to get home to their work, both bodies adjourned Thursday until Monday evening. While future adjournments cannot be prophecied with any degree of success, it is most certain that unless conference committees have some very pleasing reports to make upon reconvening, another three day adjournment will be taken. This may continue for weeks, each body endeavoring to outlast the other. It may be said that there is no law covering such an endurance marathon.

Bordeaux Spray Needed on 1937 Potato Fields, Says N. W. School Man

Bordeaux sprays are a boon to potato growers this year says Dr. A. G. Vogele, new horticulturist at the Northwest School and Station, Crookston. Recent rains, states Dr. Vogele, have pushed potato plants into a succulent growth which combined with cool weather makes favorable breeding conditions for the late blight and rot of potato vines and tubers.

A continued coating of the leaves with from two to five applications of bordeaux will not only prevent injury from blight but will reduce injury from flea beetles and leaf hoppers to a minimum. Spraying tests over a period of years of average rainfall at the Northwest Station show an average increase of approximately twenty bushels per acre from three applications of bordeaux spray to the potato crop.

An elaborate series of tests of commercial bordeaux dusts and liquid bordeaux sprays are under way at the Northwest Station this year. These tests are being made on both early and late varieties. High pressure traction dusters and liquid sprayers are being used in the tests. The spraying tests are but one of the many features of the potato work at the station.

Carl August Ristau Dies Sunday Noon; Rites Held Wednesday

Carl August Ristau, who has resided in this vicinity since 1892, died Sunday noon at his home at 607 St. Paul Avenue So. after a two-weeks illness. He was in his 80th year at the time of his death.

Mr. Ristau was born October 22, 1857, in Czeskova, West Prussia, Germany. He emigrated in 1884, landing at New York City, where he remained for about one year. In 1885 he came to Chicago and was married there to Albertina Tiefke on January 5, 1889. He and his wife came to Rocksbury township in 1892 and four years later, in 1896, moved to Grand Plain township, Marshall county, where they lived until 1925. In that year they moved to this city, where Mr. Ristau spent the remaining years of his life.

He is survived by his wife and five children, two sons Edward and John, both of Mavie; three daughters, Mrs. Frieda Hostvet of this city, Mrs. Oscar Pomerenke of Bellingham and Mrs. Ed Wangan of Bemidji; also two brothers Emil and John, both of this city, and one sister, Mrs. August Krause, also of this city; and eleven grandchildren.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ristau, one son Fred and two brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the German Lutheran church in this city, Rev. V. E. Schroeder officiating, and interment was made in Zion Cemetery, Mavie.

Twin City Market Week Set for August 1 to 7

Invitations to merchants in all Northwest States have been extended by wholesalers of St. Paul and Minneapolis to attend the 32d semi-annual Twin City Market Week to be held August 1 to 7.

With good crops predicted and Twin City wholesale houses stocked to fill fall and winter orders, Co-chairman A. C. Gasser of Minneapolis and M. B. Lathrop of St. Paul, predicted a new attendance mark for this twice yearly buying event.

The entertainment program includes the semi-annual style show and promenade scheduled at the St. Paul Hotel on Monday, August 2, under the sponsorship of the Twin City Apparel Industries, with the annual National Merchants Association banquet scheduled for Tuesday night in Hotel Nicollet. Earlier in the day directors of the N. M. A. will meet at Hotel Radisson and on Wednesday night a scenic boat ride on the Mississippi River is scheduled.

Indians Horded Emeralds

Spanish conquistadors found the Indians of Mexico with hordes of emeralds. However, no tortures could make the Indians reveal the source. So rare are perfect emeralds, they are worth more than diamonds. Extreme heat destroys their color and value. Their greenness comes from a tiny amount of chromium. It was once believed that emeralds were a charm against illness, and brought success in love. Ground finely, the gems were even taken internally as a medicine.

T. H. 169 Chosen as Laboratory Road for New Road Zoning Law

Trunk Highway No. 169 from Elk River to Grand Rapids has been selected by the state Highway department to become a gigantic laboratory, 160 miles long, on which experiments will be conducted to determine the most effective methods of traffic speed zoning under the new Minnesota Uniform Traffic Code.

N. W. Elsberg, state Highway Commissioner, in whom the Legislature vested authority for enforcement of the new act, announced the selection this week.

On this laboratory road will be worked out the factors of traffic control which will determine the various speed zones to be posted under varying conditions of traffic and road bed throughout the nearly 11,500 miles of the state trunk highway system. Among other things to be determined will be the arrangement and design of signs to be used in posting the roads for the various speed zones provided by law.

Experimental signs, in various sizes, colors, and types of lettering will be ordered immediately by the Highway department with the expectation that they will be posted on this experimental highway by August 1.

The major part in this new zoned speed experiment will be that played by the motoring public, as the Highway department, Commissioner Elsberg pointed out, desires to obtain the reaction of as many drivers as possible to the various speeds posted on various sections of road, which types of sign are more legible and more commanding, and the efficacy of other methods tried out in the new statewide effort at a more safe and still more reasonable system of traffic regulation.

WHOSE ACCIDENT CAR OR OWNER?

Red Wing.—Who is responsible for the accident, the car or the owner was the question which arose when a car parked here early in the morning got tired of standing still and started to back up. While its owner was seated in a lunch room the car backed across the sidewalk and landed with a crash through the side of a furniture store. Seeing his car on a rampage, the man jumped up, sandwich in hand, rushed out the door, ran down the street, jumped in behind the steering wheel of the car, put his foot on the gas, and was soon racing down the street. Incidentally, he did not pay for his lunch nor show any concern for the damage to the building.

500 Women at Science Meet

Not a single man among the 500 scientists at a conference in Moscow, Russia. All the speakers as well as all the members of association were women. One was V. P. Lebedeva, a professor of medicine. Another, Professor M. L. Rokhlina, stated that the number of women students in the universities had grown from 16,700 in 1914 to 163,000. Half the total number of doctors in Russia are women. Most of the women "scientists" are found in medicine, chemistry and biology.

Big Landlord Class Not Permanent, Study Shows

Even though the proportion of tenant-operated land in Minnesota grew from 25 per cent in 1900 to 47 per cent in 1935, it is apparent that there is no large permanent landlord class in Minnesota. This is indicated in an analysis of the farm land situation in the state by George A. Pond, University Farm agr. ultural economist.

The type of landlord has an important bearing on the land tenure problem, says Mr. Pond, and in spite of popular opinion, the landlords of Minnesota are predominantly individual rather than institutional or corporate. Farmers, both active and retired, the widows of farmers, and the estates of farmers hold title to practically 46 per cent of the rented land in the state. This type of ownership is largely transitional, since a large number of these farms will be passed on to sons, sons-in-law and other relatives. The major portion of rented land in the state is for sale, says Mr. Pond, and institutional owners are largely involuntary landlords who have acquired the land through foreclosure or voluntary deed from stressed borrowers. In most cases these landlords are attempting to liquidate their holdings as rapidly as possible.

In discussing efforts being made to enable tenants to buy farms, Mr. Pond says, "Improvement in leases and leasing practices designed to provide equitable treatment for the tenant, encouragement of good farming practices, and the repaying of the tenant for his contributions to the productivity of the farm would doubtless do more to improve the lot of the tenant than any wholesale attempt at the extension of farm ownership. Tenant operation represents a process whereby a young man may accumulate the experience and capital needed before he can safely assume ownership."

HATCHER GIVES UP; OLD SOL BRINGS OUT PHEASANTS

Red Wing. Even pheasants eggs are hatching out in the sun. Four young pheasants first saw the light of day in a garbage can where as many eggs had been discarded as "unhatchable" by Roy Eckholm, pheasant magnate. Exposed to the heat of the sun, the eggs hatched the following day and a neighbor heard the young chicks protestingly peeping against their confinement. The eggs had been placed there after a batch of young pheasants in the Walton league's electric hatcher had failed to hatch. The league plans to stock about 800 birds in the Red Wing vicinity this season.

The End of the Philly-Loo

IT IS a well-known fact that the philly-loo bird is extinct but accounts of the death of the last survivor vary. Larry Flint, a Pennsylvania newspaper man, says he saw the tragedy out in Wyoming.

"The philly-loo was ferociously fond of the holes in doughnuts. His method of eating them was unique; he backed up to them, slipped his tail through them, then flicked it around in front and fed himself.

"An old-timer out there, knowing of this peculiarity, sought out the last surviving philly-loo and laid several doughnut holes down in front of the bird. In order to eat the hole, the philly-loo had to move his tail around into the proper juxtaposition. This brought about his end."

But F. E. Fuller of the Rhame (N. D.) Review has another version of the story. He says that he and another editor had the job of hunting down the last survivors of the race to serve at a banquet for some visiting newspaper men. Near a mountain in the Bad Lands they flushed a covey and started chasing them.

"The philly-loos began circling the mountains," relates Mr. Fuller. "As they did so each bird grabbed the tail of the bird ahead and as they mounted upward and the circle narrowed, they swallowed to take up the slack. They kept circling and swallowing until each bird had completely swallowed the bird ahead, and they entirely disappeared from before our eyes. All that is left are a few tracks circling the mountain that look just like those made by an automobile driven by a one-armed driver. I've never seen a philly-loo bird since that time."

LIGHTS OFF AS FISH LINE SHORTS CURRENT

Park Rapids—Park Rapids streets were lightless one night not long past midnight, all because of a small boy and his fish line. When the time came to switch on the street lights a number of reports came in to the power company's office that lamps had burned out, and a service crew was sent out to make replacements. It was then found that there was a short on the street lighting circuit, and the crew started patrolling the lines to find the trouble. The cause was located near a substation on a 2,100-volt service line, upon which a fish line was wound, causing a short and burning out all of the street lights. Evidently a youthful fisherman had swung his pole too vigorously, and the line had become entangled with the high voltage wires. Luckily, the boy was not injured.

Severe Winter in Ohio

In 1799 Ohio experienced what can literally be called a severe winter. Practically everything froze solid. Animals dropped in their tracks, wild turkeys dropped from their roosts, corn, to cite one foodstuff, rocketed to $200 per bushel, and the scattered settlers became sick from living off the frozen animals.

A hen is another party who can never find things where she laid them.

IT RAINED LAST WEEK

There is a difference of opinion as to how much it rained last week. Low estimates put it down around four inches. From there the guesses vary up to ten and eleven inches. And in this case it is possible that both extremes may be right. It rained more in some places than in others. But whatever the total was, it was a lot of water and whenever that much water comes within a three day period there is going to be damage. There was last week.

Some farmers benefited by the heavy rain. Others saw exceptionally good crop prospects washed away. Some farmers benefited by a system of ditches that carried surplus water away. Others suffered because ditches, instead of carrying away the flood waters, brought the flood waters to them.

Last week's rains proved that our ditch system needs an overhauling. For one thing we need to adopt a program that will keep the main ditches open and clean in dry weather in order that they will serve a useful purpose in wet weather. For another thing, provision should be made to control flood waters so that those who farm along the main ditches will not be flooded by the waters that pour in from the smaller ditches.

It would seem that such control could be effected in two ways. By installing flood gates at the outlets of feeder ditches the flow through the main ditches could be limited to their capacity. Such an arrangement would mean that water would be released in a more orderly manner. The difficulty would be in maintaining proper control of the gates. Individuals could not be depended on to do the thing equitably. There would have to be centralized control, probably in the engineer's office, and that would not be entirely satisfactory.

The only other alternative would be to make a few necessary corrections in the system itself. We have now experienced enough floods in certain sections of the county to know pretty well where the mistakes were made when the ditches were built. These mistakes should be corrected. And the cost of correcting such mistakes should not be charged up only to those who are now suffering because of those mistakes. To some extent, at least, those mistakes are a county responsibility.

In recent years flood waters have not been a problem. We have experienced a cycle of dry years. Perhaps we are now at the end of this dry cycle. If that is the case we are going to hear much talk of the drainage problem again. As we see it, the one big defect with our drainage system is that it attempts to drain too much land that never should have been drained. The result has been a too rapid run-off into inadequate main ditches and the flooding of lands that otherwise would not have been flooded.

And all of this because it rained last week. It may not rain again for years and years. When it does, the story will probably be the same. We will solemnly wag our heads and point out what should have been done.

WHICH IS THE BEST

A recent survey reveals the interesting fact that of "176 executives responsible for the management of 95 per cent of the steel industry's capacity, nine out of ten rose from the ranks as follows: 81 began as laborers, 26 as clerks or stenographers, 25 as engineers or chemists, and 19 as messengers, while most of our large utility operators came up from a lineman job." Such a record should be encouraging to young fellows who, for various reasons, have been unable to secure college educations, or who, because of an unwise selection of parents, are not likely to inherit a large fortune.

And what is true of the steel industry and the utilities is quite generally true of all business. Most of the leaders come up from the ranks. They have come up by the hard road, earning their advancement step by step as they have proven themselves qualified.

In this process of selection there is much that is brutal, much that is unfair. Merit is not always rewarded. Justice does not always prevail. The very fact, however, that so large a proportion of our leaders come from the ranks is in itself proof that in most cases ability is recognized. There is much truth in the statement that our business leaders are elected by the votes of satisfied customers.

There are those who now would change this manner of selection. They would reduce business to a branch of politics. Industry would be operated, not for profit but for service, presumably as the post office department is now operated. Our business leaders would then be selected as we now select our post masters. Good jobs would go to the politically deserving. The only really important concern of anyone then would be politics. The big problem confronting the youth who aspired to success would be to figure out which political machine he should tie to.

We wonder if such an arrangement wouldn't be a terrible disappointment to most of those sincere people who now advocate it as a means of improving our living conditions. How discouraging such an arrangement would be to those who really are qualified to operate a business. It probably is true that some of our business leaders have notable shortcomings. But when, as a group, they are compared to our successful politicians, their stature, mentally and morally, is as giants among pygmies.

Another thing that is hard to figure out is how so much water could have been floating around up there in the air before it started raining. They tell us that water travelled all the way from the Pacific ocean. How much would it have cost to ship that water in by the tank car rate.

Russell Olson proves to our readers this week that we are an unreliable source of information because we said "senate" when we should have said "house". We wish readers would do this sort of thing more often. It's darned discouraging to grind out a column like this week after week without a single reaction. So when somebody does tell us just how terrible they think this stuff is we really feel good about it. It makes us think that maybe someone is reading it after all.

In spite of last week's rain, there are going to be some mighty fine crops in this territory (if it doesn't rain or hail or storm too much from now on in) and with the county fair coming a couple of weeks later than usual it should be possible to have an exceptionally fine agricultural exhibit this year. Keep the fair in mind when the crop ripens.

BREAD AND PEACE
(New York Times)

For "bread and peace", a generation ago, the Russian soldiers deserted the armies and supported the revolution. There remains a vital connection between arms and the man, the battle line and the bread line. Military experts who figure the comparative strength of armaments in building, and political experts who attempt to evaluate the varied and fluctuating factors making for and against war, cannot ignore the bearing on their calculations of what goes on in the wheat fields. Even mechanized armies continue to march on their stomachs. When we read that Germany faces her second poor crop, 15 per cent below normal; that Italy this year is forced to buy abroad nearly one third of her grain requirements; that the Polish crop is hardly sufficient for domestic needs; that the prospects of a good harvest fade in Rumania, when we know that in the great grain producing countries, the United States, Canada and the Argentine, surpluses for export are comparatively small, and that the Russian output is problematical, we are moved to wonder if this scarcity is not as powerful as any deterrent against military adventure on the grand scale.

There is enough wheat, it seems, for normal needs under normal conditions of trade. But if Europe is under arms, Soviet grain is unavailable for England and Italy. If Germany is at war, there is little chance that the Danubian crops will flow through their usual channels. There is every prospect that the shortage will be felt by the just and unjust alike, the haves and have nots, the bond and the free. The surest way to avoid famine is to avoid war, and this may explain the anxious preference of the war-makers to fight their battle in the Spanish bull-ring on a scale commensurate with their bread supply.

WHILE THE POSTAL DEFICIT MOUNTS
(Philadelphia Inquirer)

If all the pieces of franked mail sent out by the executive departments at Washington were laid end to end it would be much cheaper for the taxpayer. And it is a question whether the public, deluged with reports and official propaganda, would suffer.

According to Representative Engel of Michigan, Congressmen's franks cut a small figure in the total amount of free matter that burdens the mail bags. Last year they posted only 29 million pieces, while the departments let loose a Niagara of 660 million postage free documents of all sorts.

The cost for paper and printing of these more or less valuable communications over a four year period is estimated at 98 million dollars. The loss of postal revenue is put at 13 million dollars. At this rate if a couple more departments are added, as planned, to the present governmental setup, Mr. Farley will have to order his red ink by the barrel.

Senate Keeps Legislature in Deadlock, headlines the impartial Minnesota Leader. And we thought it took two to make a quarrel.

John L. Lewis is now undertaking to organize public employes. It will be interesting to note the administration's attitude should a strike be attempted.

Logically enough, there was "an automobile accident last week in Grand Forks on Skidmore av.

Relief costs are boosting county tax levies in Minnesota to record high marks. The money, folks are beginning to suspect, doesn't come out of the air.

The old-fashioned saloon may have had its iniquities, we are reminded, but it never had a glass with lipstick on the rim.

A statistician tells us that 99 per cent of Hollywood's beauties don't know how to wear clothes. But they do know how not to wear them.

The federal internal revenue bureau took more than $50,000,000 out of Minnesota during the past year. This state evidently is doing its share to support the new deal.

What's the use? asks a colleague. If you fail, you're a public burden, and if you succeed you're a public menace.

And we were beginning to think it couldn't rain any more.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times, July 21, 1927

L. M. Rayson and V. C. Noper were reelected members of the local board of education. T. K. Rystad was elected president of the Farmers Exchange Elevator company, succeeding O. N. Olson. Mrs. D. W. Ayers were elected general chairman of the nutrition project achievement day. Many motorists are visiting the local tourist camp, as many as 16 tents having been counted in one evening. J. H. Hay and John Brandt spoke at a picnic celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the St. Hilaire cooperative creamery. Commander Kern Olson and W. L. Carlisle were named delegates from the local Legion post to the state convention at Hibbing. Mrs. C. D. Gustafson left for Manistique, Michigan, to visit with relatives.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From News-Press, July 19, 1917

Attorney G. Howard Smith has been placed in charge of the Home State bank, which was closed recently. Receipts of the Thief River Falls postoffice for the past fiscal year reached a new peak of $21,080.42. President Edmund Pennington of the Soo Line was in the city today in the course of an inspection trip. Denis [illegible], one of the oldest members of the local fire department, resigned recently. The N. P. Dodge company was conducting a whirlwind sale of lots in Fairway addition at the north edge of the city. Mr. [illegible] Hanson and daughters of Minneapolis are visiting relatives in this city.

PLANE STRIKES HAY STACK, IS DAMAGED

Fertile—An unbooked "thriller" was witnessed by fair-goers here one afternoon last week when an airplane pilot misjudged his landing requirements, hit a haystack and had a real crack-up. The plane was badly damaged, but the pilot escaped without injuries.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

When Governor Benson said last week, after his two-day study of the new income tax bill sent him by the Legislature, that "no self-respecting liberal governor could affix his signature" to it, much more than the indignation of an honest progressive was revealed. The Governor knew, as everybody at the Capitol was coming to know, that the Senate was deliberately continuing its work of sabotage of the House program in its efforts to protect, as it has always done, the special interests and trusts.

It is well to recall that last fall Republican campaigners promised the state a tax program based on ability to pay. These, in fact, were the identical words contained in the Republican state platform. Liberals at that time pointed out how false these promises sounded, but it has remained for the Legislative session to prove the correctness of that contention. The Republican-dominated Senate, true to its colors, continues to legislate in favor of wealth and against the interests of the common people. The income tax bill is proof of it.

A ruling by Attorney General Ervin invokes the new teachers' tenure law to prove that a proposed clause in the contracts of teachers in the public schools at International Falls is invalid.

This clause gives both school board and teachers the right to terminate teaching services upon 30 days' written notice. However, according to Chapter 161, Laws of 1937, teachers' services must end at the close of the school year only, and then either in the event of the teacher's own resignation or her removal by a majority vote of the full membership of the school board.

Debts of 27,913 farmers have been scaled down $46,142,219 in the 21 months ended May 31, according to announcement by the Resettlement Administration. Voluntary farm debt committees serve as mediators between overburdened farm debtors and their creditors and suggest arrangements that will permit the debtor to retain his land and possessions, furnish a basis for his economic rehabilitation and be fair to his creditors, the Resettlement Administration said. Because the committees have no power to enforce their decisions, it is becoming increasingly hard for farmers to secure adjustments.

The vote, 260 to 96, overriding President Roosevelt's veto of continued low interest rates on farm loans, was a stinging protest at last week's attempt on the part of the President to balance the budget at the expense of the farmer.

"President Roosevelt's veto of the farm loan bill is to me both amazing and disappointing," asserted Representative Henry G. Teigan in the Twin Cities this week. "This bill was the one measure offered at the present session which was of some direct and practical value to the workers in agriculture."

Representative Johnson, also in the Twin Cities at the time of the veto but who was [illegible] to override the veto, said "The President has been ill advised on this veto. Unless the farmers are relieved of the tremendous debt load they will have no money left with which to buy products produced in labor. Balancing of the budget [illegible] the spook they rattle in Washington closer to justify such acts as cuts in relief and increases in interest charges to farmers."

The overriding came the very day after President Roosevelt vetoed his vote to the measure which extended for two years the 3½ per cent interest rates on farm loans.

MINNESOTA GASOLINE TAX COLLECTIONS GAIN 25 PCT.

Minnesota's gasoline tax collections for June 1937 increased $677,211 or 25% over collections for June 1936 according to Joseph R. Schroeder, secretary, Minnesota Petroleum Industries committee.

Mr. Schroeder stated that the increased revenue was due principally to the unusual increase in automobile registrations and heavy tourist traffic and also the additional one cent increase in the gasoline tax.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

President Roosevelt and Alfred Solstad, State Senator from Polk county, seem to agree with Shylock's idea about getting his pound of flesh, and they also seem to agree about where to get it—from the debt-ridden farmer. Queer is it not that a democrat and a republican should be in such perfect harmony when it comes to the questions of usury and also of aiding the farmer?

According to the press Roosevelt's reason for vetoing the bill continuing the reduced interest rates on Federal and Federal Land Bank loans was to "balance the budget," although his democratic campaigners in the agricultural states had stated that he was even for the Frazier Bill in 1932, which bill provided only 1½ per cent interest.

Mr. Solstad stated to me that he wanted to protect the state from losses on Rural Credit bonds, so I suppose that was the reason he offered an amendment to the 3 per cent bill, raising the rate to 4 per cent. He has seen dozens of his constituents go broke on rural credit farms, right in the heart of the Red River Valley and still refuses to aid them at all worth while.

Andrew Trovaton.

My dear Mr. Editor:

Merely to correct the record. In your editorials of July 8, you stated that "President Roosevelt is not demanding a thorough investigation of the charges preferred against a certain New Yorker in the Senate". Now I don't wish to merely quibble, but there were no charges preferred in the senate. What you may have had in mind was Rep. Ham Fish's outburst in the house—an outburst which by the way was deprecated Republican Representative Treadway. And Fish was challenged to produce evidence to substantiate his contentions, but as they had been based on only what he called "responsible hearsay", so you can see that the spirit was there but the substance was missing.

So you can see how disappointed I was to see that your "credited" the senate with these charges, when you could as easily stated it was the brainstorm of Republican Ham Fish, and in the House. But then I realize that if you had stated of these facts the [illegible] and prejudice of the "charges" would have been so evident. Or do you not wish to have your readers know the facts upon which you base your editorial?

All your readers are not as fortunate as I, in being able to read the congressional record, and so they may believe what you write. Emphasis on the verb "may".

But it was said that immortal Homer even nodded, so what else can be expected of a Dahlgaard?

Sincerely
Russell Olson

Flying Fish, Sailfish

The flying fish flies, after a fashion, and the sailfish does not. Flying fishes, of which there are a number of species, are small and light but have long, winglike pectoral fins. The fish works up speed in the water, throws itself into the air, and the "wings" are able to carry it for some distance. The sailfish is a very large deep-sea fish related to the swordfish, but having teeth, and characterized by its large high dorsal fin, which is suggestive of a sail.

VETERAN DYNAMITER HURT BY A SMALL FIRECRACKER

Luverne—"Better let Dad do it—you might get hurt," Frank LeMaire, Rock county employee who has been touching off dynamite for years without even getting a scratch, told his children on July 4th and now he is carrying his arm in a sling as the result of a firecracker explosion. After delivering his touching ultimatum, Frank proceeded to get himself all set for a big afternoon while his two children sat miserably on the steps watching him have all the fun. Frank was enjoying himself hugely. Finally, however, one firecracker failed to go off. Not wanting to miss a single bit of pleasure, Mr. LeMaire picked up the "dead" firecracker and bang!—it went off in his hand. Three badly burned fingers on his right hand were the result.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY

There is a wonderful fascination about the work of Private Secretaries. They earn good salaries, and they have great opportunities.

A Private Secretary is more than an office assistant. A Price That Is Surprise

A price reduction on the McCormick-Deering "F-12" Farmall Tractor of $[illegible].

This is the surprise reduction announcement we received in the mail from the Harvester Co. last Monday.

Because of the general advance in price of all manufactured products, due to labor and raw material cost, that we got this special price reduction from the Harvester Co. we feel it is indeed a welcome surprise.

This places the McCormick-Deering "F-12" Farmall in the outstanding Tractor Price Bargain. It is not only a Special Bargain deal, but actually a donation to anyone taking advantage of this tractor investment while this $[illegible] discount is in effect.

We have no assurance as to how long this special price discount is going to be in effect, but it's on now, and we are convinced, it is a special inducement to win the field of tractor power that rightly belongs to the Farmall and if it isn't a McCormick-Deering it is not a Farmall.

If you buy a Farmall you will in years to come appreciate the wise choice as you had the logical machine for tractor farming. That all McCormick-Deering Mowers, Binders, Sweep Rake, Cultivator and what not, are built to fit and work properly with the McCormick-Deering Farmall.

Right now we are in a position to fill orders on "F-12" Farmalls, in all types of equipment, Steel Wheels, Rubber Tires, wide and narrow tread.

Do not be misled by some dealer's over allowance on your trade-in, where they have special discounts you do not know about. We believe in quoting the discount price and give you honest trade-in value allowance. When you buy McCormick-Deering you buy honest value.

"The telephone has always more than paid for itself on my place"

"A telephone on the farm is worth much more than it costs . . . I can't see how any farmer can get along without it . . . The telephone has always more than paid for itself on my place, and during a recent fire help was called by telephone which could not have been done in sufficient time by any other means . . . Yes—a telephone on the farm is necessary for every-day calls and comfort and security in times of emergency."

A telephone more than pays for itself on the farm for business alone . . . and, in an emergency, such as fire, thieves, accident or sickness, one call may be worth more than service costs for a lifetime.

$2,100,000 PAVING PROGRAM WILL BE LAUNCHED AUG. 6

Jobs Include 57 Miles Paving, Also Grading and Surfacing

The most extensive paving and highway construction program announced by the Minnesota Highway department in more than a year was launched this week when N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, called for bids on August 6 on approximately two and a half million dollars worth of work.

This new construction program will provide for $2,100,000 worth of paving, to construct 57 miles of paved trunk roads; $220,000 worth of grading work; $96,000 in bituminous surfacing, and $50,000 for three bridges.

The widespread program of highway improvement, the major program to be announced during the year 1937, was made possible through federal and state funds that were made available by the one cent addition to the state gasoline tax. Work will be provided for hundreds of men who will be employed by the successful bidders. The call for bids was issued immediately upon telegraphic receipt from Washington of approval of the program by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Work will be under way soon after the August 6 letting in 13 counties: Houston, Murray, Pipestone, Cottonwood, Watonwan, Wilkin, Crow Wing, Wabasha, Stearns and Kittson. The Kittson county project includes 10.3 miles of bituminous treatment between Hallock and St. Vincent. The Ottertail county project calls for paving eight miles between New York Mills and Bluffton.

Helmer Sahl, a mainstay of the pitching staff of the Thief River Falls baseball team this season, took a first step toward entry into big league play Wednesday when he signed up with the Crookston ball club for the remainder of the season.

If his performance there meets requirements, he will be passed along to teams in bigger leagues until eventually he might become a member of the St. Louis Cardinal team, for which the Crookston and other clubs serve as "farms".

Sahl, who recently came here from Mayville, N. D., also signed a contract last Friday to report next spring to one of the Cardinals' minor league teams for a tryout. The local men caught the eye of Cardinal scouts last week when a tryout camp was conducted at Crookston.

SEES ENLARGED TOURIST BUREAU AS BUSINESS AID

Guy W. Cravens of Milaca Is Appointed Deputy Commissioner

Enlargement of the state tourist bureau as an added means of attracting visitors to Minnesota was forecast in a statement issued last week by H. C. Wenzel, commissioner of conservation.

Pointing out that tourists this year will spend approximately $70,000,000 in the state, Commissioner Wenzel said that business men in every part of the state would be benefited by further advertising of Minnesota's outdoor attractions. Plans for expanding the tourist bureau are already under way, he said.

"We plan a long-time comprehensive program which will make Minnesota much more attractive not only for our visitors but for all of our own people," the commissioner said.

"Recreational facilities of the state are doubly important today because of economic trends toward shorter hours for those employed in office and industry. This in turn provides much more time to play. Here again the work of the conservation department brings us in close touch with all citizens."

Guy W. Cravens, Milaca newspaper man, last week assumed his new duties as Deputy Commissioner of Conservation.

Cravens, a son of State Senator Fay Cravens of the fifty-fifth district, is a member of the Isaak Walton League and organized several of its chapters in Minnesota.

For the past fifteen years he has been active in Boy Scout work, during recent years directing scout camps on the iron range. He is the author of "Wilderness Trails Camps for Boys in Minnesota's Arrowhead". He is 38 years old, married and has two children.

Conservation Chief

H. C. WENZEL

No state department has such a distinct advantage and such an opportunity for service as the conservation department, H. C. Wenzel, recently appointed commissioner announced in a statement last week.

Commissioner Wenzel stated that people are directly interested in the functions of the five divisions of the conservation department because they so vitally affect recreation activities.

"We plan a long-time comprehensive program which will make Minnesota much more attractive not only for our visitors but for all of our own people," the commissioner said.

Enlargement of the State Tourist Bureau as an added means of attracting visitors to the state was forecast in the statement. Wenzel pointed out that tourists in Minnesota this year will spend approximately seventy million dollars. "This vast sum benefits not only resort owners and employees but business men in every part of the state," he said.

Citizens Urged to Enlist in Traffic Safety Move

Minnesota residents are urged to take the initiative in participation in the statewide campaign for supporting safety committee memberships to expand traffic safety work.

The request came from A. V. Rohweder of Duluth, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety Committee, who asked that non-motorists as well as motorists seek the memberships.

"Enrollment lists and membership insignia are available at numerous places," Rohweder said, "but in some cases, there is a reluctance upon the part of those in charge to solicit the public.

"Such is the case at many filling stations. The majority of these stations have the memberships available, so we urge that the memberships be asked for. If this is done, the drive will be a success, with a resulting increase of the safety activity which has already saved numerous lives in the state."

The memberships may be obtained through a biennial fee of 25 cents. The funds will be used to expand safety work in local communities and counties.

Wyoming Writer Wins Prize for Being Best Rural Correspondent

Finley Petrie, who for the past quarter century has worked in the general store at Opal, Wyo., a town of fifty inhabitants, has been judged the best country newspaper correspondent of 1937, it was announced today by Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Country Home Magazine, which sponsors the annual award to crossroads writers.

"Fin" Petrie, who writes a weekly column of Opal news for The Gazette in nearby Kemmerer, has built up a large and loyal following of readers. Guido Bott, news editor of The Gazette, says that "our paper could hardly do without his weekly correspondence. Fom a little wool-gathering center he writes live news shrewdly interspersed with witticisms that have point, leave no sting, and carry the flavor of the place."

Petrie is the first man to win the annual award, which consists of $200 in cash and a trip to New York and Washington. Previous winners were Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Mahnkey, of Oasis, Mo., and Mrs. Susan Frawley Eisele, of Blue Earth, Minn. The award is equivalent, in rural journalism, to the Pulitzer Prize in the metropolitan press.

The winning work was chosen from more than 3,500 clippings from country newspapers, submitted by the editors as the writing of their best correspondents.

LOCAL WORKERS WILL BE GIVEN HARVEST JOBS

NRS Offices Meeting Demand Thus Far, Says E. R. Stanghelle

With the 27 offices of the National Reemployment Service working together as a network in supplying harvest hands and other labor during the season, prospects are bright for the efficient and orderly movement of workers throughout the state, says E. R. Stanghelle, manager of the Thief River Falls office.

Through the reporting system now in use, by which all NRS offices report daily to their state headquarters in St. Paul, all offices in the state are kept currently informed regarding the situation elsewhere in the state, he said.

In response to demands of farmers that thoroughly qualified local men be sent to them for employment, the National Reemployment office is making every effort to fill existing jobs with workers from the community in which the jobs exist, Mr. Stanghelle reports. By this means the farmer obtains workers whose references can be verified, and whose community interest is comparable with that of the employer. The worker is thus saved unnecessary migration in seeking employment.

The information comes from Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul, state director of the National Reemployment Service, that thus far all orders for harvest hands have been filled, and that all offices have been instructed to make a special effort to use the maximum of local labor. All government agencies, he said, are coordinating their efforts to this end. Heavy rains in some parts of the state have retarded harvest work, he said, but the rush will be on in full blast soon.

All persons interested in securing harvest jobs are asked to keep in close touch with the National Reemployment office. When they have finished one job and are looking for another, says Mr. Stanghelle, they should also report back to the NRS office. They can thus be referred to points as close to home as possible.

Current information about harvest facts in the state is always available at the local office. Farmers are urged to make their demands for workers known as early as possible so that plans can be made accordingly.

According to an explorer, a tiger will not harm you if you carry a white walking cane. That might depend, we should think, on how fast you carry it.—Atlanta Journal.

Pioneer Days Revived by Farmer Moving 900 Miles

Fairmont.—While only the pioneers can speak vividly of the covered wagon's laborious entrance into the frontier one farmer and his family are experiencing them as they make a year's journey by a caravan of wagons and teams from Thief River Falls, Minnesota to Marshfield in southern Missouri. This distance is more than 900 miles, not too much for a two-day jaunt by automobile. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Krueger and five children stopped one night last week in Fairmont with a caravan consisting of a 1919 Ford, semi-trailer—and a procession of a cow wagon, house trailer, hay rack, auxiliary wagon and buggy, drawn by three teams of horses who gave up here unable to move another hoof. The personnel consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Krueger, Florence, 20; Opal, 18; August, 17; Bernita, 15; Donald, 4, Donald's cat, two dogs, six horses, five cattle. The caravan was formed last October, when, after 21 years in Pennington county, the Kruegers started south, crawling across country at the rate of 15 or 20 miles a day, camping at the roadside by night. Hampered by snow, they gave up in the face of a bad storm at New London, where Mr. Krueger got his family through the winter doing odd jobs. The journey was resumed in June.

Elsberg Awards Paving Job North of Crookston

A contract for $109,960.09 of matched federal aid for widening, straightening, grading and paving state trunk highway Number 61 through White Bear Lake to care for both residents and tourist traffic from the Twin Cities north to Duluth, the Arrowhead country and Canada, has been awarded as part of a $165,654.09 letting for road work in several sections of the state, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. A matched federal aid grading and paving job on trunk highway 75, one mile north of Crookston, was awarded the Hallet Construction Co., Crosby, at $28,536.87, with work to start July 21.

COUPLE BUYS LICENSE IN 1900, MARRIES THIS YEAR

A Hennepin county couple was on its honeymoon last week, just 37 years after having taken out a marriage license. John Woodruff and Alma Wilson, who in 1900 at the ages of 30 and 26, respectively, took out a license in Minneapolis, last week came to Anton A. Segner, justice of the peace at St. Bonifacius, produced the old license, and were married.

OVER 500 DRIVERS FORFEIT LICENSES IN FIRST 6 MONTHS

Month of June Sets All-Time Mark for Revocation of Licenses

With the month of June hanging up an all-time record for revocations of drivers' licenses, 522 Minnesota motorists have lost their right to drive a car during the first half of this year, according to a report received by N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner, from the drivers' license division.

At the same time Gil Carmichael, director of the license division, presented figures which revealed that 307 suspensions had been ordered for the first six months of 1937.

Women drivers had their inning when it was disclosed by the license division's statistics that of the 522 revocations only six were from women while 516 were from men. The same ratio prevailed in suspensions, with only five women being suspended from driving as against 302 men.

With 161 persons being deprived of their drivers' licenses for law violations, June became a record breaking month. June a year ago is second high with 146 persons losing their right to drive a car in Minnesota.

Sixty-one licenses were also suspended during last June. Reckless driving accounted for 30 of the suspensions. Of the 522 drivers' licenses revoked this year, intoxication has been responsible for 507. In June, 158 of the 161 drivers losing their licenses did so because of drunkenness.

For the past month, St. Louis County residents, with 31 revocations, were the hardest hit; Hennepin county was second with 24 and Ramsey county third with 14. For the year to July 1, however, Hennepin county leads with 146 revocations, Ramsey county is second with 100 and St. Louis county third with 68. Mower lead the less densely populated counties with 17 revocations.

In suspensions, Hennepin county again led in June with 19, Blue Earth county was second with eight and Ramsey and Winona were tied with seven each. St. Louis had only three suspensions. For the first six months, Hennepin county had 93 suspensions, Ramsey county 58 and Blue Earth county 20.

The increase in revocations and suspensions of drivers' licenses is taken as indication that the highway patrol and local judges are "bearing down" on traffic law violators in interests of safety.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

INDIAN LORE

There are two sides to every question. For some time we have been dealing with this region's Indians in what might be considered the orthodox style. This means that we have given much attention to Indian battles between different tribes, raids on white settlements and clashes with troops. Now all this, of course, is true but there are phases of Indian life and qualities of Indian character that present an entirely different picture.

It is appropriate that a consideration be given to this other side of the question at this time with the 75th anniversary of the Sioux outbreak in Minnesota approaching. There are many white persons interested in Indian history who deplore the tendency to paint the Indian black and who present many aguments to show that the redman in his natural state was a fine person, not necessarily a pacifist, but rigidly and inherently committed a strict code of ethics. One of these white champion of the Indian is Mr. Frank Hopkins of Fairfax, Minn., noted as the man who was active in the restoration of Fort Ridgely and a leader in the annual celebration there marking the anniversary of the attack on the fort in the outbreak.

Before dealing with Mr. Hopkins' view we shall get closer to home and explain how we happen to be writing this article. We have before us a copy of the Record, a magazine largely historical published at Fargo in the 90's by Col. C. Lounsberry, a pioneer of Bismarck and long a noted North Dakota historian. He has been dead several years. The issue before us is that of July, 1895. We find in it a number of fine photographs of Chippewa and Sioux chiefs.

We find in this issue no article concerning these Indians although there is one dealing with North Dakota Sioux. However inferences and indirect references seem to indicate that Colonel Lounsberry was prepared to give the Indian his due which was remarkably in view of the fact that he lived on the frontier at a time when the troubles between the whites and the Indians almost were feudal. But, of course, he had reason to write favorably of the Chippewa, for we know that they were as a tribe invariably peaceable and also were inclined to live an orderly, industrious existence, a tendency which does not seem to have been copied from the whites but on the contrary to have originated in their own midst. Because of this status of the early Chippewa and Cree it is especially pleasant for the writer to be able to pay here his respects to these forebears of the men and women of this area in whose veins courses the blood of early chiefs and braves.

Supplementing these deductions are the reminiscences of Mrs. Rondeau of Pembina who was a ward of Little Shell. She speaks very highly of this chief and undoubtedly his character was far better then that of many whites on the frontier in his times. Incidentally, we find many examples in history of intelligent appreciation of the Indian character on the part of whites. Helen Hunt Jackson, the well known novelist of an earlier day, wrote enthusiastically of the western Indian and cried to high heaven his wrongs at the hands of the whites. The Sioux in this section had their high standards and their defenders.

Mr. Hopkins, to whom we have referred previously in this article, cites many instances of injustice to Indians and of misinterpretation of their deeds and character. But, getting closer to home again, we encounter in the issue of the Record already mentioned a reference to the visit of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces tribe to Bismarck after his capture. Lounsberry reveals that he was a guest at the famous dinner at the Sheridan House in Bismarck at which Chief Joseph, his aide and General Miles, their captor, were honor guests. Miss M. M. Merrill, a school teacher there, also a guest at the dinner, threw her arms around the old chief's neck and kissed his passionately, Lounsberry said. Miss Merritt explained, the historian recorded, that she did it in token of admiration for his bravery.

It is a well known fact that Chief Joseph was most unjustly treated and reacted only as any red blooded person should. Moreover, it is a matter of historical record that the chief's high ideals and ethics were by no means matched by his white adversaries in the memorable chase in awhich he was apprehended.

Study of the features of the Chippewa pictured in the Record reveal character and traits eminently desirable.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

DISGUSTING PROPOSAL

To our way of thinking the proposal of Col. Jake Ruppert, wealthy New York brewer, and owner of the New York Yankees, that school children be educated in the health, economic and social aspects of beer, is one of the most contemptible suggestions ever made.

The letter making such a proposal was received by Frank Henderson, superintendent of schools, and read at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night.

We can imagine a money-grabbing capitalist seeking to rob a widow or scuttle an estate to fill his fat purse, but it is almost inconceivable of a millionaire owner of one of the greatest baseball clubs in the nation dropping so low that he would stifle the growth, morals and health of school children through educating them to drink beer.

Col. Ruppert has been the idol of many a baseball fan. Didn't he bring out Babe Ruth and make him the hero of every boy in the country? Then why poison the minds of these children? Col Ruppert will drop in the estimation of millions of people in the United States through his beer education plans.

Col Ruppert would not tolerate a ball player on his team who overindulge in the use of beer or liquor. But he is encouraging the drinking of beer by adolescents. Beer in itself may not, to Col. Ruppert's way of thinking, be habit forming or intoxicating. But down in his heart he knows better. He knows that the drinking of beer leads to the drinking of hard liquor and hard liquor leads to drunkenness.

No, Col. Ruppert! You drink your beer. You may educate the children of New York to drink beer, but here in Santa Ana we have other ideas on education.

ENTER REFRIGERATOR TO COOL OFF, DOOR CLOSES

Rochester.—While southern Minnesota persons sweltered in the heat of last week, fifteen year old Foster Whelan and 16 year old William Kingrey kept cool: they were locked in an ice-box. For more than an hour while the sun glared down on the pavement and the mercury stood at 94 degrees outside, Buddy and Bill shivered in the large refrigerator in the basement of a barbecue stand where the temperature was as low as 38 degrees. The two boys had entered the box to cool off. Someone saw the door ajar, slammed it shut and turned off the lights. Buddy and Bill found themselves locked in and yelled and screamed. Nobody heard them, and nothing happened for more than an hour when a pal of theirs stopped at the barbecue and inquired for the boys. The search began and Buddy and Bill were found in the icebox; their only comment being, "Gee, was it cold."

Due to the excessive rains the past week the main diversion hereabouts seems to be looking for bathing suits and force pumps. All cellars and basements are full to near capacity with over supply of moisture and a large amount of the grain and hay has spoiled. The river has been unable to cope with the situation causing a flood of no mean proportions. NEW HOMESTEAD LAW GRANTS BUT SMALL SAVINGS

Farm and Home Owners to Save Only $2 to $3 on 1937 Tax

The much debated Minnesota homestead exemption bill, now that it has been enacted into law, will prove of relatively small benefit to owners of homesteads, the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform pointed out in an analysis of terms of the new law and its effects received here today.

The new act provides that the first $4,000 of value of a homestead shall be exempt from the annual tax for state purposes, excepting a levy for payment of state debts heretofore contracted. So much money will be needed for debt charges, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the federation, said in the report, that the owner of the average small homestead will get a saving of only two or three dollars on his 1937 property tax as a result of the new law.

"Taxpayers who had hopes for a big saving from the homestead exemption," Mr. Larson said, "will be disappointed when they begin to compare the political promises that were made and the savings they will get under the new law. The advertising distributed by the Farmer-Labor party in the last campaign called for abolition of all taxes, state and local, on all homesteads of $4,000 'assessed value,' which would include nearly all homestead property, and many people thought the bill which has just passed was a measure carrying out that promise.

"The bill just passed, with the sponsorship of the administration, applies to the state tax only and does not affect local taxes. Moreover proponents of the measure discovered when it came to pass the bill that the state cannot exempt homesteads from a levy for payment of debt that already has been contracted, without the law being unconstitutional. Florida attempted to put into effect a complete exemption, but the courts held this could not be done since homestead property as well as other property had been pledged for the payment of bonds issued.

"A state levy of about 7.2 mills will be needed for state debt purposes for 1937. The 1938 levy for debt probably will be around 6 mills.

"The owner of a homestead thus will get a saving of 2.78 mills on his 1937 tax, if the total levy for state purposes is held down to 10 mills, as many members of the legislature hope to do. A saving of 2.78 mills on a $4,000 farm homestead, assessed at $800 under the law, would be just $2.22. The saving on the $4,000 city homestead, which is assessed at $1,000, would be $2.78. On the 1938 tax, the saving would be $4 for the country homestead and $5 for the city homestead."

"The savings suggested would be reduced, of course, if the homestead has a full and true value above $4,000. The new plan also will increase the tax burden on rental property and so tend to add to the rental and tax burdens of renters."

R. R. Valley Potato Tour Will Visit Many Farms August 3 to 6

Schedule of the Red River Valley potato tour, which will start at Detroit Lakes August 3 at 8 a. m. was announced this week by Fred L. Behling, president of the Red River Valley Potato Improvement association.

Led by A. G. Tolaas, potato certification specialist, and R. C. Rose, plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota, the tour will occupy three days and will visit five counties. In addition to large delegations in each county, a large number of growers and dealers from other potato producing sections of Minnesota are expected to take part.

Purpose of the tour is to reveal, by a study of county agent test plots and fields on various farms, the best methods of treating seed, recognizing various diseases and comparative progress made by seed of various types, and to demonstrate the value of good seed. Problems of the grower will be discussed by the university men.

With Becker county fields as its first objective, the tour will assemble at the courthouse in Detroit Lakes at 8 a. m. on August 3. From there the party will travel by car to a plot prepared under the direction of County Agent Mike Ostrem, located along highway no. 10 near Lake Park. Different strains of Cobbler potatoes from the Valley sections and also from other districts will be compared.

In West Polk county, County Agent Carl G. Ash has test plots which will be visited on August 5. The tour will leave from Crookston at 9 a. m. East Polk county will be visited August 6, with demonstrations at plots prepared under the direction of County Agent R. M. Stolen.

Trout Fishing Termed Best in Twenty Years

In spite of the drouth in 1936, Minnesotans and out-of-state visitors this year enjoyed better trout fishing than at any time within the past 20 years, Dr. Thaddeus Surber, state superintendent of propagation, asserted last week in a talk broadcast by WCCO.

Speaking of fishing conditions in general, Dr. Surber warned anglers that the time is fast approaching when "we shall find it necessary to prohibit the use of live minnows as bait."

"Live minnows and other non-game fish of like character form the bulk of the food of our game fishes," Dr. Surber said, "And if this natural food is destroyed, we may expect a corresponding reduction in the number of game fish available to the angler."

Surber said in his opinion the "only remedy" was greater use of artificial lures.

INDIANS NAME REDWOOD RIVER "TCHANSHAYAPI"

Marshall.—If you like Indian names—and most persons do, even if pronunciation is difficult—you'll enjoy the story of how the Redwood River got its name which in Indian is "Tchanshayapi". An old historian at Redwood Falls gives the following version of the naming of the river. Two Indian tribes were at war, and in advancing along the Redwood, scouts were sent out ahead. They blazed a trail for the main party to follow by marking certain trees with red paint. The river was named "Tchanshayapi", meaning the "river by the trees painted red."

FACTS

Concerning the organization and principles of the Consumers Co-op. Assn. of Thief River Falls.

That we are organized under the co-operative law of Minnesota.

That we are OWNED and CONTROLLED by the consumers of this community.

That we, with one hundred and sixty other local co-operative associations, organized and operated under the Rochdale principles, own and control our own wholesale.

We are making an honest effort to bring the facts concerning the workings of this organization before the public, and we invite any and all consumers to come to the directors or employees of this consumers co-operative for any further information they may desire.

We believe that the interests of the stockholders is better safeguarded by selling only common stock. Therefore, all the stock we issue is common stock.

The books of the organization and all money received and disbursed are kept by the local organization here in Thief River Falls. Their transactions are kept open for investigation by any member of the organization at any time.

The greatest menace today of the co-operative movement is the STRIFE, CONTENTION and COMPETITION among CO-OPERATIVES. The good book says "A house divided against itself cannot stand." Let us therefore all unite for the common good of all and take to heart the explanation of co-operation given by that noted English historian of the co-operative movement, George W. Holyoke, who says:

"Co-operation supplements political economy by organizing the distribution of wealth. It touches no man's fortune, it seeks no plunder, it causes no disturbances in society, it gives no trouble to statesmen, it enters into no secret associations. It contemplates no violence, it subverts no order, it envies no dignities, it asks no favor, it keeps no terms with the idle, and it will break no faith with the industrious; it means self help, self-dependence and such share of the competence as labor shall or thought can win, and this it intends to have."

LEGISLATURE QUITS FRIDAY AFTER 8 WEEKS

Solons Succeed in Making Cut in State Levy on Real Estate

APPROPRIATIONS HIT TOTAL OF $59,516,000

New Income Tax Measure Is Expected to Add Ten Million Revenue

Successful in cutting real estate taxes but failing to alter the state tax structure according to administration proposals, the special legislative session closed late Friday after appropriating $59,516,000 for the biennium.

During the last hectic day, the lawmakers set the property tax rates at not more than 10 mills for 1938 and 8.96 mills for 1939. Homesteads and farmsteads valued at less than $4,000 will not be affected by these rates and instead will be assessed 6.3 mills for next year and 4.24 mills for 1939.

The homestead exemption law just passed exempting up to $4,000 in value homesteads and farmsteads from state taxes beyond those needed for debt retirement makes the difference in rates.

Under this new system, all homestead property, regardless of value, will be taxed 6.3 mills for state purposes on the first $4,000 in value next year. The 10-mill rate will be applied on the value over that figure. Thus, a home worth $5,000 full and true value, will be taxed a total of $10.30 in 1938 for state purposes, against a present tax of $17.43.

The net requirements for the biennium were fixed at $63,834,000 through combining the appropriations of $59,516,000 and the unexpended balance of $4,318,000 still on the books from the previous session. From this total, however, were to be deducted a cash balance of $1,293,000 in the treasury and $4,500,000 in tax revenues coming in from property next November. That left a total of $58,131,000 to be raised in taxes of various kinds. The new levies made, plus returns for other sources, will produce during the biennium a total of $59,305,000, according to Senator Fred J. Miller, senate tax committee chairman.

Heading the list of laws enacted by the special session, which began May 24, was the net income tax measure. Under it rates on incomes of individuals are raised on a graduated basis up to 10 per cent on incomes of over $20,000 a year. New rates on corporations are seven per cent in 1937 and 1938 and six per cent thereafter. The previous rate on both corporations and individuals was five per cent. The new measure is estimated to bring $10,000,000 a year additional revenue to the state.

The tax on distilled liquors was raised from 60 cents to $1.00 a gallon and on wines in amounts varying with their alcoholic content. The rate of 3.2 beer was unaffected.

Gross earnings taxes on freight line companies, sleeping car companies, express companies and trust companies was raised by one per cent. A new inheritance tax, embracing rates varying with the degree of relationship between donor and donee, was enacted. The gift tax, a new law in Minnesota, was passed chiefly to prevent evasion of the inheritance tax.

The new chain store tax measure assesses chain stores in Minnesota on a graduated basis, depending upon the number of stores in the chain, within the state, up to $750 annually for each store in chains over 150 stores.

Iron ore occupational and royalty taxes were increased to 10 per cent for 1937 and eight per cent thereafter. The previous rates were six per cent.

Power Plant Turbines Still Carrying Full Evening Load in City

The city light department during the past few weeks has been enjoying the unusual experience of carrying the electric light and power load during the peak evening hours without the aid of either of the two large Diesel units. Since the recent heavy rains the supply of water in Red Lake river has been sufficient to permit operation of the two water turbines in the local power plant, said Ole Legvold, superintendent of the department, adding that during the daytime hours from 8 to 5 o'clock, one of the small Diesel units is in operation. A large quantity of water is reported to be still coming down the river, indicating that it will be possible to continue using the turbines for some time to come.

MANY PASS TESTS IN TINDOLPH PARK SWIMMING COURSE

Total of 250 Get Instruction This Summer From Gabrielson

The course in swimming and life-saving instruction conducted at the Tindolph park pool during the past two months by B. W. Gabrielson under the joint auspices of the park board and county Red Cross chapter came to a highly successful close Sunday when the young swimmers demonstrated their proficiency in a water carnival.

Of a total of 250 children and adults who received instruction during the summer in swimming, diving and life-saving, 125 showed sufficient progress to pass the beginners' and swimmers' tests, while five passed the senior life saving tests and 18 the junior tests.

Those passing the senior tests were Bob Hanson, Louis Benson, Marie Arneson, Merten Ward and Lorraine Amundson. Included in the group passing the junior tests were George Effinger, Kenneth Stenberg, Dorothy Borgen, Marjorie Helquist, Dorothy Snelling, Alverda Lund, Ardith Thompson, Connie Geston, Byron Hanson, Robert Brooten, Lawrence Swanson, Donald Pederson, Neal Mullen, Lester Erickson, Marjorie McKechnie, Lyle Norquist, Marty Gansen and Clarence Freed.

Mr. Gabrielson announced that he would continue to serve as park board waterfront director, and will arrange water polo, diving, tumbling and other sports. The lifeguards, he said, will remain on duty as long as the water remains in good condition.

HARVEST SOON TO BECOME GENERAL IN THIS SECTION

Cutting of Rye Hampered by Saturated Condition of Fields

Harvesting of rye is becoming general this week on farms where it is possible to work in the rain-soaked fields, but numerous fields east and northwest of Thief River Falls were too wet to enter with binders early this week.

Field operations were further hampered by a steady rain that fell in this locality all Saturday afternoon, bringing a precipitation estimated at fully an inch. More than that amount was recorded at Warren.

Following Saturday's rain weather conditions have been ideal for drying up the fields and ripening the grain, and the majority of fields are expected to be ready for cutting by the end of another week.

Most of the surplus water in low areas in the Goodridge and Mavie sections had drained off by the first part of the week, but crop prospects there as well as in the Grygla area are considerably impaired as a result of the excessive moisture received during the past few weeks.

Brings in Alfalfa Plant Five Feet 10½ In. Tall

Further testimony to the rank growth attained this season by grasses and legume crops was supplied late last week when J. W. Havlik, who farms in the Plummer community, brought in to the Times office an alfalfa plant that had attained a height of no less than five feet 10½ inches. The specimen was taken from a ten-acre plot on his farm.

Respected Couple Were Married in Sweden in July, 1868

One of those rare events which it is the privilege of very few to experience occurred last Sunday at the Nils O. Lawson home a mile north of Thief River Falls when Mr. and Mrs. Lawson celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lawson are in excellent health considering their advanced years, and said they are now looking forward to observing their 75th anniversary. Mr. Lawson demonstrated that he was as spry as he ever was by dancing a polka and a waltz.

Mr. Lawson was born in Malmo, Sweden, May 22, 1845, and is now 92 years old, while his wife was born in the same locality January 31, 1851, being 86 years old. They were married July 25, 1868, and left Sweden in April, 1882, settling first at Grove City where they farmed a large tract of land.

In 1903 they moved to the Thief River Falls community, and settled on a quarter-section a few miles northeast of the city. During the past 23 years they have made their home on a ten-acre tract a mile north of town. In 1918 they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, of whom five are living and were present to honor the venerable couple Sunday. They include Mrs. Josie Holsdon of Minneapolis, and Ole Lawson, Mrs. W. N. Elofson, Mrs. A. E. Olson and Mrs. Nellie Cronstrom, all of this city. Their oldest son Nels died some years ago.

Out-of-town guests who were present include Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lawson and daughter May of Grove City, Mrs. Edward Lawson of Minneapolis, and Donald Sunby of Moose Lake. Local friends of the highly respected couple join in wishing that six years hence they may have the privilege of celebrating their 75th or diamond anniversary.

CONSERVATION ASSN. ASKS OCT. 1 DUCK SEASON

Group of 100 Sportsmen Attend Annual Meeting Here Monday

A. A. TROST OF WARREN IS NAMED PRESIDENT

State Game and Fish Chief and Winnipeg Men Are Speakers

A gathering of 100 sportsmen representing nearly all conservation clubs in this section of the state assembled Monday at the Auditorium for the annual meeting of the Northwestern Minnesota Association of Conservation Clubs. Dr. N. M. Leitch of Warroad, retiring president, was in charge of the program, which included a dinner in the Civic and Commerce association rooms.

In the election of officers A. A. Trost of Warren, who served as president two years ago, was returned to that office, while Leon J. Kalliher of this city was named vice president; and Dr. Onstad of Baudette, secretary-treasurer.

Elected county directors of the association were Bernard Lokken of Bronson, Kittson; J. A. Mannweiler, Baudette, Lake of the Woods; F. A. Brown, Grygla, Marshall; John Dokken, Thief River Falls, Pennington; O. E. Bjorling, East Grand Forks, Polk; E. G. Robertson, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake; and Dr. N. M. Leitch, Warroad, Roseau.

Resolutions were adopted opposing an open season on upland game birds this fall in the seventh conservation district; favoring a five-day open season on deer this fall and the taking by any hunter of one deer of either sex and any age; requesting an open season on moose this fall in the Northwest Angle country; and asking a change in the date of the opening of the duck hunting season in Northern Minnesota from October 10 to October 1.

Other resolutions urged that a study be made of the feasibility of diverting surplus waters from the Big and Little Fork rivers into Red Lake; and urged more complete regulation of commercial fishing on Lake of the Woods and establishment of a federal fish hatchery in that area.

Speakers at the meeting included A. C. Hanson, state director of game and fish; and Mr. Pitblado and B. W. Cartwright of Winnipeg, members of the Manitoba Game and Fish association. A series of films supplied by the Canadian government showing scenes in the big game country in Eastern and Western Canada also were shown by Dr. Edward Bratrud.

Mr. Hanson said reports coming to his office indicate that migratory water fowl are coming back in numbers beyond all expectations, and stated that his department had asked Director Gabrielson of the U. S. biological survey in Washington to establish the dates of the duck season in the northern zone at October 1 to 30.

Mr. Hanson stated the statutes provide a closed season on deer this year, and that he sees no likelihood of an open season on grouse this fall.

Mr. Pitblado, after extending greetings from the Manitoba association, introduced Mr. Cartwright, a director and recognized authority on wild life, who spoke in support of the program of "Ducks Unlimited" for the restoration of the duck breeding grounds in the southern section of the Canadian Prairie provinces. Only a pitiful remnant remains, he said, of the original stock of waterfowl, and due to the severe drouth conditions of recent years, "potholes, ponds and even large lakes have dried up. He added that the Canadian breeding grounds supply 80 per cent of the ducks found in the United States.

In the course of the meeting directors of the association from the various counties reported on wild game conditions in their localities, the concensus being that upland game birds are few in numbers while both ducks and deer are more plentiful than in recent years.

During a brief recess the Thief River Falls auxiliary drum and bugle corps entered the Auditorium and gave a demonstration of its proficiency. The meeting closed with a Dutch lunch served at midnight.

BUG RIVALS WONDERS OF 6,000 MILE TRIP

Kenyon.—Upon returning from a 6,000-mile tour of the west coast with desk photos of Clark Gable and Robert Taylor, having seen the far famed beauties of the United States, Adolph Charlson has completely surrounded himself with biological books in an effort to determine the species of a [illegible] bug which he found in a neighbor's garden. The bug, which could not be identified, is apparently a new inhabitant in this territory. It clings to the vine in woodtick fashion and it is difficult to remove it from the leaf. It is very sensitive, the least irritation causing the rest body to lift up above the head which is securely fastened to the leaf.

FAR AWAY FIELDS STILL GREENEST

Ortonville.—To both Minnesota and South Dakota residents the far away fields are the greenest. J. A. Peterson of Ortonville while on a sight-seeing tour through the Black Hills region in South Dakota listened intently to a wonderful sales talk by a South Dakota man on the state he had left a week earlier. While at Hot Springs Mr. Peterson entered a grocery store to make a few purchases and incidentally asked the proprietor what drives he might recommend. "Aw we don't got no scenery to speak of 'round here," came the reply. Then getting a glimpse of the "Minnesota" license plate, the Dakotan with twinkles in his eyes and a longing desire to return said, "Pardner, Minnesota is where you got beauty and scenery. Up around Ortonville on Big Stone Lake, I think that is the most beautiful spot."

News Behind the News in the Legislature
By Senator Vic Weber

The most hectic and history-making extraordinary session of any Minnesota legislature came to a close but a few minutes before these lines were written. It was hectic because of the wide divergence of opinion between the two legislative bodies and the constant interference in legislative action on the part of his excellency, Gov. Benson, and it will go down in history for two reasons: (1) The first time that any Governor so forgot himself as to allude to any legislative committee as being "asinine, immoral and dishonest," and (2) the first time that a legislative act has been changed or caused to be changed at the command of a Governor or his underlings.

It would require far more space than the editor of this publication could possibly give to present the many interesting things that have occurred during the eight weeks that have made up the doings of the legislature and the doings of the administration.

On Tuesday his excellency called the House and Senate conferees on the Chain store tax bill to his office, and for some little time the air in the room that has been offiсed by so many great statesmen—John A. Johnson, Winfield Scott Hammond, J. A. O. Preus, Theodore Christianson and the late lamented Floyd B. Olson—was an azure blue. As usual Governor Elmer lost his head and resorted to his usual diatribe against members of the Senate. But he failed to recognize that in Senator James A. Carley he had an opponent not only able to cope with his best arguments, but to put him in his place. The Governor accused the Senate of catering to "big business" and all such tommy rot, and was immediately challenged by Sen. Carley. The old Quaker pictures of former Governors upon the walls shook at the shouts of the debaters. Apologies were offered by both Governor and Senator but no sooner offered and accepted than another argument arose, equally as bad as the first and with indignation steaming up both combatants. It wound up by Senator Wing leaving the room because of the insults toward Senate members by the Governor and by Senator Carley finally suggesting to his excellency that "the trouble with you is that you are about only half there."

Even your correspondent's and Senator Orr's names were mentioned, though neither were present. The Governor resented speeches made against him on the Senate floor by this writer. That he does not always know what he is talking about was once again demonstrated. This writer has never denounced Gov. Benson on the Senate floor. Senator Wright of Hennepin did so in no uncertain terms last Thursday a week. But speech or no speech this writer does, in the light of the last week's happenings, concur in what Senator Wright said.

Much more could be written, but the campaign of next summer and fall will bring out these matters. The spend-thrift administration did not get what they wanted. A "reactionary" Senate has saved the people of Minnesota, not $11,000,000 as Senator Rockne stated, but better than fifteen million. The expense of the session to the taxpayers of the state aggregated $1,500 a day, but on the other side of the ledger, we find a saving of $140,000 a day and if such an investment is not a good one, then this correspondent knows nothing about good business.

One of the closing events in the Senate was the presentation to the presiding officer, Sen. Wm. B. Richardson, of a beautiful gold watch, chain and knife. Sen. Harry Bridgeman, of opposition party and faction and himself a candidate for President Protem, made the presentation speech which teemed with grateful appreciation of the actions of the presiding officer and love for his noble qualities. And "Bill" responded as only he can.

And so its back home to a business long neglected, where there are joyous salutations between friends instead of slurs and insults; where a hearty "good morning" lasts throughout the day and not only until the office desk is opened; where people are more happy in doing acts of kindness than in carrying out a political future; where sheaves upon sheaves of grain and towering corn give evidence to the age old fact that "God is in His Heaven and all is well.

Earliest known use for sponges was for padding armor. The Greeks fastened them inside their shin guards and helmets. The Greeks also used bath sponges and so did the Romans. The latter also used them for mops and paintbrushes.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Quite a few years have passed since the dam was put in at the outlet of Thief Lake but up to the present time no water has run over that dam. The lake is just about full now, however, and may overflow this week. According to reports received here yesterday it had only a couple of inches to go and was still rising. That means more water down the river again.

Ladies admitted free at the ball game Sunday when the locals meet their old rivals from Oslo. Here's a chance to see a good ball game at bargain prices girls.

Six more assistants to the President, at salaries of ten thousand dollars a year each, are being provided for by Congress. And each one of these assistants, of course, will have a suite of offices and a flock of secretaries. This is a part of the President's government reorganization program to cut expenses and balance the budget.

Now that the court packing scheme has been disposed of and President Roosevelt has gotten the spanking from the Senate that he so richly deserved we can settle down and enjoy our other troubles again. Before putting this difficulty on the shelf, however, let it be said that in this case Roosevelt's defeat was a Democratic victory. The only contribution to that defeat by the Republicans was their silence. If the Republicans had entered this fight as a party they would have made it a partisan issue and the President would have had his way. We congratulate those statesmen of the Democratic party who, by opposing the party bosses and thus jeopardizing their own careers, placed the interests of the country above their own personal interests.

TAXING THE POOR

Under the new state income tax law, single persons earning more than a thousand dollars a year will have to contribute toward the cost of state government. The tax will not amount to much, from a few cents to a few dollars, but it will add considerably to the number of tax payers. Governor Benson thinks this is an outrage. The idea of expecting a single fellow who only earns a hundred dollars a month to pay a tax. This is the Governor's idea of a "tax on poverty." Commenting on the Governor's outburst, the St. Paul Pioneer Press raises a few interesting questions in the following editorial:

> In the course of making the state income tax crack down harder on such malefactors of great wealth as persons earning around ten thousand a year, the House, possibly inadvertently, contrived to bring under the tax single persons earning between $1,000 and $1,200 a year. These persons, previously exempt, will henceforth pay from a dollar up to a maximum of four dollars a year, for the House forced this new system of exemption on the unwilling Senate.
>
> Governor Benson allows himself to forget that this horrible thing was originated by his pet House and thunders out that this is a tax on poverty, an injustice and no doubt the work of big business and the special interests.
>
> Many a downtrodden wage slave in the Capitol must have questioned his ears on hearing this. The Farmer-Labor party has a private taxing system of its own. On state employes it levies, for the party war chest, 1 per cent on the first hundred dollars of salary per month, 2 per cent on the second, and 3 per cent on all above. Thus your $1,200 state employe will pay $4 tax to his government if single, and $12 tax to his party, and it doesn't matter whether he is married or single. This, too, must be a tax on poverty and an injustice, but it hardly can be the work of big business.
>
> State employes should not be allowed to make political contributions, much less be forced to make them. But if it is all right for a $1,200 state employe to be taxed $12 by a political party, it would seem not out of line for $1,200 single persons to contribute $4 to their government, from which all blessings flow.

LOCAL CELEBRITIES IN SPOTLIGHT

Local celebrities provided material for Vivian Thorp's column in the Minneapolis Journal last week. It seems that the Farmer-Laborites in the legislature had staged a little "appreciation dinner" for themselves, to which, somewhat to Miss Thorp's surprise, our Senator Tungseth was not invited. While her observations on the subject are interesting, folks hereabouts may or may not agree with her conclusion. Here it is, and you can think up your own answer:

> Certain members of the administration party are getting spanked already for not coming to heel during the session. The Farmer-Labor group collected funds and staged an "appreciation dinner" for Farmer-Labor members Tuesday night. When the invitation to members of the minority came over to the senate, the names of three members of the minority were conspicuously absent. Senators J. Lawrence McLeod of Itasca county, E. L. Tungseth of Pennington and Pat Farnand of St. Louis were not invited to the party.
>
> The elimination of McLeod's name from the list was not too surprising, as he is much in the administration black books, having insisted on using his own judgment as opposed to obeying royal commands on several notable occasions. Neither is one astonished at the leaving out of Farnand, whose middle name is independence. But the cold-shouldering of Senator Tungseth is somewhat astonishing. Mr. Tungseth seems to have behaved like a lamb and to have hewn steadily to the minority line all through the session. Perhaps past history accounts for it. Senator Tungseth ran against Paul Harris recently, and Mr. Harris is now state chairman of the Farmer-Labor Association instead of state senator. Of course this may have nothing to do with it, but it's the only thing one can think of at the moment which might have caused the breach of party courtesy to Senator Tungseth.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY
(Fergus Falls Journal)

How easy it is to be mistaken in identifying persons is demonstrated in the case of Lawson Willis, who was committed to the State Hospital in this city today. A high school girl at Holdingford, in Stearns county, was attacked by a stranger as she walked down the railway track. Later Willis, answering the general description of the attacker, was picked up in North Dakota. The girl was taken to view the prisoner and identified him positively. Eight other people who had seen a strange man walking down the tracks near Holdingford on the day of the attack viewed Willis in the Stearns jail. Seven of them identified him positively as the attacker, while the eighth man said he couldn't be sure that he was the same man. Those making the identification had only seen a man walk down the track; none had stopped to talk or apparently given him more than a passing glance, yet seven were ready to swear to his identification. Fingerprints show he was in a North Dakota jail at the time.

The Willis case recalls an incident which happened in Fergus Falls a long time ago. An office was entered during the night and some money stolen. The sheriff investigated, questioned members of the office force as to whether there was anyone whom they suspected. One young lady employee said a strange man, dressed rather poorly, had come to the office twice asking for money. She was asked if she could identify the man in question if he were brought into the office and assured the sheriff she could. The sheriff left the office and some hours later returned with the man he had "picked up." He wore old clothing, an old hat pulled down, partly over his face and he looked the picture of a hobo.

"Is this the man?" the sheriff asked.

"Yes, it is," replied the young woman.

"Are you sure of his identity?"

"There is no doubt," replied the party making the identification.

"I'm sorry," replied the sheriff, "because this is my deputy, and he was on duty at my office the day the stranger called to ask for money."

Mistaken identities are an easy matter. Had the sheriff picked up a real hobo he might have served a term for burglary on the strength of the identification.

WE RESPECTFULLY SUGGEST—
(Northfield News)

"We cannot solve the trying problems of today by being intolerant of the views of honest persons who are sincerely striving to better society." That, ladies and gentlemen, believe it or not, is a quotation from a speech by the Hon. Elmer A. Benson, governor of Minnesota. We respectfully suggest, Mr. Governor, that you have that quotation set in large type, framed, and placed on your executive desk, keeping it constantly in view as a laudable guide to your conduct. You will find it will help you.

WOULD IT FOLLOW THESE LINES?
(Montevideo News)

Farmers creameries in this community have had to get posted on "unfair trade practices." A new state law put them in the fix of being guilty of unfair trade practices if they continued to haul cream without making the farmer pay for the haul, or of losing business if they did charge the fee set in the state law.

Making everything nice and lovely by law is a complicated undertaking. An addition to the national labor relations act, proposed by Senator Vandenburg of Michigan, would classify as unfair trade practice the taking of "assessment for political purposes." That has possibilities. If Minnesota gets its own Wagner act, as proposed by the governor, would it follow these lines and make it illegal to assess state employes in order to get and hold their jobs?

VISIBLE VS. INVISIBLE TAXES
(Hennepin County Review)

"It would be an excellent thing if some of the many taxes now levied indirectly were promptly scrapped in favor of direct personal taxes, even on the smallest incomes," says the New York Times. "That would give us an electorate with a greater sense of responsibility in the matter of public finance, and legislatures with more backbone in the matter of retrenchment."

The persistent belief possessed by millions of citizens that they pay no taxes whatsoever because their incomes fall below certain "income tax exemptions"—coupled with the attitude that "the rich guys have to pay"—has bred an almost callous disregard for government spending.

Direct taxes constitute a minor part of government income, while indirect taxes on food, clothing, drugs, amusements—everything we buy and use—fall proportionately heavier on the poor than on the well-to-do; because there are fewer of the latter.

The Times' suggestion to have direct taxes supplant some of the indirect taxes, is an excellent one. Unfortunately our lawmakers always eye such ideas with enmity, because of their potential political repercussions. But the fact remains that all of us pay taxes, and that persons of moderate means are proportionately the heaviest taxpayers. This should be constantly repeated and emphasized. Eventually it will sink in on the voter and then the lawmakers will act.

WAS BEN FRANKLIN WRONG?
(Dr. V. O. Watts, in The Northfield News)

Thrift was once considered a cardinal virtue. Ministers used to preach that it was a religious and moral duty. Teachers and public speakers used to explain how thrift helped individuals and nations to make progress. Consequently everyone, whether he practiced it or not himself, agreed that thrift was a good thing and that it should be encouraged and rewarded in every way.

Today thrift is commonly looked on as a necessary evil at best, if not a positively vicious and dangerous practice. For every sermon or lecture praising thrift we hear twenty denouncing it or denouncing those who practice it as a principal cause of our economic troubles.

As a result, recent government policies often aim deliberately at discouraging thrift; thru taxes on reinvestments of profits, thru especially high taxes on all the principal sources of savings and on income from savings, thru payment of public funds to the thriftless, and thru propaganda against savings and investment.

Were our forefathers wrong about the virtue of thrift? Or is thrift less necessary to our welfare than it used to be?

For the individual, thrift still means temperance; that is, avoiding excesses. It still means giving up idle pleasures which yield little or no lasting benefit to oneself or to others. Such temperance and self-restraint are still good for the soul.

Thrift also calls for intelligence, foresight, planning, and regard for the future welfare of oneself and one's dependents. These, I believe, are still virtues in the sight of God and man.

As for the effects of thrift on the welfare of society, note that in nations where capital is relatively more abundant: (1) wages are higher; (2) people live longer and have more freedom from disease; (3) the citizens are generally more civilized, cultured, and peaceful. In fact, there is probably no way of helping mankind on any large scale without somebody's capital. Yet thrift, saving and investment are necessary for the creation of capital.

Have we taken for granted the virtues of thrift for so long that we have forgotten why it is a virtue and so become contemptuous and neglectful of it?

There's a question which is the more dangerous: Flying, automobiling or bicycling.—Boston Globe.

By A. I. Harris

From out the hubbub and turmoil of the special session, one thing appears certain—the question of tax reform will become a very burning issue in Minnesota politics for the next few years.

Governor Benson's concluding remarks in his statewide radio address last Friday night in which he named several Senate leaders as the servants of Big Business, are of particular political significance. The Governor said: "The fight for tax reform in this state has only begun."

The position of the Governor is that, despite the increasing costs of government due to the depression and social security demands such as old age pensions, the tax load on real property must be reduced rather than increased. In other words, new sources of revenue must be found which will not only meet the new costs of government, but also act as a replacement tax on property. These new sources, he insists must be taxes on wealth.

The Governor's position that the present tax system is obsolete and throws an unjust burden upon the owners of real property is well taken when one views the tremendous increases in tax delinquencies in recent years. These delinquencies in some of the northern Minnesota counties are so great that the local governments are unable to raise sufficient money to meet local needs by a property levy.

Nevertheless, some advances were made in this special session towards tax reform in the interests of the owner of property. It is particularly to be noted that, through the Governor's insistence and the fight waged by the House liberals, the state millage rate on real property was somewhat reduced even though it was necessary to provide more revenue than ever before.

In this connection passage of the homestead exemption law, sponsored by the Administration, can be listed as a definite and significant achievement. One can agree with the Governor when he says that passage of this law alone justified the special session.

Having passed tax laws to raise sufficient revenue to meet the state's needs for the next biennium, it is obvious that revenues from any additional tax measures would have acted as a replacement tax on property. This, the Governor pointed out in his radio address, had the Senate conservatives gone along with the liberal House members in enacting a severance tax on iron ore, the additional revenue resulting therefrom would have enabled the state to have wiped out the state levy on real property entirely. Also passage of the moneys and credits bill which the House adopted but the Senate rejected, as the Governor pointed out, would have meant a four mill reduction of the real estate levy.

A few weeks ago, it will be recalled, Senator Donald Wright of Minneapolis, on the floor of the Senate, delivered an excoriation of the Governor in which he referred to the chief executive as a dictator. "There was only one dictatorship in this entire special session," the Governor replied, "and that was the dictatorship of Big Business, the Steel Trust and the utilities."

Many people have been asking the question: What is this Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research which has been so active during the special session of the Legislature? The Governor reveals that it is headed "by one Harold Henderson, a man who has been working to put over a sales tax in Minnesota for the past two years." The Governor also alluded to the fact that this organization is "mysteriously financed." He could have added also that it appears to be very amply supplied with funds.

Farmers will have twice as much money to put in their pockets at the end of this year's harvest than they had in 1932 according to the Department of Agriculture. The department's economists believe that the 1937 cash income will be around $9,500,000,000 which is almost $1,500,000,000 above the 1936 figure and twice as much as that for 1932. There has been an increase during the first five months of this year of 21 per cent over the same period last year.

The increase is due to a considerably higher price level this year, which is expected to continue. It was pointed out, however, that prices farmers have to pay for goods they buy is also higher. It is estimated at 131 per cent of the pre-war average for June, 1937, as compared with 120 per cent for June of last year.

More than half a million Minnesota children will be benefited through the $3,792,401.10 allotment for school aid from income tax receipts collected for the first half of 1937.

"This first disbursement of the 1936 tax will amount to approximately $7 per pupil," Dr. John G. Rockwell, commissioner of education, said. The first apportionment last year came to $6.85 per pupil. The new income tax law limits pupil aid to $10 per pupil annually.

FIRST DISTRIBUTION OF QUAIL SET FOR AUGUST

Early in August the state division of game and fish will begin distributing Bob-white quail for the first time in Minnesota history. Approximately 1,000 eighth to ten week-old birds will be released in suitable areas in the southeastern part of the state, according to Frank Blair, superintendent of game propagation. Quail are being raised at the new game farm on the Carlos Avery refuge. About 1,000 pairs are being held over for breeding purposes next year. Nearly 8,000 eggs were obtained from this year's brood stock.

BUSINESS TOO RUSHING; CHECK WRITER JAILED

Detroit Lakes—One of the busiest men in Detroit Lakes last Saturday was George Harris, champion speed writer of bogus checks, who scattered a trail of worthless paper all over town, deceiving local merchants right and left. But things went too good for Harris and his spree was brought sharply to a halt Saturday night when police arrested him as he was boarding the "blinds" of a passenger train, and at present he is in the county jail. Harris, having made the acquaintance of a man by the name of C. A. Benson, obtained several check blanks from the counter of a local bank, filled them out to the order of himself and signed them "C. A. Benson". The checks were filled out in amounts ranging from $11 to $15. [illegible] with his batch of forged checks Harris toured the business district. When he asked to have a check cashed, he told a smooth story of how the check represented wages he had earned working for Benson who he said was a farmer. At [illegible] business places Harris managed to cash checks on the strength of his story, and when arrested had $10.

In Gloversville, New York, the art of making gloves is a community proposition. The making of one glove requires no less than 24 different steps.

RELIEF COSTS IN STATE CONTINUE IN UPWARD TREND

Costs in 1936 Were Highest in History, Taxpayers Unit Asserts

Relief expenditures in Minnesota in 1936 were approximately three times as high as in 1931, that is the amount charged the state and local governments, exclusive of Federal contributions, a survey of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association reveals. Costs for 1936 were the highest in the history of the state.

According to a summary of relief expenditures in state and local governments for the year 1930, 84 rural counties spent $668,638, while three urban counties spent $2,250,266 with a total of all counties spending $3,018,904 for their calendar year. The state in that period spent $104,249.

In comparison, the 1936 summary reveals that the 84 rural counties spent $3,255,914 for relief while the three urban counties expended $7,606,097 and the total for all counties was $10,862,011, while the state's expenditure was $6,107,116.

Of the total expended for old age assistance from March, 1936, to January, 1937, which is $8,798,020, the Federal share was $4,269,635; the State share, $2,346,023; and counties, $1,423,011, the report shows.

Trucks Are Ruled Off Certain Highways on Sundays and Holidays

To lessen Sunday and holiday traffic accidents on the heavily traveled arterials feeding Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, the state highway patrol is cooperating with the Railroad and Warehouse Commission in enforcing Chapter 131 of the 1937 Minnesota legislative session laws, which forbids certain commercial trucks from using certain highways from 9 a. m. to 12 midnight on Sundays and holidays from Decoration day to the second Sunday of September each year.

The law exempts Class T. Vehicles, trucks of one ton capacity or less, vehicles transporting livestock, trucks carrying newspapers and perishable food stuffs, public utility emergency wagons, ambulances, garage repair cars and the like.

Under the law, however, during the season in question, any type commercial vehicle may enter but not leave St. Paul or Minneapolis on Sundays and holidays via all highways except Number 12 from a point 35 miles west of the Twin Cities; Number 52 from Anoka to Minneapolis; Numbers 10 and 52 from a point 25 miles northwest of Minneapolis (between Big Lake and Elk River) to Minneapolis; Number 169 from a point between Zimmerman and Elk River to Anoka; Number 61 from a point 35 miles north of St. Paul to St. Paul.

No trucks except those classified as exempt may leave the Twin Cities or Duluth by any route.

All highways from Duluth to a point 35 miles distant are forbidden to both incoming and outgoing truck traffic on Sundays and holidays except those to which the law does not apply.

To date the new law is reported to have reduced traffic congestion and accidents on the highways involved.

Meaning of Letters £ s. d.

The letters £ s. d. stand for the Italian words lire (pounds), soldi (shillings), and denari (pence) derived from the Latin words libra, solidus, denarius. The terms, says Pearson's London Weekly, were introduced into England by the Lombard merchants. Lb is short for libra, a pound, and the plural in English should really have no "s." [illegible] simply lb. the same as the singular.

STATE PROPERTY TAX CUT 20 PCT. BY LEGISLATURE

Tax Reform Federation Sees Prospect of Further Reduction

Taxpayers here will get a reduction of approximately 20% in the state tax levy on property which they now are paying, the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform pointed out in a report received here today analyzing effects of the legislation passed at the special session of the legislature just closed.

The legislature passed a bill just before adjourning which places a limit of 10 mills on the levy which the state may make on property in 1937 and in 1938, making a reduction of about 20% from the present state tax of 12.45 mills.

In addition, the legislature also passed a homestead exemption bill which will exempt the first $4,000 of value of a homestead from the state tax on property except for a levy for debt that had previously been contracted. A tax levy of about 7 mills will have to be placed on the first $4,000 of value of homesteads for state debt purposes in 1937, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the Federation, said, and a levy of about 5 mills will be needed in 1938. A noticeable reduction will be made, however, compared to the present levy, and in time this will grow as state debts are paid off.

Christ of the Andes

Although there is no trace of the inscription on the monument known as the Christ of the Andes, says a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, there is a tradition that the following inscription was originally carved in the stone: "Sooner shall these mountains crumble to dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace which at the feet of Christ the Redeemer they have sworn to maintain." The statue was erected on the boundary line between Chile and Argentina, in Uspallata Pass, to commemorate the peaceful settlement of a boundary dispute in 1902. The dedication ceremonies took place March 13, 1904.

OKLEE GIRL DIES FROM INJURIES IN BLAZE AT FISHER

Myrtle Hofstad, 22, Victim of Fire in Kitchen Monday

Myrtle Hofstad, 22, resident of Oklee, died in a hospital at Crookston Monday night 12 hours after she was burned in a fire at the Knutson Brothers farm a mile south of Fisher.

Her body was taken by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Hofstad, to Oklee for funeral services and burial.

Miss Hofstad had been working at the Knutson farm for a year. The two Knutsons had started a fire Monday morning and left the house to do the chores and were in the barn when Miss Hofstad was burned.

The victim, although conscious until half an hour before her death, was unable to give a clear description of what happened. She said, however, that she had spilled kerosene on her clothes. When fire from the stove ignited her oil soaked clothing, her body, except for her feet, hands and forehead, was burned. She said she ran from and house and jumped into a rain barrel to quench the flames.

An elderly woman in the house apparently failed to hear Miss Hofstad's call for help. The flames failed to damage the house.

WLS Barn Dance Coming to County Fair Aug. 10

OLAF THE SWEDE

Ole Yonson, the musical Swede from WLS, will appear at the Pennington county fair Tuesday evening, August 10, in connection with the WLS Barn Dance troupe. Ole's wide repertoire of Swedish dialect numbers and his own amusing translations of popular songs into Swedish comprise a side-splitting program featured on the WLS National Barn Dance in Chicago. The long-geared angular Scandinavian has built up a large following of loyal listeners whose appreciation is attended by a flood of fan mail. Standing well over six feet in his socks, Ole sends his songs down from that lofty height in a manner that delights both the invisible air audience and his listeners at the Barn Dance shows. Scandinavia's own Ichabod Crane towers head and shoulders above the average dialectician.

MARSHALL CO. TAX LEVY FOR 1937 IS REDUCED $9,000

Commissioners Take Action at Adjourned July Session

A $9,000 reduction in the Marshall county tax levy for 1937, payable in 1938, was made by the county board of commissioners at the adjourned session of their July meeting late last Wednesday afternoon when the budget for the year was set at $170,000, according to Levi G. Johnson, county auditor, as reported in the Warren Sheaf.

Reduction in levies for old age assistance fund and the poor fund, enabled the commissioners to reduce the levy for next year, Mr. Johnson pointed out. However, the tax rate for next year is expected to remain about the same as the taxable valuation will be reduced considerably with the huge Mud Lake territory being stricken from the tax rolls, said the county auditor.

The high levy for old age assistance last year was necessary to cover a deficit in the fund for the first year's operation of the program when a levy of only $5,000 was made. The new levy for old age assistance will be $33,000 while last year's levy was $40,000.

Curtailment of relief and economies in operation permitted the board to reduce the poor fund levy from $32,000 to $30,000. Other fund levies will remain at the same figure as last year's levies. A tabulation of the levy for 1936 and 1937 follows:

	1936	1937
Revenue	$50,000	$50,000
Road & Bridge	40,000	40,000
Poor	32,000	30,000
Old Age Assist.	40,000	33,000
T. B. Sanatorium	8,000	8,000
Sinking Fund	9,000
Bond & Interest		9,000
	$179,000	$170,000

Deneholes are ancient, well like shafts of uncertain origin, found in Kent and Essex, England, and in the French valley of the Somme. Probably they were sunk to get at chalk and flint which lie beneath the surface of the earth.

U. S. SENATE VOTES DOWN PRESIDENT'S COURT MEASURE

Senator Henrik Shipstead Votes to Send Bill Back to Committee

The United States Senate virtually killed President Roosevelt's Supreme court enlargement proposal last Thursday for this congressional session. It voted to send the administration court bill back to its judiciary committee. The vote was 70 to 20.

The committee was instructed to prepare a new measure affecting the lower courts only and report it to the Senate within ten days. The new measure, based on an eight-point program worked out in committee this morning, would not affect the Supreme court in any way.

Senator Logan, Democrat of Kentucky, made the motion to return the bill to committee. He acted on instructions from the judiciary committee, with whose plan of ending the court dispute both administration chieftains and leaders of the court bill opposition were reported to be in substantial agreement.

Sixteen Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite, Shipstead of Minnesota joined with 53 Democrats in sending the court bill back to committee.

Garnes Church Festival Scheduled for Sunday

The annual church festival of Rev. J. K. Lerohl's parish in Garnes, Red Lake County, will be held Sunday, August 1, it was announced today. Rev. C. M. Westermoe of McIntosh will conduct services in the Norwegian language in the Garnes church at 11 oclock a. m. and in the afternoon, following a dinner in the grove at Old Garnes, Rev. A. S. Haugen of Crookston will speak in the English language. Brief talks by other speakers, together with vocal and instrumental music, will complete the program.

TACKLELESS PRESTON LADS GET BIG TROUT

Preston—The most successful way to fish when you go after the big ones, is to leave your tackle at home and use your hands. If you don't believe it, ask three local youths, Alvin Haugen, Earl Honn, and Herman Ebert. While swimming in the river one of them spied a huge fin pointing out of the stream a short distance away. Investigating, the lads found that a big trout had become stranded on a sandbar, and was about two-thirds out of the water. Together, the boys pounced on it and captured the fish, which was the largest trout ever caught here. It measured 26¼ inches and tipped the scales at 7½ pounds.

State Legion Posts and Auxiliary Units Aid in Traffic Safety Drive

Intensive participation by the American Legion and auxiliary in the statewide "supporting membership" drive launched by the Minnesota Public Safety Committee, was announced today. The Legion participation in the movement to expand traffic safety work throughout the state will be coordinated under the direction of E. A. Preston, St. Paul Legion member, by special designation by State Commander F. Ron Andreen.

Mrs. J. V. O'Neill of St. Paul, vice president of the Minnesota department Legion auxiliary, will be active in the auxiliary part.

Under the leadership of Mr. Preston, all Legion district and post commanders will be contacted and urged to actively aid in securing supporting safety committee memberships from 500,000 motorists in Minnesota.

"The Legion is 100 per cent behind this movement to reduce the traffic toll in Minnesota," Preston said. "It has been definitely shown that educational safety work will save lives. The work should be enlarged and the Legion will do everything possible to permit additional activity."

The memberships are available through payment of a biennial membership fee of 25 cents. Membership cards and emblems may be secured at filling stations, headquarters of civic organizations and from public safety committees.

To Hard-Surface T. H. 55 Glenwood to Elbow Lake

On the heels of a $2,500,000 call for state-wide highway construction bids last week, N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, has named Aug. 13 as closing day for bids on bituminous surfacing of trunk highway 55 between Elbow Lake and Glenwood, and for shouldering of trunk highway 75 four miles north of Breckenridge. The 37.3 mile stretch to be hard surfaced on highway 55 was previously a graveled thoroughfare. Cost of this surfacing and shouldering in the counties of Grant, Douglas and Wilkin, is estimated to be approximately $113,050.

DIME SAVING TOTAL $94; FILL PINT JAR

Clara City—"I started saving dimes a year and a half ago," stated Ole Strand of Wang township, south of here, "and today I brought the jar in and used the dimes in purchase of a tractor." The dimes totaled $94 and almost filled a pint fruit jar. Strand remarked that whenever he had a dime in his pocket, it went into the jar, planning at first to use the collection in buying a car instead of a tractor. "It's surprising how quickly they count up," said the dime collector.

CUT WORMS CAUSE DAMAGE TO GRAIN CROPS IN VALLEY

Fieldman Reports Infestation in Scattered Areas in Valley

The variegated cut worm is doing considerable damage to small grains in isolated areas of the Red River Valley according to Donald Denning, field agent for the state department entomological service. Mr. Denning as field scout in the Red River Valley area has had his headquarters at the Northwest School and Station, Crookston, for the past three summers. The variegated cut worm, says Mr. Denning, has been erroneously called army worm, and black army worm; it, however, is like the common cut worm in that it feeds generally during the night or during the day in dark, cloudy weather.

The variegated cut worm has caused light to heavy losses on small grains this year not only in the Red River Valley but in southern Minnesota counties as well. Mr. Denning reports that the cutworm has two broods per year and that the present brood will pupate and emerge as adult moths during early August. The moths will deposit eggs on leaves of crops such as clover and alfalfa and larvae will appear this fall which will winter over in the worm stage. The overwintering worms mature in late spring, producing moths responsible for the summer infestation.

The variegated cutworm is controlled best by the use of the regular cutworm poison bran mash. Infested fields, however, should be cut off from clean fields with plowed strips, baits can then be spread in and along the plowed furrows. Mr. Denning points out that while baiting at this date may not save standing grain fields, yet baiting the fall brood will reduce infestations for 1938. Farmers throughout the area are asked to report insect outbreaks as soon as they occur. The outbreaks should be reported to the county agents, to the Northwest School and Station, or the state entomologist, A. G. Ruggles, University Farm, St. Paul.

State Farmers Borrow $624,000 Production Credit Funds in June

Minnesota's 9,800 members of production credit associations borrowed over $624,000 through their associations in June this year, and repaid in cash $310,000, says the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul. This is a 7 per cent increase over June 1936, in the amount of credit used to finance farm operations, repairs and improvements, and for the purchase of livestock, equipment and supplies.

For the first 6 months of this year the 28 local associations in this state loaned their members $3,394,000, which is $380,000 in excess of their loans for the first half of last year.

The PCA loans in Minnesota outstanding June 30 totaled $5,105,000. The St. Paul corporation, which supervises in a general way the associations in 4 states, says that out of $41,500,000 loaned through such associations in 3 years, the losses amounted to only $3,015, "a record for soundness and integrity which we believe is not surpassed in the loan history of this country," comments the corporation.

Workers Should Contact NRS Office for Job Data

The National Reemployment office is official headquarters for the clearance of information about jobs, says Elmer Stanghelle, manager of the Thief River Falls office, and "workers should not rely on rumors regarding shortage of labor supply in various parts of the state."

Word was received this week from Dreng Bjornaraa of St. Paul state director, of several instances where men rushed to certain localities to secure work only to find that no shortage existed. If they had consulted their National Reemployment office, he said, they would have saved the needless expense of making the trip.

"It is an important function of our office to help prevent unnecessary migration of labor," says Stanghelle, "and workers can benefit by requesting information from the National Reemployment Service office instead of relying on some unfounded rumor before leaving town to find work in the harvest fields."

COUNTY'S 1148 DOGS VALUED AT $17,000

Park Rapids—Hubbard county's dog population is worth $17,220. That's the "full and true" value placed on the 1148 canines listed as personal property by the various township and village assessors, whose figures must stand in spite of those persons who, having lost turkeys and sheep by killer dogs, would not place such a high value on them. Information gleaned from the assessment books reveals also the fact that there are fewer hogs in Hubbard county than there are dogs. Assessors listed only 1046 hogs, as compared with 1148 dogs.

Red River Valley History

Electric Line in 1913

We present here some facts about the Minnesota Northwest Electric Railway that may appeal to those interested in local history. The article from which the paragraphs below were taken was written 22 years ago by H. W. Protzeller.

The question of transportation has always been one of the problems confronting the settler and farmer in the territory lying to the east and northeast of Thief River Falls. After the country had been ditched and wagon roads constructed, the people living in this district, being of the progressive type at all times, turned their attention to securing railroad transportation. Everyone realized that the future of the country depended to a large extent on railroads building through here.

To the railroad builder, however, this territory presented several difficulties, first of which was the immense size of the country to be served, a magnificent state in itself, one and one half times as large as the State of Connecticut. Second that the settlement was spread over practically the whole section, without any concentration at any point; thus making a thinly settled country.

Many meetings for discussing the railroad problem were held, both in the city of Thief River Falls and throughout the surrounding towns and villages. These meetings were apt to be quite vigorous during the late fall and winter, but during the spring and summer other duties called and the matter was allowed to drop. However, all this work was the necessary preliminaries which finally bore fruit. The Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway Company was incorporated September 29, 1913, with headquarters at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and having as its object the construction and operation of a system of electric lines radiating from the City of Thief River Falls. The incorporators were Brandenburg of Minneapolis. The idea of the incorporators was to make the company a local stock organization. Stock books were opened and a certain amount of capital subscribed for. The incorporators, however, very early realized that the construction of the road depending upon local capital would of necessity be delayed to a considerable extent. Acting upon this idea they accordingly endeavored to enlist outside capital, in the form of bonds. This work finally culminated in the placing bonds for over three-fourths of the necessary amount, thus assuring the success of the project. Mr. D. N. Winton of Minneapolis, having extensive interests in this community and also great faith in the future development, through financial connections in Minneapolis was instrumental in assuring the success of the project, and at this time became associated with the company as one of the directors.

Construction work on the new line was started December, 1913, in the construction of the bridge over the Thief river, which was completed before spring. Grading work was commenced in May, 1914 and finished during the month of July. The steel and ties were immediately laid and surfaced up. After the necessary inspection by the Railroad and Warehouse Commission the line was formally opened for business, October 12, 1914. At last the dream of railroad facilities to the east of Thief River Falls was realized.

On the 12th day of October, 1915, the Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway completed its first year of operation of its line from Thief River Falls to Goodridge, a distance of approximately 20 miles. Since the advent of this railway into the rich and prosperous territory lying to the east and northeast of Thief River Falls, this community has taken on an added prosperity which is very evident to the eye all along the line. On every side large and comfortable farm homes and barns are being constructed. Every acre of this rich soil that has ever been broken up is producing a bumper crop. Gasoline and steam tractors, teams of horses and in some cases sturdy yokes of oxen are taking every minute of the day that can be spared from the harvesting to break up and prepare additional land for next year's crop.

The line of the Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway is constructed in a good and substantial manner and is being daily improved as fast as weather conditions permit. The first four miles from Thief River Falls, constructed on the extremely heavy black soil has been gravelled this summer.

At 10:00 o'clock one Saturday morning Ralph had assembled a complete line of tools, tonics, and chair equipment and was ready on the street corner for the opening of his new business venture, a barbershop. Two pairs of pliers, one toothbrush, two pairs of scissors, one comb, and one towel completed the tonsorial parlor array; while pure city water in various sized cups served as "oil 'n tonics." An apricot crate and wagon provided a barber's chair deluxe. The diminutive barber still had two customers on hand at noon time the opening day.

NEW BUILDINGS GET APPROVAL FROM COUNCIL

Six New Residences Receive O. K. at Meeting Last Thursday

ALB. LARSON TO BUILD CROCKER AV. SIDEWALK

Council Approves Naming of C. W. Pope as Member of Library Board

Building permits covering six new residences now in varying stages of construction in Thief River Falls were approved at an adjourned meeting of the city council last Thursday evening.

At the same time action was taken to accept the low bid of Albert Larson for the construction of a double block of sidewalk, curb and gutter on the east side of Crocker av. south from the Third st. parkway. Larson's bid, the lowest of two received, was on the basis of twelve cents a square foot for installing the sidewalk and 40 cents a lineal foot for the curb and gutter. The council also ordered the instalation of curb and gutter on Kendall av. adjoining the parkway.

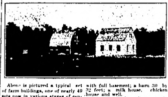
Building permits were approved for William Groslie for a residence on Crocker av. to cost $4,000; William Mulry, Jr., residence on Main ave. N., $3,000; Robert Peterson, residence on Main av. N., $3,500, Alvin Christofferson, residence on Crocker av., $3,500; Christ Engelstad, residence on Arnold av. S., $2,500; Cora E. Lein, residence on Arnold av. N., $3,500; A. B. Almstadt, garage, $150; Theodore Hemmesch, dwelling, $300; Sager Oil company, addition, $80; and Olof H. Vraa, remodeling, $80.

The council engaged the services of Olson & Holden to build an apron and retaining wall on the east side of the old power house at the dam, Supt. Ole Legvold of the water and light department reporting that the structure is in danger of being undermined with the river at its present high stage.

Street Commissioner John Jaranson notified the council that a faster motor is required to handle the increased load now being carried by the sewer lift on East First st., and purchase of the necessary equipment was authorized.

The council also approved the appointment by Mayor W. W. Prichard of Clarence W. Pope to the Carnegie library board succeeding R. O. Berve, who recently tendered his resignation.

Resettlement Project Makes Rapid Headway



Above is pictured a typical set of farm buildings, one of nearly 40 sets now in various stages of construction by the Resettlement administration on farms in this section. The program now under way calls for the erection of 86 sets of new buildings and the repairing of structures on 27 other farms. More than 200 men are now at work on the project in this section.

The tract on which the buildings pictured have been erected was purchased from C. E. Olen and is located on the east side of the road south of Greenwood cemetery. Included in the structures are a six room house 22 by 24 feet wide with full basement; a barn 30 by 32 feet; a milk house, chicken house and well.

John W. Taylor, director in charge of the project, stated this week that while final costs have not been determined, it is apparent that the cost of the buildings will be kept within the budget figure of $4,300 set up by the United States department of agriculture.

Farms acquired in connection with the local project will be either leased or sold, Mr. Taylor stated, adding that several hundred applications have been received from prospective tenants and that the work of making a selection will get under way shortly.

FAST GARY TEAM COMING FOR TILT SUNDAY AT 2:30

Thief River Falls Defeats Oslo 11-10 in Thriller Here Sunday

The Gary baseball team under the management of Shorty Dekko, one of the fastest semi-pro clubs in the northwest, will oppose Thief River Falls on the fair grounds diamond next Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Manager George Lee announced today.

Lefty Helberg, famed for his pitching prowess, will be on the mound for the visitors, while Helmer Sahl will do the twirling for the locals. Immediately following the game the Thief River Falls Legion junior team will meet Roseau at 4:30.

The large gallery of women who turned out with their escorts, despite threatening weather, for Ladies Day last Sunday, got a full measure of thrills in a seesaw contest in which Thief River Falls defeated Oslo by a score of 11 to 10 in eight innings.

At the end of the fifth inning Oslo had an apparently safe 7-2 lead, but in the sixth the locals got to the Oslo pitcher for a barrage of five hits and ran in five men, tying the score. In the seventh frame Thief River Falls scored three runs, only to have Oslo tie the count again in the first half of the eighth, the outcome being decided when the locals counted once more in the last half.

Lee distinguished himself by piling up four hits, including two doubles, in four times at bat, while Scholt accounted for four singles. Sahl was on the mound for the locals.

SEN. E. L. TUNGSETH SEEKING FLOOD AID IN ST. PAUL TODAY

To Request Work for Farmers on Resettlement Projects

Senator E. L. Tungseth left for St. Paul Wednesday afternoon to contact state officials with reference to flood relief for farmers in this section. The situation in eastern Pennington and also in large portions of western Pennington county is very serious, he stated yesterday, and a large number of farmers will be in need of immediate work relief.

Efforts will be made to obtain work for farmers on Resettlement projects. At the present time only farmers in drought sections are eligible for employment on such projects.

The local office has orders to put on another 100 men, and this employment should be given farmers who because of the flood situation are in need of relief, Mr. Tungseth said.

He will also contact the state Executive Committee which meets Thursday in St. Paul. He asked that anyone having pictures showing flood conditions supply him with them so that he may use them in presenting the situation to state authorities. If more convenient, the pictures may be left at the Times office.

FURTHER RAINS IMPAIR COUNTY CROP OUTLOOK

Eastern Territory Hard Hit by Rains Over Past Week-end

HARVESTING OF GRAIN IS SET BACK FURTHER

Unofficial Recordings Indicate More Than Three Inches Fell Here

Prospects for what appeared to be the best grain crop in this section in recent years that were set back by the extremely heavy rains of three weeks ago were further impaired by heavy downpours over the past week-end. As a result, the outlook is that large areas in Eastern Pennington and Marshall and Western Beltrami counties will harvest little or no crop.

The last rains came just as the cutting of grain was becoming general, and many fields of ripe uncut grain are now standing in water with no likelihood of the binders being able to get into action for some time to come. The situation is particularly bad in the Mavie locality and north and east of Grygla.

Unofficial recordings made in Thief River Falls over the weekend indicated that in excess of three inches of rain fell in a series of showers late Saturday night and Sunday evening, followed by a heavy downpour Monday night that continued for an hour.

Long stretches of Highway 1 between Thief River Falls and Goodridge were under a deep layer of water early this week, and Red Lake river at the pool in this city reached its highest stage of the year Tuesday, while water was flowing over the top of the dam at the outlet of Thief lake.

In addition to the damage to grain fields, much hay in stacks is reported to have been spoiled as a result of the excessive moisture.

A total rainfall of 2.75 inches was reported at Grand Forks Saturday and Sunday nights, while Ada received 3.81 inches late Sunday. The rainfall extended well out into North Dakota.

County Board Meeting Postponed to Monday

Owing to the death Monday evening of Mrs. J. S. Roy of St. Hilaire, mother of Paul Roy, chairman of the county board, the August meeting of the county board has been postponed from Tuesday of this week to next Monday, August 8, it was announced.

DISEASE SPREADS AMONG HORSES IN THIS TERRITORY

Sleeping Sickness Blamed on Great Hordes of Mosquitoes

A very severe epidemic of encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness as it is commonly called, has broken out among horses in Pennington county, County Agent Howard Grow announced today after conferring with local veterinarians.

The disease is spread by mosquitoes and with all of the rain in the past three weeks conditions have been ideal for them to develop.

Horses affected with the disease, said Mr. Grow, should be isolated from other horses some place where mosquitoes can not get to them. A repellant that will keep the mosquitoes away is recommended to be used at all times. After horses become sick the only thing that can be done is to call a qualified veterinarian who will prescribe treatment.

All horses when not at work should be kept in the barn. This applies especially at night when the mosquitoes are the most active.

WLS BARN DANCE HERE TUESDAY NIGHT ONLY

Exhibits in All Departments to Set New Record This Year

Final details are now receiving attention in connection with the 36th annual Pennington county fair, one of the half dozen largest expositions in Minnesota, which will open next Tuesday, August 10, in Thief River Falls and will continue thru Friday, August 13.

For the entertainment of fair patrons from thruout Northwestern Minnesota the management has arranged the most elaborate program in the long history of the event, featuring the original WLS Barn Dance troupe from Chicago Tuesday night only, followed the succeeding three nights by Ernie Young's revue, "The Passing Parade," and a half dozen outstanding vaudeville acts. The afternoon programs will include, in addition to the vaudeville performance in front of the grandstand, a series of horse races Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Exhibits at the fair are expected to outstrip those of former years, in view of the later date of the event this year, making possible the showing of a greater variety of matured garden and agricultural products, the superintendents in charge of the various departments have announced.

Next Wednesday, August 11, will be observed as Thief River Falls day, with local business places remaining closed during the afternoon. A special feature that afternoon will be a demonstration by the Thief River Falls auxiliary drum corps, while in the evening the Lincoln high school band directed by R. G. Riggs, will present a concert preceding the grandstand show.

Attendance prizes will be awarded Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, while the award of the grand prize will take place in the course of the Friday evening program.

The WLS Barn Dance troupe scheduled for Tuesday evening is widely known to radio listeners thru their appearance on programs over the Chicago radio station station, and scored a distinct hit on their appearance at the fair here last year. In the course of their extended program they present a variety of vocal and instrumental talent and comedians, in-

BURGLAR MAKES HAUL OF $100 AT H. E. NELSON HOME

Invades Family Bedroom at 2 A. M. Today; Sig Wold Home Entered

Entering the H. E. Nelson home at 2 o'clock this morning thru an unlocked back door, a burglar invaded the owners' bedroom and extracted approximately $100 from Mr. Nelson's trousers pocket, after which he escaped.

His presence in the room awoke Mrs. Nelson, who asked who was there, and was answered by an order to put up her hands. In the darkness she could not see whether he had a gun, but when he lit a match to find his way out of the room she saw that his face was covered by a red handkerchief.

The Sig Wold home on LaBree av. S. also was entered during the night at 1:30, but the intruder was scared away when he discovered that occupants of the house were up and about. He fled in a car with two other men, leaving a pair of rough work shoes on the front steps. Police are making a check of meager clues.

McClellan, Popular Soldier

George B. McClellan, who at the outbreak of the Civil war was commissioned a major general by the governor of Ohio, was a popular man among his soldiers despite the fact that Lincoln, after some friction between the two, relieved him of command of the army of the Potomac. In the same year that his command was taken, 1864, he was nominated for president on a platform that denounced war as a failure. Thus the same army of whose command he had been relieved was called upon to decide between Lincoln and McClellan. The vote: Lincoln, 230, McClellan, 228.

The best advice any man can give his son is never to start anything he can't stop.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

ABOLISH THE TAVERN PLEADS P. T. A. HEAD

"Abolish such forces for corruption as the tavern, where young people may buy liquor," pleaded Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, retiring president of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, at the forty-first national convention of that body recently held in Richmond, Virginia. Mrs. Langworthy, denouncing liquor taverns, pool rooms "where slot machines and other forms of gambling are permitted, soft-drink parlors with curtained booths, moving picture houses with low-grade pictures and 'bank nights,'" urged support of such agencies as the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in the drive against such pernicious influences.

The convention's conference on humane education launched a project for the elimination of toy firearms for the children, as a means of reducing stimulation of the "gangster ideas."

One of the major tasks of present-day education, said Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education, in an address before the Congress, is to "teach youth to think clearly, reason, weigh evidence and enable them to meet new situations." He said the starting of the processes of self-government is one of the "most progressive developments" in modern education; but also stressed their need for guidance at various stages in their educational experience.

Relentless warfare on marihuana as the latest menace to youth was urged by Mrs. Hamilton Wright, special representative of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics. Mrs. Wright characterized marihuana the "most pernicious of drugs," leading to sex crimes and other acts of violence.

In the conference on alcohol and other narcotics, Miss Bettie Allen Thomas of Washington insisted that youngsters should not merely be taught the dangerous effects of alcohol but should be shown by practical programs that social pleasures and "getting along in one's position are not dependent upon the social cocktail or other drink."

Three Grand Forks judges, Fred Rolsvig, Edward W. Butler and Gertrude Rose, were hard pressed to make a final selection for the girl to wear the banner of Miss Red River Valley of 1937, and twice called back to the stage groups of the contestants. Miss Hanson was in the first of the 14 entries, selected in ten weeks of voting in their home communities, to parade before the judges. She was followed by girls from Crookston, Halstad, Stephen, Argyle, Twin Valley and Ada. Bagley entries were unable to attend.

SHOEMAKER USES HAMMER GIVEN HIM 45 YEARS AGO

Luverne.—Forty-five years ago S. A. Kilsbek, who is now in charge of the shoe repair department at a local leather store, began his apprenticeship as a shoemaker in the town of Assen, the Netherlands and on the first day of his apprenticeship his employer presented him with a shoemaker's hammer which he still uses to repair shoes. Several times he has been tempted to buy a new one but each time he has come to the conclusion that this one is plenty good enough. Mr. Kilsbek began his apprenticeship as a shoemaker when he was 12 years old, working for very small wages. For three years his income netted [illegible] cents a week. After he had served as an apprentice for nine years he was able to make new shoes and he was then considered a full fledged tradesman.

'ONE SHOE OFF' WHEN 90 MILES FROM HOME

Mankato.—"One shoe off and one shoe on"—this phrase may give enjoyment to poetry loving youngsters, but when you happen to have only one shoe and are about 90 miles from home, as Douglas Jensen, local youth was recently then the phrase may not give you any enjoyment. Young Jensen, returning from the twin cities, had done a bit of walking and when his foot began to ache he sat down near a car to take off the pinching shoe. Unfortunately, however, he deposited it on the running board of the car, which, without warning, started away, taking with it the shoe. The youth forgot his sore foot and started after the car, but one shoe makes running rather difficult. The car got away. Recalling the home of a friend nearby, Jensen borrowed a pair of shoes which were slightly large. He is home now with sore feet, a pair of shoes too large, and one shoe without a mate.

PRESIDENT PUTS OFF ACTION ON WAGE-HOUR BILL

American Federation of Labor Offers Amendments to Measure

President Roosevelt took the position Tuesday that nothing should be done by congress to fix minimum wages lower than the minimums now prevailing in various areas.

This was his comment on reports that he had asked house members to delay action on pending wage-hour legislation until certain amendments could be submitted.

The amendments, which would direct a proposed labor standards board to consider prevailing wages in fixing minimums, were offered by the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Roosevelt said he had not read the amendments himself, but favored their principles as outlined to him by President William Green of the A. F. L.

Besides the prevailing wages provision, the amendments also would forbid the board to interfere with any collective bargaining agreement.

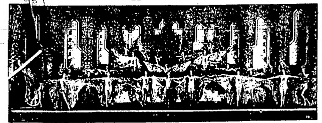
Fair Board Promises Biggest Revue Ever August 11, 12, 13



The directors of the Pennington county fair have outdone themselves this year in obtaining the outstanding attraction of the theatrical season for production here at the Fair next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. They have booked Ernie Young's "Passing Parade" as their predominating attraction. Direct from triumphs scored in New York, Boston and Chicago, the company comes acclaimed by press and public as the best thing in the way of revues ever produced. It is staged with several tons of the most elaborate scenery and embellished with electrical effects that turn night into day and make a fairyland of the infield at the fair grounds. The entire space in front of the grandstand will be occupied with the most beautiful sight seen here in the way of a show. A large company takes part in the performance. They are nearly all girls, and their costumes, which are legion, are the most elaborate and beautiful obtainable. The principals have been recruited from the best known vaudeville circuits and revue. A nationally known lady singer leads the company in song, soubrettes and clever dancers and soloists, funny and versatile comedians while away the time in between the big numbers most acceptably. There will be many changes during the week and the show will be well worth seeing.

HAZEL

Instead of the usual Ladies aid meeting at the homes the Clara ladies aid met this week at the church. Blind Evangelist John Erickson spoke in behalf of the blind. The proceeds for the evening was donated for literature for the blind. —Mr. and Mrs. Martin Odegaard of Grafton visited Saturday with the Ole Odegaard family. —Mrs. Karin Stennes and son Manford of Oklee visited Sunday evening at the Arnt Wedal home.
